DAVIDSON SAYS DAD PICKING UP

Apparently He Is Not As Popular As Mother, But Is Rapidly Gaining Ground

On Sunday, June 19th, the Forgotten Men of the nation celebrate their 24th birthday, and if all the efforts now being made to pull them from Obscurity are realized, 25,000,000 dads may overnight become America's remembered men, for next Sunday is Father's Day.

A country which now celebrates more than 84 special days and weeks has managed to squeeze in the third Sunday in June to pay tribute to the man who pays the freight for all other celebrations.

Apparently father is only one-third as popular as mother, if the volume of Father's Day telegrams is any criterion, says Mr. Davidson, manager of the local telegraph office. As recently as 1928 Father's Day was only one-seventh as popular as Mother's Day, but two years later there was one Father's Day telegram for every four on Mother's Day.

The depression set dad back to his 1928 rating, but since then his climb has been faster than ever before. Where once it was considered somewhat of a joke to remember dad on Father's Day, the observance of the day has now become firmly entrenched, although no special flower has been selected for him. The dandelion has been suggested but flowers—by telegraph officials will not commit themselves.

Mrs. John Bruce Dodd of Spokane, Wash., originated Father's Day in 1910, and the occasion gathered sufficient momentum for Congress to endorse the celebration of the day in 1914. Efforts are under way this year to have president Roosevelt issue an official Father's Day proclamation.

CONGRESS HELD OVER

Washington, D. C. — All efforts to adjourn Congress last week failed because of lack of action on important bills, and leaders are pledged to speed up work this week to insure adjournment by Friday. As it finally emerged from conference the Wages and Hours bill was hardly recognizable as either House or Senate versions. For the first two years the mandatory hourly wage is 25 and 30 cents respectively. After seven years the minimum goes to 40 cents, or earlier if industrial boards determine. For the first three years employment is fixed at 44,542 and 40 hours per week. The bill's sponsors say that it is "air-tight" constitutionally.

FLOODS IMPEDE JAPS

Hankow, China — "China's Sorrow", as the Yellow River is known, may prove her ally in the Sino-Japanese war, Crumbling embankments have released torrents of flood waters that have spread over vast plains, halting the Japanese advance and causing the abandonment of huge stores and heavy equipment.

HEAVY PLANE EXPORTS

Washington, D. C. — In less than three years the National Munition Control Board has issued licenses for the export of $118,400,000 in munitions, of which a large part were airplanes and parts, Russia, China and Japan were heaviest buyers, with other sales to South American countries.
