

FARM QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Question: Is sheep raising profitable in North Carolina?

Answer: Yes. Research work by scientists of the North Carolina Experiment Station indicate that a small farm flock of sheep will pay excellent returns throughout most of North Carolina. Purebred Hampshire rams used on native ewes produce an excellent cross bred lambs of high quality and with good weight of body and wool. Sheep keep weeds under control, produce mutton for home use and supply an income from wool and lambs.

Question: Is grass silage a practical feed in this state?

Answer: Apparently so because many good farmers have now turned to this method of providing succulent feed for their cattle during summer. It is rather hard to cure for hay the cereal and legume crops planted in the fall and harvested in the spring. Many times it rains continuously when the hay should be cut and the crop thus matures to the point where it is nothing much but stems and woody tissue. If the crop is cut and rained upon, curing is difficult and a low quality, moldy hay is the result. On the other hand, this material can be cut and stored in the silo at any time, preserved with molasses and the cattle are assured of an excellent feed. There is no waste.

Question: What results, if any, are coming from this Conservation program of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration?

Answer: The program seems to be bearing fruit. At least over six million farmers in the United States seem to think so because that many persons are carrying out improved practices on about 50 million acres of farm

Modern War Equipment Demonstrated at M. I. T.

Modern war equipment was placed on exhibition recently when the Massachusetts Institute of Technology held its annual alumni day at Cambridge, Mass. A three-inch mobile anti-aircraft gun claims the attention of this distinguished group. Seated: Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war. Standing, left to right: Gerald Swope, General Electric official and member of the M. I. T. corporation; Rear Admiral Harold Stark, U. S. navy, and Earl T. Compton, president of M. I. T.

land. These farmers are adjusting their practices to include increased acreages of grasses and legumes, applications of limestone and phosphate to make good pasture and meadow crops, planting forest trees, constructing ponds and reservoirs and protecting the soil from erosion by wind and water. They are terracing, contour farming, strip cropping and filling gullies. All of this must result in a better soil for those who come after us.

VAST SCANDAL LOOMS

Baton Rouge, La.—Announcing that a loss of "several hundred thousand dollars" had been discovered in the affairs of the Louisiana State University, Gov. Richard W. Leche has withdrawn his resignation, avowedly made for the purpose of elevating Lieut. Gov. Earl Long, brother of the late Huey P. Long, to the Executive Mansion. The latter was the sponsor of the State University, and State police have orders to arrest on sight Dr. James Monroe Smith, president of the institution and close associate of the murdered dictator of Louisiana—famed in the U. S. Senate as the "Kingfish".

FAR EASTERN TENSION GROWS

Tientsin, China—Grave consequences are feared because of Japan's isolation of the British and French concessions at this port by installing high voltage wire enclosures, and their insistence upon searching residents of foreign settlements passing through Jap barriers. London newspapers are demanding that the Cabinet adopt strong retaliatory measures because of the indignities suffered by British at the hands of Japanese troops in China.

I KEEP A WINDSHIELD WIPER ON MY CHEST!

When the weather gets sticky, the perspiration rolls off me just like a Summer shower. If I didn't wear a HANES Undershirt, my top-shirt would be sopping wet and flopping around like a dog's ears. But the soft, absorbent knit of a HANES cleans away the perspiration like a windshield wiper! And that's a fact, gentlemen. A HANES Undershirt catches the perspiration at the pores... lets the air get at it... gives it a chance to evaporate. You feel cooler, you look cooler. And your top-shirt stays a lot neater!

SPEAKING AS A MAN TO MAN
COMMENT ABOUT CLOTHES

When it comes to Polo—Millions of the polo shirts to be sold this summer will never see a polo match—but what does that matter? The polo shirt has plenty of good reasons for its existence even if it should never know the thrill of a saddle. Between ourselves, we rank it about the most versatile garment in the modern man's wardrobe. Advance news from stores indicates that polos will be a popular sport item this season. Early models we have seen are certainly good to look at. And they are made up in fabrics that have the wear as well as the air!

Came it on London!—They say London's wear styles are gradually emancipating themselves from the London influence. No doubt... And probably the present case is the exception that proves the rule. The new tailored sweaters made of Crown Tested spun rayon have a sort of raglan air, a la Bond Street, and they are winning popularity on several points: first, the raglan tailoring gives the shoulders a firmer look and hold and gives the wearer a fine athletic set-up... Indeed they impart a pleasing effect all around. They may be voted a definite step forward. Hitherto sweaters have been hopelessly slouchy and informal. No man likes to look bedraggled about the shoulders. This new sweater shows him at his best.

Syncoption in Belts—The belt styles for summer 1939 are nothing if not varied. Reflecting the peppy note in men's wear generally, they have taken on increased fashion importance. The new belts come in a wide range of colors; they are syncopted and collegiate in mood, but of course, with adequate choice for more conservative tastes. The fabric belts that stretch are one of the season's highlights. The new styles have two main advantages: sprightlier appearance and increased comfort.

The slide fastener vogue—Slide fasteners, having swept their way through the sweater field, now are gaining popularity as a closure for suit pockets. Stores show these fasteners in a wide range of boys' suits. It seems that the young idea, masculine, has given slide fasteners his royal approval. For his pockets, he finds them excellent—they keep the marbles, tops, etc., safely intact.
