Pearce-Foushee

Last Saturday, December 19th, at ten o'clock in a very simple but beautiful ceremony at the Mt. Zion Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Miss Helen Elizabeth Pearce of Timberlake, N. C. became the bride of Mr. Caviness Banks Foushee of Roxboro, N. C.

Rev. B. H. Black performed the impressive ring ceremony. Only the nearest friends and relatives of both the bride and groom were present.

The vows were spoken before a bank of evergreens and cathedral candles. Prior to the ceremony, Miss Meade Suitt accompanied by Mrs. Emma N. Noell sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "I Love You Truly." The Bridal Choruses Lohengrin by Wagner was played as a processional and Mendelssohn's Wedding March as a recessional. During the ceremony Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" was softly played.

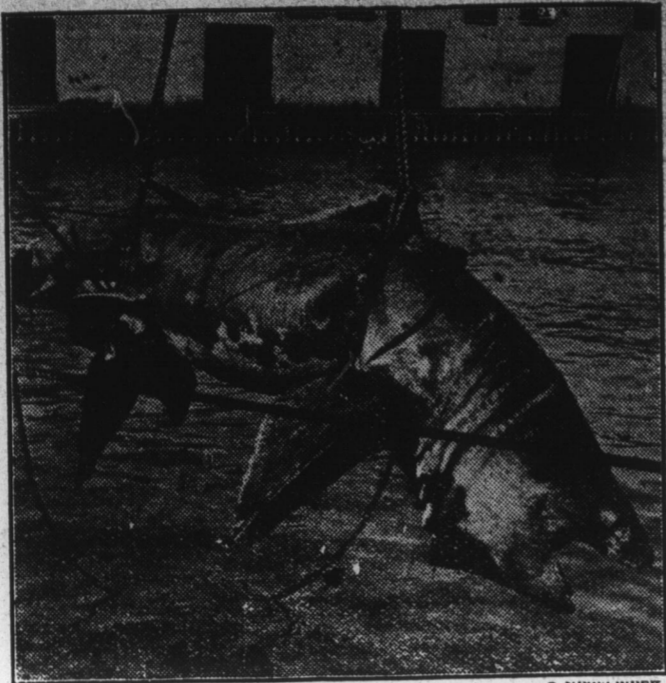

At the strains of the wedding march, the bride attired in a mid-season dress of gold with brown accessories entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. Her flowers were Joannah Hill roses interspersed with valley lillies. Her only attendant, her sister, Miss Eloise Pearce, was attired in a bronze dress with brown accessories, her flowers being talisman roses.

The bride was met at the altar by the groom who had as his best man, his brother, Mr. Emery Foushee, of Roxboro, N. C. Claude Mr. and Thomas B. Pearce, brothers of the bride, and J. W. Foushee, brother of the groom, acted as ushers.

Mrs. Foushee is the attractive and popular daughter of Thomas A. and the late Emma Pearce of Timberlake, N. C. She received her education from Helena high school and Duke University and for the last few years she has been a member of the Helena high school faculty.

Mr. Foushee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Foushee of Roxboro, N. C. He received his education at Hurdle Mills high school and is now a progressive farmer.

After a bridal trip to Richmond, Washington, and other northern points, Mr. and Mrs. Foushee will be at home at Timberlake, N. C.

Literary Club Meets

Mrs. A. F. Nichols was hostess to the Thursday Literary Club, December 17.

The house was aglow with Christmas candles and other Christmas decorations. The club members and the special guests, Miss Inda Collins, Mesdames J. V. Lewis, H. M. Beam, Moody, Ben Brown, Byrd Satterfield, Jim Walker, were served a delicious six o'clock dinner.

After dinner the meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. A. F. Nichols. The subject for the evening was "Christmas Cheer." Each member answered to the roll call with "What Christmas Means to Me." Mrs. A. R. Warren read two lovely selections titled, "A Christmas Sermon," by Bradford and "Anniversary," by Margaret Sangster.

Miss Collins, acting as Santa, found each club member a gift on the brightly decorated Christmas tree.

Games and contests were then enjoyed by the guests. Mesdames B. B. Strum and Wheeler Newell won the contest prizes.

The meeting was concluded by several Christmas Carols beautifully rendered by Mrs. Byrd Satterfield and Mrs. Wheeler Newell.

As the guests said their good-byes to the hostess at the door each was presented with a glass of jelly tied in bright Christmas wrappings.

Research Club

Mrs. A. M. Burns was hostess to the Christmas meeting of the Research club at her home on South Main Street.

The short business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. A. M. Burns. Christmas cards given to the members were read by each one. After the business meeting there was an interesting program. Little Miss Elizabeth Newell sang the "Christmas Lullaby," with Mrs. W. W. Woods at the piano. Mr. Tom Hamilton played several musical numbers on the violin and Mrs. S. G. Winstead read a Christmas story titled, "Precious Jeopardy," by Lloyd Douglas. After which the members sang Christmas Carols.

The hostess served a two-course dinner.

Mrs. McBroom Is Hostess

Mrs. O. B. McBroom entertained at a lovely dinner at her home on Reams Avenue, Thursday evening honoring the members of the Study Club.

The members and invited guests arrived at six-thirty. A delicious three course dinner was served from a beautiful appointed table centered with a lace cloth and centered with a huge mirror covered with angel snow and silver balls flanked with red tapers in silver holders. A tiny red candle in an unique holder of green and white graced each plate carrying out the Yuletide color scheme.

Roll call was answered with "What Christmas Means to Us" by each one present. Miniature boxes of candy tied with red ribbon with sprays of holly were given as favors. After dinner was served. Mrs. Harry Puckett sang beautifully several Christmas selections, accompanied by Mrs. Edgar Masten on the piano.

Mrs. R. A. Whitfield gave two lovely Christmas readings, by Dickens, while Mrs. Edgar Masten played Silent Night. Old Santa Claus arrived and gave each one a present from a brilliantly illuminated tree.

The approach of the Yuletide season was in evidence throughout the home in scenery and lightning effects. A lovely Santa Claus scene added to the occasion on the buffet. The manger scene was laid in the living room making the program more effective.

Mesdames Lunsford, Pleasant and Edgar Masten were invited guests for the evening.

Delightful Party

Mrs. Riley Oakley and Mrs. Elizabeth Cheek were joint hostesses to a delightful party at the Community House, Thursday evening.

Christmas tallies were passed to five tables. Several interesting progressions were enjoyed by the club members and guests. Miss Lottie Bailey was awarded the club prize, Mrs. David Carver was awarded the consolation prize and Miss Nellie Smith was awarded the visitor's high prize.

A salad course with coffee and candy was served.

Madison County farmers held their first live-at-home show in Marshall last week with over 500 persons and with excellent exhibits of tobacco and live-at-home products.

Mrs. Thomas Hostess

Mrs. E. E. Thomas was hostess to a few of her friends, Friday evening at her home on Reams Avenue.

The lower floor was beautiful in its Christmas decorations. Three tables were placed in the living room where several delightful progressions were enjoyed.

Mrs. Gordon Hunter received the high prize while Mrs. G. W. Thomas received the consolation prize.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. F. W. A. Mills, served a sweet course.

Corn club members of Pamlico are reporting weighed yields of from 19 to 53 bushels of corn an acre on their projects. The average yield is lower than usual due to the drouth of late spring and summer.
