

Elsie Janis In Republic's New War-Time Drama

"Women In War", a timely and thought-provoking Republic drama comes to the Dolly Madison theatre today and tomorrow.

The story places Miss Janis in a familiar setting, for 20 years ago, she played just as dramatic a role in real life, contributing songs and dances to the entertainment of soldiers overseas, a service which won her a lasting place in the hearts of the soldiers, and the affectionate title, "Sweetheart of the A. E. F."

Miss Barrie, talented and strikingly beautiful, portrays her daughter, who is whirled into the maelstrom of the war and emerges physically and emotionally intact, thanks to the nursing matron who is prevented by a heart-breaking circumstance from disclosing her true identity to the daughter she abandoned as a baby.

Cinematography by Jack Marta is distinguished in every respect, as is the sensitively pictured direction of John H. Auer.

Sol C. Siegel was the associate producer in charge.
