★ COLLEGE BAZAAR PREVIEW ★

Miss Watkins Entertains Club

Miss Anne Watkins delightfully entertained members of her bridge club Wednesday evening at the Thomas home on North Main street.

The lower floor of the home was tastefully decorated with summer flowers. When the cards were laid aside following several progressions of contract, a delicious iced course was served by the hostess on the card tables.

An attractive prize for high score was awarded to Miss Margaret Hannah Critcher with a consolation prize going to Mrs. Preston Satterfield for low.

Little Miss Has Birthday Party

Lucy Love Dickerson was given a party Saturday night in honor of her tenth birthday.

The living room and dining room were decorated with lovely garden flowers and a cake bearing ten candles was placed on the table.

A number of games were enjoyed after which the hostess and guests presented the honoree attractive birthday gifts. After opening the gifts the guests were invited into the dining room where refreshments and suckers were served.

Those present were: Manley Whitfield, Bernard Whitfield, Jean Whitfield, Rachel Whitfield, Martha Brooks Short, Junita Short, Charles Short, Mary Lee Wade, Colleen Strum, Mary Katherine O'Briant, Henry Jr. O'Briant, Mary Roberts Horten, Bobby Ann Hall, Nathan Fox, Howard Fox, John Melvin O'Briant, of Norfolk, Va., Gene Swartz of Roanoke, Va., Mary Chaney, Ann Franks, Louise James, Janie James, Jane Dickerson.

Timely Tips For Making Floors Sparkle

By VELMA BEAM

How can I have pretty floors that sparkle with individuality and charm when I have so little time to care for them? This question is asked by numerous housewives, especially during busy seasons.

If floors are new or are not worn too deeply in the grain of the wood the boiled linseed oil finish is the answer. It is inexpensive, easily applied, does not wear off in patches and requires no hard work after it is once applied correctly. Directions for this finish may be obtained from

Six Reasons For Attending The National Tobacco Festival

Down in Dixie folks are mighty proud of two things in particular: their fine tobacco and their beautiful girls. When Antum rolls around this fair sample will be found in the mammoth dramatic production "TOBACAROMA" which will be a major feature of the annual National Tobacco Festival at South Boston, Virginia, on September 7 and 8.

the Home Agent's office upon request.

Here is something which may be done for all floors which have been scrubbed until the splinters rise up in revolt. This is called "Scrubless Floor Mixture", and the recipe may be obtained from the Home Agent's office upon request. It, too, is inexpensive, easily applied, durable, and particularly effective for rooms where there is a great deal of traffic in the same path.

Both of these finishes require no scrubbing, this will save backs. Neither of these is oily. The preventer's catching dust. A dry mop will clean them very successfully, generally speaking. A good time to fix floors is now, when all members of the family are outside working all day. There is ample time for the finish to dry thoroughly between each coat, usually three coats are sufficient.

Mrs. O'Briant Entertains Class

Mrs. Sidney O'Briant was hostess Saturday afternoon to the Primary class of the Warren's Grove Sunday School, and other invited guests.

The occasion being a Weiner roast given in the yard where delicious lemonade also was served with ritz crackers and pickle. Singing and games were enjoyed later in the evening.

Mrs. Elma Morton assisted Mrs. O'Briant with the entertaining.

Around 16 children from the ages of 8 to 12 enjoyed the party.

Timesavers For Picnics

Last week Mrs. C. E. Brooks, president of the County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs, urged that all club members, friends and neighbors join in the community picnics. An excellent idea, and very little effort need be expended.

The following suggestions will prove themselves and may be tacked on the wall near the "picnic shelf."

- 1—Keep on hand all screw top jars that mayonnaise and other canned products come in.
- 2—A cake about 10 to 12 inches in diameter will serve sixteen to twenty people.
- 3—2-3 cup creamed butter will spread both sides of 24 sandwiches.
- 4—One loaf sandwich bread will make 24 sandwiches, cut in half.
- 5—One pint of filling will fill 24 sandwiches.
- 6—One quart of salad will serve 8 or 10 people.
- 7—One 4 pound chicken will make about 2 or 2 1-2 cups clear diced meat.
- 8—1-2 pound coffee and about four quarts boiling water will make coffee for 16 or 18 people.
- 9—1 1-2 dozen lemons will prepare enough lemonade for 20 to 25 people.
- 10—A happy smile will make a picnic pleasant!

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

"Lord, give me faith!—to live from day to day, with tranquil heart to do my simple part, and with my hand in thine, just go Thy way. Lord, give me faith!—to trust, if not to know; with quiet mind in all things Thee to find, and, child-like, go where Thou wouldst have me go. Lord, give me faith!—to leave it all to Thee, The future is Thy gift, I would not lift the veil Thy love has hung 'twixt it and me."

Harper's Bazaar presents, in its August issue, the College Girl of 1939, alive in all her vitality, susceptible to the fashion urge, eager to try out any new fad, desirous of heightening her individuality. What she'll wear this fall on the campus, for a dinner date or on a week-end, Harper's Bazaar previews:

THE COLLEGE GIRL OF 1939

SHE has changed from the girl you knew a few years back. She definitely feels the fashion urge. She is neater, more individual, and wears better looking and better fitting clothes. She goes in for new-hair-dos, she loves well-cut, well-made tweeds, she prefers one or two really good date-dresses to a lot of variety in cheaper ones. She believes in the simple basic dress of wool or of crepe.

She spreads her individuality in the way she wears her hair, in what she puts on her feet, in her belts, her jackets and her mittens. This year in the East she went in for dirndl day and night, for wooden Dutch shoes, pig-tails, cummerbunds, sou'-westers, hair-bows, rolled-up slacks, cowboy hats and knee-boots in the rain. In the West they rushed crew hats, huaraches, coolies (loose shirts worn over skirts) and shell necklaces. By this fall there will be a flock of new fads—a new dress to replace the dirndl, new jackets, new socks, new shoes, new coats with bigger pockets and hoods.

As to the basic things for campus wear, every college girl agrees upon a good practical working wardrobe. The emphasis on dressier clothes varies with each college. For classes and on campus she needs plenty of cotton dresses in the early fall and late spring, at least four or five simple wool dresses, and an equal number of crepe dresses which she can wear when she dresses for dinner or goes away on a week-end. She likes knitted elastic-waists in her dresses. She wants plenty of sweaters— "more than your mother thinks you need," to quote a college girl. She likes tailored silk blouses to wear under them or alone and a number of tweed skirts in solid colors, in checks, and in plaids. She prefers them gored wide or pleated full. She likes loads of jackets for variety. Good tweed ones, suedes, suedes with knitted sleeves, Parkas in the winter, flannel blazers in the spring and corduroy beer jackets with big pockets. Slacks are the coming thing. You can count the campuses on one hand where they are still forbidden. Gray flannel slacks and flannels in pastel pin-stripes are

"Wearable" Fall Hats Demanded By Women

New York—Women would like to be supplied with "wearable" hats for fall, Alan A. Wells, Manager of the Sales Promotion Division of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, told a fashion clinic here.

Addressing the Millinery Merchandising Executives' Association he asserted that early spring sales of last year showed the new millinery now in vogue to be unacceptable to many women.
