A $3,000 Home

Shunning expensive materials and eliminating the dining room to reduce waste space to a minimum, the builders of this home have produced a dwelling that could well serve as a standard in its price range. For the purposes of economy, the kitchen and bathroom are located together, thus centralizing the plumbing and saving materials. The home has a full-sized basement. Valued at $3,000, the Federal Housing Administration insured a mortgage on the property of $2,400. A mortgage of this amount may be paid off over a period of 25 years with average monthly payments of less than $14, exclusive of local taxes and hazard insurance.

BYRD WANTS CONGRESS TO STAY IN SESSION

Washington, June 7 — Senator Byrd, Democrat, Virginia, asserted today that Congress "should not render itself incapable of meeting its responsibilities" by seeking to adjourn on June 22.

Administration leaders have said that they hoped to complete national defense and tax legislation in time to adjourn on that date—two days before the scheduled start of the Republican national convention in Philadelphia.
Observing that the happenings of the next few weeks "may have a profound effect on our own civilization," Byrd said he thought it was the "plain duty" of Congress to stay on the job.

ALLIES GIVE ORDERS FOR MARINE ENGINES

New York, June 7—Allied purchasing agents have placed orders in the United States for $4,000,000 in high speed marine engines, it was announced today.

In addition, a spokesman for the allies disclosed, the British and French agents are negotiating for substantial amounts of "automotive business".
Financial circles heard reports the allies were in the market for tanks, which presumably were included in the "automotive" category. Airplanes contracted for in this country now amount to more than 8,000, the spokesman said.

The Marine engines—a new line of allied purchases—were believed intended for use in torpedo boats chiefly. Where the orders were placed was not divulged.

London — Reuters, British news agency, quoted the Duke of Windsor in a dispatch from Paris last night as declaring reports abroad that he had relinquished his place as a liaison officer with the British and French armies in France were "wholly inaccurate".

Speed Rated As No. 1 Enemy In North Carolina

Speed — the killer — kept up its deadly work on North Carolina highways during the first four months of this year, according to figures just compiled by the Highway Safety Division in Raleigh.

Records of the Division show that five out of every six traffic fatalities in the state during the four-months period occurred in rural areas and small towns. To be specific, only 40 of the 231 traffic deaths for the four months occurred in cities of 10,000 population or over, while 191 of the fatalities happened in small towns and out on the open highway.

"It's not when traffic is thickest that the most traffic deaths occur," declared Ronald Hocutt, director of the Safety Division, "it's where traffic is fastest".

"When two cars collide on a congested city street the cars usually suffer damage only and the occupants probably suffer minor injuries, but when two cars breezing along on an open highway collide, a fatality occurs more often than not."
