PERSON SPORTS SLANTS

By THOMAS J. SHAW, JR.

Cherchez la Femme

Not so many months ago "Derr Real Stuff" John Derr, of the Greensboro Daily News sports staff came down the mountain from the Asheville Citizen-Times. This is what happens in spare moments, according to Tuesday's edition of his column:

"Football coaches in the Roxboro vicinity take a tip from this department and locate the girl in your section who can really punt that pigskin . . . While riding through that way last Sunday we saw her get off several boots that would do credit to any high school player. She was playing with a crowd of boys."

Well, come on girls, and don't be bashful. We think we could pick the one John saw, but we won't be telling. Why not leave that job to "Red" Day, Dick Puckett, or George Wirtz?

Speaking of Coach George

Last night we saw him for a few moments and we begin to think he is turning into a Wallace Wade, all because of what he does not say. Last week before the Ramblers won from the Methodist orphanage boys on Armistice, you would have thought the local boys were to be up against it, to hear Coach George talk. But they won. And so maybe that's part of his gridiron psychology. Last night he talked the same way about tomorrow's contest with Warrenton. Let's take it as a good sign the winning streak will last.

The Inevitable

At this moment this column could never show its face again unless it mentioned THE GAME of the week-end. No need to say Duke-Carolina, or the other way around. Even the kids in the first grade know about this one.

Over in Durham two announcements have been made concerning the game, both of them having very little to do with football on the field. One of them is the advertisement saying frankly "There are no more tickets" and "Don't come unless you have a ticket". The other is yet more strange: "In an effort to mitigate the after the game congestion of traffic Duke University officials plan a presentation of the Graff Ballet in Page auditorium immediately following the game." We think this latter idea is attractive, but we wonder just how many football fans will make a quick change from the enjoyment of football, which is a strenuous ballet, to the more classic form put on by the Graff troupe? And we think, too, that some of the fans may be foolish enough to try to drive from the stadium around to Page auditorium, in which case they will add to rather than take away the traffic problem.

Here in Roxboro one of the drug stores saves a lot of talk by having an "I told you so" score card for the pro and con guessers to write up their Duke-Carolina figures on. Go by there any day and you can see your friend's name, and maybe your own, with scores ranging anywhere from 0 to 0 and up, depending on where you went to school, or where your pocketbook has sympathy.

The strong Duke followers still say Duke will win this year. We don't think so. We said it before and we say it again. That squeeze Duke had with Georgia Tech was close. And we can't forget Wake Forest. And we can't forget that Eaves is supposed to be out. So here goes, write your own ticket — Carolina, Duke We say, Carolina, 14, Duke 7.

CAROLINA

COACH RAYMOND WOLF

Coach Ray Wolf, Tar Heel mentor, who will take his boys over to Durham Saturday to engage the Blue Devils of Duke in one of what is expected to be the best games played in the south this season.

Allensville To Meet Mt. Tirzah In Court Premier

A double-header basketball game between Allensville and Mt. Tirzah high school teams will be played in the Roxboro high school gymnasium at 7:30 o'clock Friday night, according to announcement made today by school officials.

In this, the first game of the basketball season for Allensville, the girls team will start the playing at 7:30 and the boys team will follow. The Mt. Tirzah teams have had one other game this season, against Bahama. Coach for the Allensville boys team is W. S. Humphries, while W. B. Satterwhite principal of the school, is coach for the girls.

The Mt. Tirzah coach is L. M. Hayes.

Two Small Fires

On Monday of this week Roy Jones, who lives on Main street, near the edge of town, lost a cow, burned to death when the small shed in which the animal was confined was destroyed by fire.

On Wednesday the fire department received another call, this time to extinguish a gas fire on a vacant lot. Little damage was done.

Should Be Good

Tomorrow at three o'clock on the local high school athletic field, the powerful Ramblers of this city will meet the strong high school aggregation from Warrenton. The visitors, who have won five games, lost one and tied one are meeting a team with a similar record.

Coach George Wirtz, who regards the Warrenton team as a strong eleven, said yesterday that certain members of his squad, injured in the Armistice day contest, are much better, and that he is looking for a good but hard fought game.

BAND COMMITTEE RENDERS THANKS

$1,000 Fund Has Been Raised And Instruments Will Be Bought.

(Contributed)

It would be impossible to receive any finer cooperation than has been shown in the recent campaign to raise $1,000 for the Roxboro High School band. Every firm and individual contacted, with very few exceptions, has expressed willingness to contribute to the band fund. Due to the fine cooperation on the part of all, it is now possible, and not only possible, but a real fact that the high school will now have a band second to none. We wish that it were possible to tell every person and every firm contributing to the fund just how grateful we are for the cooperation.

The $1,000 raised will be used as follows—approximately $725 will be used to purchase instruments, and the balance will be applied on uniforms for the band. To E. G. Thompson, O. B. McBroom, W. R. Jones, R. D. Bumpass, S. F. Sicks, Jr., B. B. Mangum, J. B. Snipes, R. M. Spencer, B. A. Thaxton, Charlie Harris, R. H. Shelton, T. Miller White, Wallace Woods, Glenn Titus, J. A. Long, Jr., and Earl Bradsher, Jr., we express our sincerest thanks for their untiring efforts in contacting individuals and firms, thus making possible the attainment of the goal of $1,000.

