

CAPITAL GETTING ROYALTY JITTERS

Grows More Excited Hourly As Time For Visit Of King and Queen Nears.

Washington, June 7 — Growing more excited with each passing minute, Washington bustled today with last-minute preparations to gape, gasp and exclaim over their majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

Up and down Pennsylvania Avenue, bits of bunting began appearing, hinting only at the gay decorations which will adorn the route on Thursday, when the British monarchs parade in state from Union Station to the White House.

With minute care, secret service, police and Army and Navy officials studied and restudied their elaborate plans for protecting the royal visitors against over-enthusiastic well-wishers and any one of less kindly intent as well.

Shopkeepers along the Avenue, already doing a depression-breaking business in the sale of seats at upper windows, anxiously tried to find space for more spectators at $1 to $5 each. They did so under the eyes of the secret service, its agents demanding exact lists of just who would be seated at each window.

At Demone's, caterers to the capital's diplomatic set, preparations were made for receiving 25,000 luscious, perfectly-ripe Virginia strawberries, to be served with gallons of cream at the British Embassy's garden party in honor of the King and Queen.

And, all over town the elect few were calling tailor and couturier (or in a few instances those emporia at which formal attire may be had for hire) to make sure that the proper habiliments would be ready at the right moment.

Among those not of the elect a great debate continued. Weeks ago it made itself apparent. One side to this dispute has taken the blase viewpoint: "The King and Queen are coming? All right. So what I'm going to play golf." Adherents of the opposite point of view were scheming little ways to get one glimpse of the King and Queen, even from between the brawny shoulders of two Washington policemen.

And, the policemen will be out in force wherever their majesties go. Their numbers, in fact, will be reinforced by the addition of 425 firemen, who have special orders as to pressing their uniforms, shining their shoes and rubbing their insignia to a brilliant polish.

Plans are that as the royal couple motor slowly from the station to the White House they will pass between two unbroken files of soldiers, sailors and Marines. Steel cables along the curbing will restrain the spectators jamming the sidewalks. In a cleared space between the service men and the sidewalks will be the police, committing the lese majeste of facing the crowds and presenting their backs to the royal possession.

And, there will be dozens of plain clothesmen, both of the police force and the secret service circulating among the throng. The storekeepers don't know it, but the secret service has bought some of their window seats.

Cozy California Home

This home was built by an operative builder in San Jose, Calif., to meet Federal Housing Administration requirements. It was designed to afford ample daylight in each room. Attractively furnished as a demonstration by a local store, more than 10,000 persons visited the dwelling in a 3-weeks' period. One hour after being opened for public inspection, it was sold to a visitor. The Federal Housing Administration has issued a commitment to insure a $6,000 mortgage on the property.

Cantaloupe Crop May Be Smaller

Raleigh — With favorable weather, North Carolina cantaloupe growers will be marketing their crop the first week in July, A. B. Harless, senior marketing specialist of the State Department of Agriculture said today.

Eight or 10 federal-state inspectors will grade the crop under the direction of the Department's markets division.

The estimated acreage in the commercial area at 2,055 acres compares with 2,120 acres last season. The commercial producing acres include Laurinburg, Gibson, John's Station, Norlina-Ridgeway, Calypso, Maxton, Faison and Mount Olive.

SERIOUS SHORTAGE

A serious shortage of burley tobacco plants has been reported in Mitchell County, some of the largest growers having enough plants to set only 20 per cent of their normal crop.
