PRESENTING OUR AGRICULTURAL EDITION

In presenting today's "Agricultural Edition" it is with the hope that those who obtain their living from the soil may be able to obtain a better living after reading the articles in this paper.

It is not a large edition and was not intended to be large. However, it does contain information that should be helpful to all and it is the hope of the publishers that many farmers will profit from this paper.

Your attention is respectfully called to the advertisements in this edition. All contain a word or message concerning quality merchandise and it is with pleasure and pride that we bring these messages to the attention of the public.

Every farmer in this county is now faced with the problem of making a start for 1939. They all want to make a decent living this year and no one deserves it more than the farmers of this nation. The years of the past have not so kind to those who get their living from the earth, but each year seems to bring them a little closer to their goal. They may not make as much money one year as they did the year before or they may make more but sooner or later the farmer and his products will be recognized for their true worth and that is plenty.

IMPORTANT MEETING

The political pot has started boiling in Roxboro. On April 13th, a mass meeting will be held in the courthouse for the purpose of naming a nominee for the mayor's post and also five nominees for the positions of city commissioners. This mass meeting is important and each citizen of this city should consider it his or her duty to be present at the mass meeting.

Roxboro needs a good mayor and Roxboro needs five good commissioners. We have had good men in these positions and we should continue this practice. The duty of filling these offices rests in the hands of the people of Roxboro. It's just a plain case of voting for the men that you think are better qualified to hold office. Let's decide now to do that.

WHERE'S THE POINT?

Representative Charles A. Hallock (R.-Ind.) declared Tuesday voters of the south "could do no worse, an might do far better, if they let a party which no longer is their party but has been stolen by Socialists, the communists, the visionaries and worse."

He told the Republican club of Virginia that the south could bring "new hope, new life and new prosperity" to the nation if there were a national administration which thought of the southern states not as an economic problem but as an economic opportunity."

Deploping the expenditures since the inauguration of President Roosevelt, the Indiana Republican declared "that no family, state or nation can possibly spend its way onto permanent recovery has been clearly pointed out by many experts, including the able senators from Virginia—Carter Glass and Harry F. Byrd."

This paper has no issue to take with the Republican Representative as we can not see where he made one single point. It looks like all parties think of the south as being a place where much good work could be done, but a place group of girls, from 3 to 4 years old, sang a song on Safety, the theme of the program. Other features of the program were a play-lette by students of the 7th grade and a short review by four parents of accidents in the home which might have been prevented.

The closing part of the P. T. A. program was the awarding of badges to the various members of the Boy Scout Tribe.

Previously on March 4, the work of the Scouts had been reviewed by the Court of Honor at Bushy Fork. In order to give more publicity to the advancement made by the scouts, it was decided to present the badges to the boys at the regular P. T. A. meeting so that parents as well as friends of scouting might be present. Clyde Swartz, Person County scout commissioner, presented badges to the scouts and also awarded miniature badges to the parents. Out of the 23 Scouts in the Tribe, twenty received badges, the other three were prevented from doing so on account of sickness.

They were the follows: Joe Long, Second Class; Clarence Hurdle and Ollie Long, both tenderfoot. The Scouts receiving badges were as follows:

Tenderfoot - Alex Whitfield, Harold Hester, Eugene Clayton, Fred Yanborough, P. T. Horton. Second Class - J. D. Hall, Boyce Blalock, James Harvey Bowes, Albert Thaxton Horner and Nathaniel Broach.

Merit Badges: Animal Industry - Rubien Bowes, David Ray Moore, Beverly Bullock, Bernard Long, Fred Long, Thomas Horton, Fred Whitfield, Charlie Chambers, Coy Horton.

Book Binding - Rubien Bowes, and David Ray Moore.
Electricity - Bernard Long.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES FOR RESULTS.

CLOSED DOOR POLICY

As a protest against what he terms a "misuse" of science by the totalitarian states, Professor Percy Bridgman, Harvard university physicist, has shut his research laboratory to visitors from those countries and refuses to discuss his experiments with them.

$1,000,000 BELL

Using 11,000 cultured pearls, 366 diamonds and more than 26 pounds of silver, Japanese craftsmen of Tokyo have created this copy of the American liberty bell for exhibition at the New York World's fair. The bell is valued at $1,000,000.

BUSINESS GOOD

"Business is good in Roxboro," says L. P. Gray, local representative of the Home Security Insurance company. Last month, his first with the company, he led all other representatives in the entire district.

It now appears likely that North Carolina farmers will plant fewer acres of Spanish type peanuts this year and devote a larger acreage to the Virginia type.
