Durham, North Carolina

COME TO DURHAM TO PLAY OR TO SHOP

Your Welcome Is Sure in the "Friendly City"

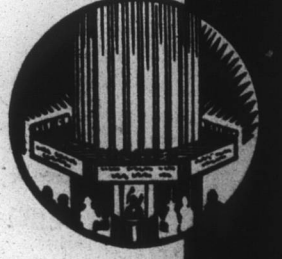

Why Not Visit These:

TOBACCO FACTORIES: Where a personally conducted tour gives you an actual view of cigarettes being made. Durham is the only city for miles around affording this privilege to visitors. You'll see the most marvelous inventions of industrial America.

DUKE UNIVERSITY: The South's richest and most beautiful school. Visit the libraries—the many buildings and the spacious campus that combines to make up this vast school. No Carolinian should fail to tour this nationally famous campus. No lover of flowers should fail to see the spacious gardens on the Duke campus.

HUNDREDS OF STORES: If you've searched for something you need and can't find in your own home town, perhaps Durham can help. Nine department stores, nineteen exclusive women's shops, sixteen men's shops, twenty-six furniture and five hardware stores are among the most modern in the state.

SIX THEATERS: This includes the newest of North Carolina's major theaters. These play houses offer the latest in entertainment. Durham is a sports center, too, with all major sports centering in and around the city.

Durham's Spring Opening—Greater Durham Days—will be held March 16, 17 and 18. These three days will bring the first peek at the newness of spring styles in clothing, home furnishings. Sport lovers will enjoy the Duke-Durham Southern High School Basketball Tournament which brings the champions of eight states to compete March 17 and 18.
