

North Carolina Third Term Manager Seeks United Action

Raleigh, May 16 — "Supporters of President Franklin D. Roosevelt must remain on the alert notwithstanding the sweeping victory scored in last Saturday's county conventions", J. H. Folger, Chairman of the North Carolina for Roosevelt Headquarters, said today. "The victory will not be complete until the personnel of North Carolina's 26-vote delegation is selected and its members all known to be for the President's renomination."

Senator Folger pointed to the district caucuses here Friday, and the great importance of attendance, by Roosevelt folks in large numbers, upon these caucuses at 10 o'clock Friday morning, May 17. He called attention to the fact that all the national convention delegates, except those at large with a total of four votes, are to be named as the caucuses; each district having the privilege of selecting delegates with a total of two votes. The usual practice is to name four delegates with a half vote each.

"Despite the fact that an overwhelming majority of county conventions instructed for Roosevelt, it would be possible for the district caucuses, or some of them, to select as delegates to the National Convention the most violent anti-Roosevelt men, if the forces opposed to the President should have a majority present at the district meetings; particularly as there are so many counties which have named 'all good Democrats who attend' as delegates to the State convention. The Roosevelt forces must, as a result, see to it that enough Democrats favorable to Franklin D. Roosevelt shall be present Friday to prevent any attack by forces who oppose the President." All Roosevelt men and women who possibly can, should be in Raleigh before 10 o'clock Friday morning, May 17, and find the places named for their district caucus and be there at ten o'clock for the meeting.

District caucuses to be held at 10 o'clock Friday morning:

First district - Palace theatre; Second district - Capitol theatre; Third district - Wake theatre; Fourth district - House of Representatives Chamber; Fifth district (including Person - Ambassador theatre; Sixth district - Fourth floor Revenue Building (Finance and Appropriation Committee room); Seventh district - State theatre; Eighth district - Colonial Room Sir Walter Hotel; Ninth district - Ball Room Carolina Hotel; Tenth district - Wake County Courthouse, and Eleventh district - Federal Courtroom, Post Office Building.

Tropical Helmets Ca-Vel Seventh Will Be In Use Grade Finals Held

Fort Bragg, N. C., May 16 — The tropical helmet, a subject of research and experimentation for a number of years by army officers, scientists, and explorers, will make its appearance here as an article of uniform in formations for the first time when the Citizens Military Training Camp regiment is organized on June 12. The Post Commander announced today.

The Regular Army officers attached for duty at the C. M. T. Camp, the Reserve officers in charge of the training, and the trainees will wear the helmet at all times. Although the helmet as now designed has not been officially approved by the War department, its comfort in hot weather and practicality have been amply demonstrated by tests at this post.

This unique headgear has a leather rim about an inch wide which fits around the head. The rim is the only part of the helmet that touches the wearer. Attached to the rim by four aluminum hinges is the undulating cover of waterproof canvas, which is separated from the leather rim by the aluminum hinges. The separation permits the free circulation of cool air under the cover and all around the head.

Causes of sunstroke or of heat stroke seldom occur at Fort Bragg even under the cover of the tight-fitting field service hat. Use of the tropical helmet as an article of uniform will be a 100 percent insurance against such cases among the C. M. T. C. trainees, no matter how hot the weather may become.

Probable exports of cotton over the full season which ends July 31, exclusive of barter cotton are 6,402,000 bales, according to a check-up made by the N. Y. Stock Exchange service.

ONE-VARIETY

Farmers of Anson county are exhibiting an increasing amount of interest each year in one-variety cotton communities, reports J. W. Cameron, farm agent of the State College Extension service.

Yesterday afternoon at four o'clock in the school auditorium graduation exercises for the seventh grade of Ca-Vel school were held. Speaker for the occasion was City Manager Percy Bloxam, while certificates and honor awards were presented by H. C. Gaddy, supervising principal of Roxboro schools.

Several of the graduates, Alyse Bivins, Martha Carver, Laddis Dixen, Sara Dunn, Donald Hammock, Musette Jones, Sara Mangum and Earl Shotwell participated in the program by giving recitations and recitals. Music was also furnished by Frederick R. Moore, of Roxboro High school faculty and by R. W. Trowbridge.

Salutatorian was Donald Hammock and valedictorian was Alyse Bivins.

As a preliminary to graduation exercises, the Ca-Vel Parent-Teachers association on Thursday held a musical program, presented by pupils of Mrs. Edagr Masten. Students appearing on the program included Janelle Owen, Edna Clayton, Margaret Ramsey, Sara Mangum, Sara Dunn, Marilyn Dillard, Helen Owen, Maddy Jane Trowbridge and Jemima Walters.

MAD DOGS

Recently we have had a report from the State Department that two mad dogs have been found in Roxboro. A city ordinance requires that all dog owners keep them under control, on leash or muzzled. The citizens are requested, in the interest of public safety, to keep a careful watch. Owners of dogs are required to keep their dogs penned up or under control.
