March 14 and 15th. I just saw Dolian Long, Frank Ellington. Sam Byrd Winstead, Curtis Oakley and a few more big business men running around town getting off their income tax reports. Boy, it must be nice to be in the money and have to file one of those slips.

Dan Richmond, son of J. D. K., left for the army last week Now Dan didn't exactly give any bi.g cheers when he left, but there is no need for him to worry. In just a short time a number of his old friends will be with him. Gene Thompson, F. O. Carver, Jr., Robert Mills and J D Perkins, Jr., may be sleeping in the same tent with him. If that is true the boys can tell each other bed time stories and thus keep old Roxboro in mind at all times.

Someone told this-whether it is true or not we do not know. Gus Slaughter of Allensville, came to Roxboro the other day and brought his wife. After they reached Roxboro Gus went his way and his wife went about her business. Later on Gus decided to go home and did. When he got there he asked where his wife was -then the truth came out, he had come home and left her in Roxboro. He had to drive back for her. Now you will have to see Gus for the rest of the story.
