

Only 25 Percent Of Autos Insured

New York, May 11 — Despite the fact that today it is easier and less expensive than ever before for automobile owners to carry adequate automobile liability and property damage insurance, it is estimated by the automobile department of the Fidelity and Casualty Company of New York, one of the companies of the America Fore Insurance Group and announced by Frank A. Christensen, vice president, that only 25 percent of private passenger automobile owners have this protection. This is a figure which is also generally agreed on by the automobile departments of other capital stock insurance companies which do business all over the country.

Mr. Christensen, pointing out some facts regarding those who do and do not carry automobile liability and property insurance says:

"It seems that quite generally the individual who has property or a responsible position, is insured.

"Many of those who do not own property tend to the thought that perhaps it is possible for them to get by without insurance protection, feeling that they are judgment proof. But this by no means so for a judgment can be collected from their income or held in abeyance for years until they are in a position to pay it."

Within the last two years, automobile insurance rates of all of the capital stock insurance companies have been revised strongly downward in almost all parts of the country. Added to this, in almost every state the Safe Driver Reward plan has been put into effect by these companies, whereby in addition to paying considerably less premium than heretofore, the assured also receives a cash reward of 15 percent at the end of the policy year, if during that time he has had no accidents.

Recently the companies also announced a $1,000 liability and property damage policy.

To further facilitate the insuring of automobiles, Mr. Christensen calls attention to the fact that this protection is all purchasable on the plan of equal payments divided over a period of several months.

MIND YOUR MIND

Division of Mental Hygiene, By JAMES WATSON, M. D.

Raleigh, May 11 — The requests for suitable books and pamphlets dealing with "Mental Health" come from three main groups. (1) Those who want some mental hygiene information to help in solving some problem or problems in their children. (2) Those who want to do some mental hygiene work in their communities, schools, clubs, etc. (3) Those who are looking for help to solve their own problems. Today I will try to answer the first group.

I wonder if you are familiar with the pamphlets published by the Government's Children's Bureau? If not, write to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. for a list of the publications of the Children's Bureau which will be sent you free. In it you will find listed pamphlets dealing with almost every problem arising in the raising of children. These pamphlets cost 5c or 10c each. Parents have particularly praised the pamphlets entitled "Are You Training Your Child to be Happy?," "The Child From One to Six," and "Guiding the Adolescent", and there are hundreds of other good ones.

You should also get the list of publications of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene, 50 West 50th Street, New York City. In it you will find listed many useful pamphlets some of which are free, I would like especially to mention "Some Undesirable Habits and Suggestions as to Treatment" by Dr. Taft 15c. Many parents have found this helpful.

Among books I would recommend "Everyday Problems of the Everyday Child" by Dr. Douglas A. Thom. This book is written in simple style by an eminent physician and covers every problem likely to arise in the life of a child. It costs $2.50 and is published by the Appleton Century Co. of New York but it is probably in your town or school library.

SOIL DISTRICTS

Soil Conservation Districts now cover 136 million acres in the United States, including nearly 10 million acres in North Carolina.

Children Should Be Taught Rules Of Traffic Safety

Raleigh, May 10 — The fact that twenty-one children were killed on North Carolina streets and highways the first three months of this year is viewed by Ronald Hocutt, Director of the Highway Safety Division, as a stern challenge to everyone interested in safety, but particularly to North Carolina parents.

"Pending the fulfillment of our hope of having safety taught in every school in North Carolina, the responsibility for teaching our children safety habits must lie chiefly with their parents," said Hocutt.

The safety director pointed out that the 21 traffic fatality victims under 15 years of age included nine who were crossing or playing in the street or roadway, one skater who skated in front of a car, one bicyclist who disregarded a stop sign, and one child on a sled.

"If parents expect their children to walk, play, skate and ride bicycles in a safe manner, they must take it upon themselves to impress their children with the importance of safe practices and the dangers of wrong practices," Hocutt said.

"If your child rides a bicycle, see that he or she learns safe cycling habits, preferably by joining a Bicycle Club, if there is one in your community; if your child owns skates, teach him not to skate in the street; and, above all, see that your child doesn't play in the street, that he learns

Ronald Hocutt Warns People Of Night Hazards

Raleigh — Calling attention to the fact that three persons were killed in North Carolina last month as a result of failing to take proper precautions when changing tires on the highway at night, Ronald Hocutt, Director of the Highway Safety division, gave out the following suggestions:

When compelled to make repairs or change a tire on the highway at night, the first precaution to observe, is pulling completely off the highway or as far as over on the shoulder as possible.

Flares should be placed on the highway some feet behind the car and also in front of it, but if you no don't carry flares you should by all means leave the dim lights on your car burning.

If working on the side of the car next to the highway, it is wise to move around to the other side when a car approaches.

"These are simple, commonsense precautions, and fatal accidents of this type will be materially reduced if not entirely eliminated when all motorists follow such precautions in making repairs or changing tires on the highway at night," Hocutt said.

to look before crossing the street or road, and that he cultivates safe pedestrian habits.

"It is better that your child learn the lessons of safety through teaching, not through experience."
