Tar Heels Depending On Sophs

Firing along the football fronts Saturday was just about as expected. Most of the underdogs were stronger but all of the favorites came through in fine style barring one or two upsets, notably the Clemson win over Tulane and the Richmond victory over Maryland's Terps.

Fans who saw the Carolina-Wake Forest fracas in Chapel Hill are still singing the praises of highly publicized Jim Lalanne, sophomore triple threat of the Tar Heels. Lalanne lived up to all expectations and handled himself like a veteran and old timers harked back to the days of Don Jackson as the youngster from the Bayou country began tossing the pigskin around like an apple. His running also was a standout of the afternoon.

Another pair of Tar Heel sophomores who shone brightly Saturday were Ends Paul Severin and Jim Mallory who are making a strong bid for first string berths and Regulars Chuck Kline and Horace Palmer will have a hard time keeping them out. Severin at times made the fans forget the All-American Bershak as he went down under punts and as he threw Deacon backs for several big losses. Mallory is the boy who received Lalanne's pass for the Tar Heel's first touchdown. All of these boys will bear watching Saturday when Carolina tackles State in the Techs annual Homecoming Day classic.

Don't Forget World Series

While things are warming up in a football way, the same thing is happening in the National league baseball pennant race. Several weeks ago everything seemed set for a New York Yankees - Pittsburgh Pirates World Series but now the color is changed slightly and the Pirates are not so sure of bagging the coveted gonfalon. Those Cubs from Chicago have been slipping up as the Pirates have been slipping down with the result that at this writing, the boys from the Smoky City are only one half game in front. It'll be a nip and tuck fight from here to the finish. And you want to know who's going to win? Your guess is as good as ours but we don't think it makes much difference. The Yankees are still in the American League.

And Now For Predictions

Last week we missed only two of our predictions, the cases of Clemson over Tulane and Richmond over Maryland, which most experts agree were upsets. However, the going gets tougher with each successive Saturday and who knows what will happen later on. This week should see Carolina over State, Duke over Davidson, Wake Forest over Citadel, Tennessee over Clemson, Maryland over Penn State, Richmond over Randolph-Macon, Georgia over South Carolina, Navy over V. M. I., Army over V. P. I., Virginia over Washington and Lee, Tulane over Auburn, Alabama over Howard, Florida over Mississippi State, Georgia Tech over Mercer, Kentucky over Oglethorpe, L. S. U. over Texas, Mississippi over La. Tech, Catawba bit over Western Kentucky Teachers, Elon over LaSalle, Catawba over Roanoke, and Wofford over Guilford.

Meetings have been held in Martin County by the farm and assistant agent to explain how growers can secure maximum payments under the agricultural conservation program.

The milk route established in Yancey County last year has fir-anced a new interest in dairying among farmers of that county, reports R. H. Crouse, assistant farm agent.

RHS Opens Grid Season Tomorrow

RAMBLERS MEET SPRING HOPE ON LOCAL GRIDIRON

High School Students Plan Big Pep Rally, Parade Tonight.

Roxboro High's fast stepping Ramblers inaugurate the local gridiron season tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 when they play host to a strong outfit from Spring Hope.

Preceding the opener tomorrow, the students and local supporters will hold a giant bonfire and pep rally tonight beginning at 8 o'clock, at which time a parade through Roxboro's business streets will be held with the students having charge of the festivities.

Roxboro High Grid Schedule

EIGHT HOME GAMES

- Sept. 30 - Spring Hope (here).
- Oct. 7 - Chapel Hill (here).
- Oct. 21 - Hillsboro (here).
- Oct. 14 - Oxford (there).
- Oct. 28 - So. Boston (here).
- Nov. 4 - Zebulon (here).
- Nov. 11 - Henderson (there).
- Nov. 18 - Warrenton (here).
- Nov. 23 - Cary (here).
- Dec. 2 - Kinston (here), post season.

Making his first appearance before the high school students at the game tomorrow will be Ram Bler I, the Rambler's new mascot goat.

Spring Hope is expected to bring a formidable aggregation here tomorrow, having held the strong Elizabeth City eleven to a 13-0 count last Friday. The latter team, it is remembered, went to the state championship finals last year.

Coach Donald Dunlop, beginning his third season at the local high school, will send a much heavier team on the field than last year's outfit. Missing from the ranks, however, will be Earl Stewart, all-state back, Woodrow Jones and other sterling performers lost by the graduation route.

