HOURS AND LABOR LAWS EXPLAINED

Inspector Here To Acquaint Co. Welfare Superintendent And Others With Provisions

Mrs. T. C. Wagstaff superintendent of Welfare of Person County, announced today that Mr. Fred J. Cox, Jr., Inspector of the Department of Labor has been in the Welfare Office here for the purpose of explaining provisions of the maximum hours and child labor laws. The inspector was here to acquaint the County Welfare Superintendent and members of the Staff with rules and regulations prescribed by Major A. L. Fletcher, State Commissioner of Labor, to govern the administration of the new statutes, enacted by the last Legislature and effective July 1.

THE HOUR LAW

The hour law provides a maximum work-week of 48 hours for women and 55 hours for men employed in certain North Carolina industries. The maximum work day is nine hours for women and ten hours for men. This act also requires time and payroll records of employment and enforcement features that are particularly progressive in nature.

The Division of Standards and Inspections of the Department of Labor will be in charge of its enforcement.

NEW CHILD LABOR LAW

This new law provides a minimum age of 16 for the full-time or regular employment of children, with exceptions made for employment of children in the home or the farm. All minors under 18 are required to have an employment certificate before engaging in any type of employment.

Features of this statute also permit 12 to 14 year old boys to sell or deliver papers or magazines under certain restrictions.

Children 14 to 16 are allowed to work in non-manufacturing jobs when school is not in session.

Employers who desire to acquaint themselves with full regulations contained in the new statutes may call the Welfare office for information of this nature.

DUST BOWL WORKER

Roy I. Kimmel, whom Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace has appointed to direct a long-range coordinated program to prevent the Southwestern dust bowl from becoming a desert, in a plan which follows closely the recommendations of the President's great plains committee. Mr. Kimmel will coordinate the work of Department of Agriculture agencies in about 100 counties of Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas, where wind erosion has been most severe.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

CAMERAS BY THE SEA

Enlarged from portion of negative taken with a folding camera giving post-card size pictures. Exposure 1/100 second at f.11 on supersensitive film.

COMES the time every year when many of us make for the seashore for cool breezes, swimming, sailing, motorboating, fishing, and the many other pleasures that go with a sojourn by the sea.

Any one can enjoy this fun without a camera, but verily to go to the seashore and return without having made a picture-story of your visit seems as useless as trying to write a book about it with water for ink. When you have finished, your memory may retain some of it for a time, but eventually you remember little else than the fact that you went there. Years later you will say, "Yes, I had a good time that summer," but what did you do, whom were you with, what did you see? Bet a million that with nothing in your snapshot album to show for it, you will remember scarcely anything of the details of that good time, and regretfully wish you could.

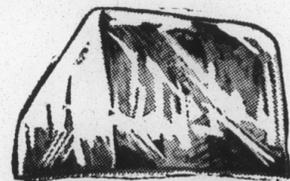

Another reason for taking your camera to the seashore is that where the sea is, with its bright reflecting waters, you have exceptional chances for making fine pictures.

Usually by the sea even on cloudy days you have more light to work with than inland. The extra light gives you opportunity to "stop down" (use a smaller lens opening) and thereby obtain sharp, clear-cut details.

Also there is no better place for interesting action pictures than a summer seaside resort, considering the many varieties of speed and motion that are in evidence—from sea snails to sea planes, not forgetting the high diving sea nymphs. In fact, except for the beach itself and the hotels, cottages and wharves, everything seems to be in motion. Of course, if you want close-ups of fast action you should be equipped with a fast camera, but don't forget that splendid work with many seaside scenes is done with an inexpensive fixed focus camera. If it is rapid motion such as an approaching motorboat, shoot from an angle at a distance of 75 to 100 feet and usually you get it without blur. Then have an enlargement made when you get home.
