

LOCAL LEADERS IN 4-H CLUB WORK

By MISS VELMA BEAM
County Home Agent

Training is unquestionably one of the most important factors in the development of worthwhile citizens. This is where the local leaders play a leading role in the 4-H club programme of work. With a background of experience in their own living these adult local leaders are well-qualified to guide and direct the youthful citizens in their respective communities.

The local leader can be of great service to the club member, the Extension Agents, and to his community by assisting with the selection and supervision of the club projects. The club project should be a demonstration of a better practice in agriculture or home-making, and should fit into the program of extension work being conducted in the community. Local leaders are made conscious of the aims of the work by attending the training schools held for that purpose, either by the Extension Agents or Specialists from State College. It requires very little time and effort and affords the opportunity of getting new ideas, suggestions and methods for conducting the work.

Local leaders not only act in a supervisory and advisory capacity to their clubs, but they help with individual projects, and secure records from the members in their clubs. They also help in the selection of a club project, preferably a community service, which should be large enough to challenge the efforts of all club members.

It is the duty of the leaders to recognize and help develop the abilities of club members, realizing that worthwhile folks do not just happen. Folks are not born worthwhile, and it is the job of the leader to help the youngsters develop into the man or woman they ought to be. In the words of Robert Louis Stevenson: "Sooner or later we sit down to the banquet of consequences."

"Learn by Doing" is the watch word of the 4-H club work, and to grow quality into life a leader must learn to direct the wanting, the thinking and the doing in order to get worthwhile results.

The leaders in Person County are volunteer workers and through their helpful activities it is to be hoped for our boys and girls will be able to lead useful and happy lives.

WOOL

Increased domestic and foreign demand for wool brought about by the European War and reduced supplies of wool in the United States will tend to support domestic wool prices in 1940.

Glamour Girl—Royal Evacuees—Heroine

It takes all kinds of glamour to make a world—and these four not-so-very-old persons pictured here have contributed their variety. Left: Mary Steele of New York, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Steele and probable successor to Brenda Frazier as No. 1 glamour girl, as she appeared at the opening of the national horse show in New York. Center: Royal evacuees from London are Prince Edward and Princess Alexandra, children of the duke and duchess of Kent. The prince is England's pet glamour boy. Right: Elinor Randolph, 15, Clarksburg, W. Va., who won a $500 scholarship when she saved a little girl friend from drowning.

FARM QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Question: What is the best green feed for poultry during the winter?

Answer: Cured alfalfa hay, lespedeza, or clover hay make good greens for winter use provided the green color is retained. Alfalfa leaf meal, if green in color, also makes a satisfactory feed, but should not constitute more than ten percent of the mash. This feed is much preferred to alfalfa meal which has a high fiber content, but of the two neither is as satisfactory as green alfalfa hay. All the hays should be fed in racks as the birds will eat only the leaves and the stems can then be thrown in the litter.

Question: Should shade trees be pruned in winter the same as fruit trees or shrubs?

Answer: No! Many beautiful groves are ruined each year by quack tree surgeons or by superstitious persons. Shade trees should be allowed to form their natural shape and if there are too many trees, thin them out rather than cut them back. For scale control, the trees should be sprayed with lime-sulphur or miscible oil. The same treatment should be applied to fruit trees and shrubs. Be sure that the air is still and not too cold when the spray is applied.

Question: How can stomach worms be controlled in a herd of young cattle?

Answer: Preventative measures are very important in controlling this parasite. The pasture should be well drained and the cattle frequently changed to fresh pasture. Drinking water should be supplied from a well or from flowing streams preferably in troughs above the level of the ground. The medical treatment consists of drenching the

Actors Attend "Con" School

For weeks men were taught the ways of criminals. Day after day, men were taught the lingo of hardened criminals. The teacher was technical advisor on Monogram's "Mutiny in the Big House", showing today and tomorrow at the Dolly Madison theatre.

The school met an hour a day. Its pupils were extras and members of the cast who played convicts in the film. For graduation from school it was necessary for each pupil to pass a sound test to be sure that the "cons" spoke authentic prison lingo.

"Mutiny in the Big House" was suggested by the famous prison break of 1929 in Cannon City, Colorado, when Father Patrick O'Neil heroically quelled the riot. Charles Bickford is co-starred with Barton MacLane in the film with a supporting cast which includes Pat Moriarity, Dennis More, George Cleveland and others.
