

West Virginia Getting Ready

West Virginia University, a school of 3,000 students, seems to be on the comeback trail as far as football is con-

Bill Kern, late of Carnegie Tech, has been hired as football coach and will take over that sport at Virginia at once. It is understood that he will get $7,000 a year for the first three years. A former assistant to "Jock" Sutherland at Pitt, Kern went across Schenley park to Tech in 1937. The following year he guided the Tartans to the mythical eastern championship and was named the outstanding coach of 1938. Last season, however, his Tartans slipped badly, dropping their last five games.

At West Virginia where only 3,000 students are enrolled. Kern will take over direction of a freshman outfit which cleaned up everything it faced. The yearlings galloped over Pitt, Duquesne and Carnegie freshmen, among others.

From last season's regulars Kern will get the nucleus of a tine squad, led by hard-working Charley Hockenberry, a

One guess is about as good as another, but we have an idea that Clemson might cop the Southern Conference crown once again. MacFadden plays basketball about as well as ne does football and this is saying a lot.

However, we shall see what we shall see—the season is still young.

It must be a treat to see that Durham High school basketball team play. They have a habit of winning them by large scores. A number of the boys will finish high school this year and we imagine that any number of colleges would like to secure their services.

It has been said by many that this edition of Durham High could stay in the running with any college team in the state. This writer does know that they could stay in the running with any high school team in the United States.
