Religion's Role In Modern World To Be Debated At Duke Conference

Durham—What shall religion's role be in the modern world? What about the church and the preacher as forces in the present crisis? These and other related questions are scheduled to be closely studied on March 20-21 at the Duke university centennial symposium on modern religious problems.

Leaders from many denominations and from both Europe and America are going to participate in the intensive two-day conference. Frankness and self-analysis are going to be stressed.

Issues affecting the relation of church and state are going to be discussed by Charles E. Raven, of Cambridge university, canon of Ely, one of Britain's noted divines. Bishop Ivan Lee Holt, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, is slated for an analysis of religion today in the Southern states.

Contemporary religious thought in Europe and America will be discussed by Prof. Emil Brunner, distinguished Swiss theologian, now visiting at Princeton university, and Prof. R. L. Calhoun, of Yale university. Dr. Charles C. Morrison, editor of the Christian Century, and Dr. H. Paul Douglas, editor of Christendom, are on the program to discuss the problem of Christian unity. Dr. George A. Buttrick, of New York, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America; and Dr. Alan K. Chambers, pastor of Broadway tabernacle, New York, will be among the other well known speakers on the symposium program.

FARM QUESTIONS ANSWERED

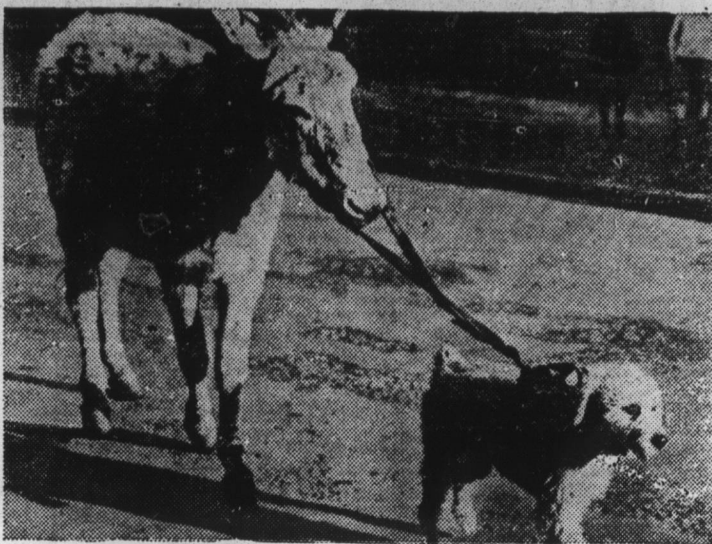

Question: When should eggs be candled after they are placed in the incubator?

Answer: The eggs should be candled on the seventh day and all dead germs and infertils removed. This should be done in a dark room or at night to prevent further spoilage. A fertile egg will appear to contain a spider—the germ representing the body of the spider which the blood vessels represent the spider legs. An infertile egg will be clear with the yolk slightly visible.

Question: What fertilizer is best for early sweet potatoes?

CALL FOR "SENSIBLE" DEMOCRATS

Washington, D. C.—Calling on "all sensible Democrats" to unite on an acceptable candidate for the presidency in 1940, former Representative John O'Connor of New York, also victim of President Roosevelt's "purge" last November, declares that any delay in picking a candidate agreeable to an united party will only play into the hands of the Republicans. He states that the term "liberal" as applied to Democracy "has been usurped by radicals only a shade off red who are attempting to run and ruin the Democratic Party." Mr. O'Connor drew the White House fire when as Chairman of the powerful House Rules Committee he blocked New Deal measures.

Mexico City—Nearly 3,000 citizens stamped the rule of President Cardenas as being dictated by Moscow and the "Jewish synagogues of New York," and called upon patriotic Mexicans to restore the principles of the Constitution of 1917. Important speakers denounced the trend of Communism in recent Cardenas manifestos.