To Dr. B. A. Thaxton we wish to express in a special way how grateful we are for his devoted service and untiring efforts in making it possible for the goal of $1,000 to be reached. To F. O. Carver, Jr., R. B. Griffin and W. W. Woods for the part in making the campaign a success, we are also grateful.

Junior Band Now Under Way At High School

(Special Correspondent)

Through the courtesy of J. A. Long in donating 13 instruments to the school, it is now possible in addition to the regular band at Roxboro High school to have a Junior band also. This gift of instruments has a money value of several hundred dollars and will make it possible for sixth and seventh grade boys and girls to receive the fundamental training in handling musical instruments which will enable them to graduate directly into the High School band and will save valuable time in that the students will be able to play with proficiency on completing the seventh grade. Thus they will have a longer period of time in High school in which to actually play.

The band committee, Frederick R. Moore, the band director, and the entire school is very happy

Bethel Hill And Roxboro Will Meet Here November 24th

Host To Enemy

WALLACE WADE

Duke's great football mentor, Wallace Wade, the man who keeps everybody guessing until his Blue Devils go into action, and that's exactly what he is doing about the great annual classic which comes off in Duke stadium in Durham Saturday.

Teams Did Not Meet Last Year; Excellent Game and Large Crowd Predicted.

Roxboro High school and Bethel Hill High will meet in a grid battle on the local gridiron Friday afternoon, November 24, at 3 o'clock, according to announcement made Wednesday by Coach Wirtz of Roxboro High school.

This announcement is being hailed with enthusiasm over the county as football fans everywhere have been wanting to see these two teams get together. They did not play last year and prior to this announcement it was not thought that they would meet this year.

Both the Ramblers and Hill-toppers have good teams and to try to pick a favorite would be a hard matter. When the whistle blows for the kick-off, it will mean that a real battle is underway.

One of the largest crowds ever to see a football game in this county is expected to be on hand for this contest, between the two county teams.

Coaches Wirtz and Gibson will start working at once with this game in view.

Harl R. Douglass Speaks To Clubs

Meeting Tuesday evening at the Hotel Roxboro, members of Person County Schoolmasters club and their guests, fellow-members from Granville and Caswell counties, heard an interesting discussion of "Curriculum", presented by Dr. Harl R. Douglass, of the Education department, of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Dr. Douglass stressed the importance of flexibility of public school curriculums, saying that what is suitable now for a school system may not be what was suitable a decade ago. He also asked his hearers to see to it that educational programs are adapted to the personal needs of the students involved.

Cushwa's 40-Yard Sprint Gives Ramblers Victory

Whitfield and Moore Give Necessary Support To Lead Locals To Victory.

(Sports Staff Writer)

Going wide around left-end on a reverse, George Cushwa, Jr., shifty Rambler back, raced forty yards for a touchdown in the 13-0 win over Methodist orphanage of Raleigh here last Saturday afternoon as one of the main events of the local Armistice day celebration.

The game started with both teams playing defensive ball and this continued until about the middle of the third quarter, when the Ramblers put in a definite bid for a marker. At this point they launched an offensive drive which carried them into enemy territory, just beyond the mid-field stripe. Then Cushwa took the ball and galloped on to victory.

The extra point was good on a line play and as the period ended the Ramblers were leading 7-0.

The Orphanage opened the final period with a strong aerial attack which carried them deep into Rambler territory, but were unable to score. Then the Ramblers took the ball, and on a long, high pass from "Red" Day, local fullback, to "Gus" Holeman, who crossed several stripes, including the pay-off one, for the final six points of the encounter. The try for the seventh was missed and the game ended 13-0.

Co-captains Hassell Whitfield and Wallace Moore, tackle and center respectively, played good ball, both on offense and defense and are good material for any All-State team.

that Mr. Long should make so generous a gift to the school. It is hoped that soon we will be able to justify the money spent in making the Junior and Senior bands possible.

SEASON BEGINS FOR WATER FOWL

Reynolds Announces Restrictions, Says Season For Quail Later.

Open season on ducks, geese, jack snipes and coots began yesterday, said Person county Game Warden R. G. Reynolds, who added that hunting of the species named will be permitted until December 29, of this year.

Warden Reynolds indicated, however, that it is illegal to hunt water fowl without $1.00 Duck stamp, if over 16 years of age; It is illegal to hunt water fowls or doves on or over bated areas; It is illegal to use live decoys; It is illegal to shoot water fowl before 7 a. m. or after 4 p. m., according to Federal regulations.

Two weeks later the quail, Turkey and rabbit season will open, Thanksgiving day, November 30, and will remain open through February 15, both dates inclusive, Mr. Reynolds added. Restrictions in these fields make it illegal to use automatic loading or a hand operated repeating shot gun which has not been plugged with one piece filler incapable of removing through loading end of magazine and it is illegal to three shots in magazine and chamber combined.

All field men, Mr. Reynolds said, are instructed to keep close check on all automatic and repeating shot guns.

OUTLOOK

Total cash income of farmers in 1940 should be "materially higher" than this year's but might still not reach the levels of 1937, predicts the U. S. Department of Agriculture.
