

First Period Of The Times Campaign Proves Successful

Renovation To Begin In Early Summer

Above may be seen an architect's drawing of the new Dolly Madison theatre and five adjoining stores, construction of which is expected to get underway in the early summer. The entire building is expected to be modern in every respect. O. T. Kirby and D. W. Lebetter are the owners of this valuable Main street property.

STARTING TIME TENTATIVELY SET BY PROPRIETORS

Modernization Plans Cover Almost Half Of Entire City Block.

Tentative plans for complete renovation of the old Pass property on Main street into the ultra-modern Dolly Madison theatre and five stores call for construction work to get underway in the early summer. O. T. Kirby, part owner of the property, indicated yesterday.

Reluctant to state the exact date for the remodeling to begin, Mr. Kirby said "anything could happen to delay the work," but he hoped that it would be started within a few months. D. W. Lebetter is the other owner of this property which covers over half a city block.

According to plans released at the time the property was purchased, the buildings now occupied by Tar Heel Chevrolet Co. and Tillman and Zimmerman will be divided into six places of business, one of which will be the new Dolly Madison theatre. Entrance to the theatre will be through the drive between the buildings while the large spacious repair room of the garage will house the theatre proper after remodeling.

The new theatre will be one of the finest and most modern in the state and one of which the people of this community can well be proud.

The Friday night occasion was in celebration of the 29th anniversary of Scouting and was in the nature of a Father-Son banquet. Those in charge of the program had prepared for 165 people and when 250 arrived they had to be seated in the dining room, hall and lobby of the hotel.

Along The Way With the Editor

Tom Brooks — do you know Tom? Well he runs an auto parts store in Roxboro and was in Smithfield last Tuesday. Tom ran out of money after spending the night in that city and needed about forty dollars. He sent a fast telegram to his company in Roxboro early Tuesday morning. The telegram requested his own company to wire $40.00 at once. Now Tom had not been able to buy any breakfast and he wanted that money just as quick as he could get it. Nine o'clock passed and no money, then ten o'clock and no money. Tom was getting plenty hungry by this time and about eleven o'clock he called his company in Roxboro and asked Clarence Oakley what was wrong. The answer was simple. Clarence took the telegram and put it to one side for the attention of Mr. Brooks when he came home. It had not been opened.

You never can tell what Teague Kirby is going to do. People around here have been talking hard times and right in the middle of the talk Teague starts spending a thousand dollars to make the front of the Palace theatre pretty. He is going to install a little lunch counter or sandwich shop right out in the front and "Hedge" will act as storekeeper. The only thing that we can find wrong with the idea is that "Hedge," Lois Yarborough, has a healthy appetite and might eat up all the profits. We urge every caution against this and also warn Teague that Joe, his brother, is a healthy "grazer" and Joe might start grazing around in the store.

Charles Wood and his friend, "Ducky" Thompson left Roxboro Friday for Washington, D. C. Below we give a list of the boys who wanted to go with them, but could not finance the trip—Sam Merritt, Maynard Clayton, Sam Byrd Winsead, Curtis Oakley and Bill Walker. These boys are all married and just couldn't see their way clear. Last year would have found Sam Byrd ready to go anywhere. This year found him "too busy" to get away.

A. C. Fair just came in with a milk bill. To hear him tell it milk is the most wonderful food in the world. It will cure all aches and pains and is so cheap that you never feel any pain when you get the bill. However, we heard a groan or two as he began presenting the statements.

Dr. Poteat is past grand master of Masons in North Carolina and also past illustrious potentate of Sudan Temple of the Shrine in New Bern.

Roxboro, Leasburg and Bethel Hill Follow Close.

Mrs. Matt Dickerson of Ca-Vel is leading the vote line for this week. She has good boosters and plenty of determination. Miss Cushwa and Mrs. Stewart are second in the lineup this week, and a couple of real fighters they are. Mrs. Day, Miss Chandler and Wheeler Carver are doing some splendid work and running a close third in the line-up in the lively race for the big awards. Mrs. Jack Woody of Bethel Hill is getting started off with results very commendable for a new worker. "Who Will Win" depends largely on the workers themselves.

30 Years Of Service

In and out of Roxboro's kitchens for thirty years has been the job of Charlie Springfield yet hardly a housewife would recognize him by the name.

Known by young and old only as "Teddy", he has delivered groceries for Sergeant and Clayton's high on to three decades. Long before the automobile came along, Teddy drove the dray. When this manner of delivering groceries became outmoded, Teddy learned to drive the motor truck and continued on his job. During these latter 20 years of driving motor vehicles, he hasn't had an accident worthy of the name.

His employers believe "his absolute honesty and strict attention to his job for all these years make him worthy of notice."

The years come and go but like time, Teddy seems to go on forever.

Extensions Count More Votes Than First Subscriptions In Big Cash Offer Campaign.

Results of the "Cash Offer" campaign throughout the first period have been very gratifying to the publishers of The Person County Times, and the interest that has been shown in such a short time is greatly appreciated.

Campaign workers who mean business and are willing to put forth effort have made wonderful progress so far and with the new extra vote offer which opens Monday, February 13th, it is expected that all real workers will be just as much on the alert as is possible.

Extensions Count More Votes

Extensions or second payments will no doubt play a big part in winning of the big awards. Here is how they count. After the first subscription has been given to a worker in the campaign and then another payment is made either to the same worker or to any other worker, that second payment counts more votes than the first one and, of course, the larger the second payment, the more the extension votes amount to. For instance, a two year subscription counts 12,500 votes. If it is taken in two separate payments, the first year counts 5,000 votes, then the second year or extension from 1 to 2 years counts 7,500.

Workers are urged to get all information concerning extensions from campaign manager, be sure you understand how these extensions count all through the vote scale.

Extra votes will be credited upon each and every $30.00 in subscription payments turned in for the week beginning Monday, February 13th. and ending Saturday, February 18th. New subscriptions and old subscriptions will count. It is the very best extra vote offer that will be made from now on, and is almost as good an offer as the one which closed last Saturday night.

Lasts Just One Week

This extra vote offer will last just one week and will end Saturday night. It is "short and snappy" and too much importance cannot be placed upon it. The workers now will be the victorious ones at the end of the campaign, and there is no time for hesitancy on the part of anyone who desires to win one of the biggest awards.

New Members

The bonus offer this week is a golden opportunity for new members to enter the race and win.