Dons Football Togs Again

George Stirnweis, back.

Carolina's flying dutchman, counted upon heavily in the pre-season plans of Coach Ray Wolf and aides, began light workouts this week following a layoff of several weeks with stomach ulcers. He will be allowed to take only light exercise until another X-ray is taken to determine his complete cure. Carolina coaches are hoping he will be back in shape for the Tulane game Octobere 8.

Tar Heels Point To State

Sister Institutions To Clash At Raleigh Saturday In Homecoming Feature.

Chapel Hill — With the opening game now a matter of history, the Tar Heels have begun pointing for their important clash Saturday with their sister institution, State college.

The game is to be the feature of State's Homecoming Day festivities.

The second Newton-coached team at State is rated even stronger than the fine 1937 eleven which won six of nine games. Bolstered by 15 lettermen, the Wolfpack has a promising group of sophomores and reserves from last season.

The Wolfpack luminaries are Art Rooney, triple-threat quarterback, rated one of the finest backs in the conference, and George Fry and Ed Coon, veteran tackles. Bill Retter, rugged center, is another of the more talented players.

With only nine lettermen, the Tar Heels are not as well off as their foe with reference to seasoned men. Carolina, however, has a number of outstanding sophomores.

The State game opens Carolina's suicidal five-game October schedule. On the following weekend, the Tar Heels will celebrate their own Homecoming day activities by entangling with Tulane's powerful "Giants of the South."

And there's no respite after Tulane for New York University's highly-touted Violet must be met in its own stronghold in New York City.

Following the NYU game the Tar Heels will return again to conference battling when they match strategies with the scrapping Davidson Wildcats in the Presbyterians' lair.

The classic of the south—the Duke game here October 29—winds up the ambitious program.

The NYU and Tulane games are the third in as many years with Carolina. The Tar Heels beat NYU twice by scores of 14-13 and 19-6. This series with Tulane is

Bethel Hill Opens Gridiron Season Friday With Littleton

This Year's Team Built Around Four Veterans, Starting Lineup Uncertain.

Bethel Hill plays its first football game Friday when it meets the strong Littleton eleven on the home field.

Coach Gibson has been working his boys hard for the opening game and he thinks that the Hill-toppers will have a strong team before the end of the season. A number of boys are new and it will be their first test under fire.

This year's club is being built around last year's regulars - Tingen and Shotwell, backs; Mitchell and Wrenn, linemen. It is understood that Littleton has a strong team composed mostly of last year's veterans.

It has not been announced yet who will start the ball game as they are still fighting hard for their positions and it will not be known until just before the game who will get the call. The line will be heavier than it was last year but the backs are lighter. The backs are expected to make up for their lack of weight by their speed and deception.

The game starts at 3:15.

even steven. The Greenies won 21 to 7 in 1937. Carolina was on top 13 to 0 in 1937.

CAPITAL CITY GETS ON EDGE FOR BIG TILT

Raleigh — The Davidson game over, Coach Williams (Doc) Newton's Wolfpack has turned all attention on the University of North Carolina Tar Heels, who came here Saturday to play for the 1938 Greater University football championship on the program of Greater University Day.

Business Manager John VonGlahn said today that indications point to a capacity crowd attending the game in Riddick stadium. Over half the stadium's 15,000 seats already have been sold, according to word from VonGlahn's office. "We still have plenty of good seats, though," he said, pointing out that State's concrete stadium is so laid out "that there isn't a bad seat in the whole structure."

A battle between State's little Artie Rooney and Carolina's Sweet Lalanne is one of the many sidelights of what promises to be a gala day in Raleigh.

Spangler Gets Praise For Fine Work At Duke

Former Blocking Back Will Be Watched In Davidson Game Saturday.

By TED MANN

Durham, N. C. — Bobby Spangler, Duke's ex-blocking back who is getting his chance to run with the ball this season, has received much praise for his initial performance against V. P. I. when he went to "lugging the leather" for the first time in his college career.

In that game, Spangler, who also calls the signals for the Blue Devils, made a total of 33 yards through the Gobblers for the Blue Devils first touchdown. A moment before the Wademen scored, he had dashed 18 yards to put the Blue Devils on the one-yard line where they were set back by an offside penalty.

Spangler accounted for most of the 98 yards the Blue Devils made returning punts. He handled the safety assignment in fine fashion, his work in this department being a surprise to all parties concerned.
