

Art Takes to the Clothesline in Outdoor Exhibition

Art flapped on clotheslines as a brisk wind swept through Rittenhouse square in Philadelphia, Pa., recently. It was the annual three-day outdoor exhibition sponsored by the Art League of Philadelphia. Several hundred oils, water colors, and etchings were on display and for sale. Thousands of interested spectators filed past the displays.

Raleigh Man Proposed As Kiwanis Governor

ED. L. CLOYD

Edward Lamar Cloyd, dean of students at North Carolina State College, will be offered as a candidate for Governor of the Carolinas Kiwanis District at the annual district meeting to be held in Raleigh this fall. Ed Cloyd was president of the Raleigh Club in 1935, lieutenant-governor of the Fifth Division in 1936, and has attended each district convention since his election as president of the Raleigh organization.

He has a memorable record in the Kiwanis work since 1932, serving on a number of important clubs, district and international committees and having attended International Conventions at San Antonio, Texas, in 1935; Washington, D. C., in 1936, and Boston in 1939.

Born at Lenoir in Caldwell county, North Carolina, in 1891, Ed Cloyd was educated in the private and public schools of his home county and was graduated from State College in June 1915. After teaching in Lenoir high school, he entered commercial work but returned to State College in 1918 as an instructor in the mechanical engineering department. He was appointed Dean of students in September 1921, and was awarded the Master's degree in 1927. He is a member of several scholarship and honorary fraternities, an elder in the West Raleigh Presbyterian church and a member of the North Carolina vocational guidance committee.

Dean Cloyd is known in Raleigh and throughout his home state for his interest in civic affairs, particularly in vocational guidance for young people. He has been active also on committees having for their first purpose the support of churches in their spiritual aims.

The candidacy of the Raleigh Kiwanian has the active and unanimous support of his home club.

OPPORTUNITY

A recent survey showed that 5,665 children of school age in low-income North Carolina farm families were enabled to attend public schools last year because of the Farm Security Administration program.

School Awaits Gail Patrick

Gail Patrick has a scholarship awaiting her at the University of Alabama, if she ever cares to return to classes.

One of the few youngsters to jumped successfully from campus to screen, is black-haired, dark-eyed Gail. She was in the law school at the University of Alabama when she entered a film talent contest and found herself on her way to Hollywood with a contract.

Today she has advanced to such roles as her present one in Republic's dramatization of the life of Sam Houston, "Man of Conquest," coming to the Dolly Madison theatre today and tomorrow. Richard Dix plays the title role of Houston.

SUGGESTS PRESIDENT'S RESIGNATION

Washington, D. C.—Frank Gannett, publisher of a chain of daily newspapers, declared in a formal statement that "the sooner President Roosevelt resigns the sooner we can begin to rebuild a dynamic surging America. His Administration has proved a failure. ... it has destroyed incentive and launched a spending program that now endangers our country."

Dialogue Had Star Stumped

Some particularly tricky dialogue proved too much for James Stewart in a scene of "It's a Wonderful World," now playing at the Palace Theatre. After several takes, with the dialogue throwing him each time, someone suggested the words be written so that Jimmy could see them.

"I'm certainly disappointed in you, Jimmy," said Director Van Dyke, shaking his head. "Of all the scenes I've directed with Johnny Weissmuller, he never once forgot a line."

This bothered Stewart to the extent that he sent over to the script department for dialogue of the Van Dyke-directed Weissmuller scenes. He read them through, cover to cover. The only line Johnny ever had to say was "ugh".

DEVELOPING

During the past three years, a market of small-sized second growth timber over a large portion of the southern pine region has been developed because of the new pine pulp and paper mills.

Big Recruiting Drive Opened By U. S. Army

Washington — The war department is setting up more than 400 recruiting stations for the most intensive drive for men in the army's peacetime history.

To provide for the vast arms expansion Congress has voted and for normal replacements, 112,500 men must be signed up in the 12 months starting Saturday.
