

Township Meetings On "Farm Plan" Listed

By H. K. Sanders and J. B. Snipes

Once more we give a list of the township meetings which are being held at three places in each township during this week and next week. These meetings are being held by the township committees in each township. They will be glad to explain the "Farm Plan" for each individual farm, and what practices may be carried out to meet the provisions of the 1939 program.

IN THE WINK OF AN EYE

The natural or reflex wink or an eye lasts from 1/4 to 1/2 of a second, according to measurements taken by eye-movement photography under the supervision of Dr. J. F. Neumaier, Southbridge, Mass. The sly wink lasts from 3/4 to 1/2 second.

PLANT BED INSECTS:

Several weeks ago an article was published in both of the county papers giving a list of the more destructive insects attacking tobacco plant beds and suggesting methods of control. Reports coming to the office at present indicate that these insects are increasing under the weather conditions of the past ten days. We are therefore repeating the suggestions published recently.

FLEA-BEETLES:

The flea-beetle, or "flea-bug", as most of us call this insect, is a leaf-chewing insect, and can therefore be controlled by poison applied to the leaf of a plant. For all leaf-chewing insects, we unhesitatingly recommend ROTENONE. This is a dust that may be applied to any plant without fear or burning the leaves. It is not poisonous to human beings nor to animals. It is easy to apply. It is not expensive. GET A SUPPLY OF ROTENONE and keep it on hand to control flea-beetles in the plant beds, bean beetles on string beans, butterbeans and worms on cabbage. By buying in quantity you may be able to get it even cheaper than the regular retail price.

MIDGE FLY LARVAE:

The request often comes in "The flies are eating my plants. What can I do?" The farmer has seen swarms of flies under the plant-bed cloths, he has seen flies on the leaves of the plants, and he has seen the plants dying. Naturally, he feels that the flies are eating the plants. However, as a matter of fact, the fly does not eat the plant. The fly lays eggs in the soil. These eggs hatch out into tiny worms, or larvae, and these burrow around the roots of the small plants and the plants die.

In order to prevent flies from collecting under the plant bed cloths, scatter naphthalene flakes over the beds, under the cloths, about every seven days, at the rate of 1-2 lbs. to 100 square yards of plant bed. Naphthalene flakes may be obtained from your druggist, and perhaps from the other stores that carry seeds or farm supplies.

The County Agent's office has a supply of bulletins on Insect Control, and we shall be glad to mail a copy to anyone requesting it, or to have anyone call for a copy.

New Laws Protect State Game Birds

Raleigh — The 1939 general assembly strengthened state laws protecting game birds, John D. Chalk, commissioner of game and inland fisheries, said today.

An act fixing a fine of $50 or jail term of 60 days, or both, for persons convicted of buying or selling quail was described by Chalk as "one of the most beneficial laws enacted."

Heretofore it has been a misdemeanor to buy or sell quail, but no penalties were prescribed. Chalk said thousands of quail were killed and "birdleggers who are interested only in making some money from the quail they kill."

Among the other new measures and laws prohibiting the use of automatic shotguns in hunting quail, turkeys, grouse, rabbits or squirrels—unless the guns are plugged so as to hold not more than three shells; and prohibiting the shooting of birds while they are on the ground.

"It has long been considered unsportsmanlike to shoot birds on the ground," said Chalk, "but this is the first time this practice has definitely been made a violation of the law."

"Hello" Boys Talked Back

When the 20th Century-Fox casting office got an order to select a number of young boys for the roles of telephone operators in Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "The Story of Alexander Graham Bell," they thought someone must have made a mistake.

Here was a chance to cast a number of their loveliest stock girls as the well-known "hello girls" in support of Don Ameche, Loretta Young and Henry Fonda, who head the cast in this Cosmopolitan production for 20th Century-Fox. No one could figure out why boys were requested instead of girls and a memo was sent out asking if there was not an error.

The research department finally set casting officials straight with the information that Bell originally hired young boys as operators. After a while, however, many subscribers to the new service began to complain of the boys' being impertinent and talking back to them so girls with true modesty and Victorian decorum were hired to take their places.

I HATE TO DANCE WITH A DAMP SEAL

The girl friend told me that—and I can sympathize with her. Matter of fact, it's no fun for me to feel like a damp seal—with my top-shirt all clammy from perspiration. That's why I wear a HANES Undershirt!

Gentlemen, you need a blotter when it's hotter. And that's what a HANES Undershirt is! It soaks up perspiration with its soft, absorbent knit. Evaporation is even and rapid. You actually feel cooler all over . . . and your top-shirt keeps neater and fresher!

See your HANES Dealer today, and notice the length of a HANES Undershirt. There's plenty of tail to tuck deep inside your shorts and save uncomfortable wadding at the waist.
