Power Company Hearing Adjourned Until Last Week In September

RALEIGH, Sept. 11. — The hearing on the order of the Federal Power Commission requiring the Carolina Power & Light Company to "show cause" why it should not dispose of $24,000,000 of the book value of its assets has been adjourned until September 29 when counsel for the commission will resume its cross-examination of company witnesses in an endeavor to refute the utility's claims that $97,000,000 of value actually exists.

As the hearing was adjourned, A. M. McCabe, company engineer in charge of the reclassification of property, had been under severe cross-examination for 29 days by commission counsel, which sought to break down his testimony with regard to original construction costs. Mr. McCabe has steadfastly contended that cost figures, determined by him, are supported by value.

Norman B. Gray, examiner for the Federal Power Commission, who is hearing the case, admitted into the record six weeks ago testimony of witnesses tending to prove values as claimed by the company to actually exist at the time the present Carolina Power and Light Company was formed in 1926.

Aids In Defense

L. V. Sutton, president and general manager, testified in the first week of the hearing, which started July 21, that the creation of the present Carolina Power and Light Company in 1926, when a number of utilities were consolidated, has proved "particularly valuable to national defense as well as to our customers."

Mr. Sutton said the consolidation, which is being attacked by the commission, has not only made it possible for his company to reduce the cost of electricity for residential purposes from an average of eight and one-half cents per kilowatt-hour to two and nine-tenths cents per kilowatt-hour, but that its facilities have been so expanded as a result of the creation of the present company it has been able to furnish large quantities of electric power to defense concerns such as the Carolina Aluminum Co., located outside company territory, and to the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Resolutions Of Respect

In Memory Of Brother L. R. Monk, who died June 28, 1941.

Once again death hath summoned a Brother Junior, and the golden gateway to the Eternal City has opened to welcome him to his home. He has completed his work in ministering to the wants of the afflicted, in shedding light into darkened souls and in bringing joy into the places of misery, and as his reward has received the plaudit, "well done" from the Supreme Councilor.

And Whereas, The all-wise and Merciful Master has called our beloved and respected Brother home;

And Whereas, He having been a true and faithful Brother of our Mystic Order, therefore, be it

Resolved, That Longhurst Council No. 570 Jr. O. U. A. M. in testimony of its loss, be draped in mourning for thirty days; that we tender to the family of our deceased Brother our sincere

SERVICE HELD ON MOUNTAIN

Bishop Tomlinson of Church of God Carries Scrolls Up Burger Mountain

Murphy, Sept. 11.—While a thousand voices blended in songs of the church and airplanes roared overhead, Bishop A. J. Tomlinson, general overseer of the Church of God, carried scrolls representing Moses' tablets of the Ten Commandments and the Nine Beautitudes of the Sermon on the Mount to the top of Burger Mountain.

The 73-year-old bishop led the slowly climbing multitude along the winding paths. One person lent a hand to the one just behind, to carry out the church's preachings of one person helping another to God.

The airplanes took an essential part in the ceremony, for it was in 1903, while the Wright brothers were experimenting with the airplane at Kitty Hawk, that Bishop Tomlinson founded a single condolence in their deep affliction and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family.

Nazis Kept on the Alert

Guerilla warfare is admittedly a thorn in the side of Germany's invading army. Top photo shows German troops in a village watching the windows of the houses in an effort to catch spies. At bottom, German troops have dropped to the side of the road to flank an enemy patrol after learning the patrol was headed towards them.

COLLEGE TO GIVE DEFENSE WORK

State College to Train Men in Metallurgy, Chemistry and Ceramics

A new engineering defense training course, pyrometry, temperature measurement and control, has been added to the list of courses offered by State College to non-college men this Fall.

The course, open to high school graduates, will train young men for positions in defense industries in which temperature measurement and control are important. These include the metallurgical, chemical and ceramics industries.

Only course of its kind offered in the South, the course will begin October 1 and continue for 12 weeks, with registration limited to 15 students. All expenses except students' subsistence and textbooks will be paid by the federal government.

The course will be given in the Department of Ceramic Engineering, headed by Dr. A. F. Greaves-Walker, and will include physics, combustion of fuels, metallurgical furnaces, alloys and heat treating of metals, and the theory, construction and use of pyrometers and other temperature measuring instruments.

Practically all metals and metal products used in the Army, Navy and air corps, as well as the machines and machine tools for producing them, are made under close temperature control. Very few men trained in the manufacture and use of temperature control instruments have been available. Dr. Greaves-Walker said, adding that the demand for them is great and will become greater.

the hope that the audiences will take up studies of their own.

These shows are intended for adults, to get them to do their own investigating, and to start libraries in the use of movies as an asset to books.

A grant of $2,000 from the Carnegie Corporation aids the work. The report was made by Dr. Alice I. Bryan, Columbia University. Participating, besides the Psychological Association, are the American Library Association, American Association for Adult Education, and American Film Center.

Library Movies To Build Morale

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—A new plan to show movies in libraries to raise American morale was reported to the American Association for Applied Psychology today.

The aim is nonpartisan, that is neither interventionist nor isolationist. The films are intended to bring home to onlookers the values they get from America.

They include America's human resources, material resources, relations with other nations, unemployment eradication, and such things as the minority groups in American life.

The pictures are to be shown in libraries scattered over the country, with talks accompanying the films, and books and other informative material on American life laid out by the librarians in

Church of God on Burger Mountain

Traces Growth of Church

"A hundred thousand and more airplanes have stemmed out from that 1903 beginning there at Kitty Hawk," said Homer A. Tomlinson, pastor of New York, chairman of the mountain program, "and a hundred thousand and more congregations have stemmed from that single church there on Burger Mountain in every nation of the world—a church for every airplane in the sky."

As the people and the bishop moved up the mountain they sang old songs of the church, and later, when they neared the top, they formed a giant cross, designed to show the way to heaven was through the cross. The commandments were spelled in giant white letters on the mountainside. In the planes were Bishop Vernon Smith of Detroit, and Ralph S. Colvin, pastor, of Battle Creek, Mich.

Several Races Take Part

Among the crowd were rich and poor, white, Indians, Chinese, Negroes and Polynesians. Some were dressed in native costumes.

It was homecoming day, especially to Bishop Tomlinson. It was here that he was ordained into the church and became a pastor

At The Planters

I have been on the South Boston Market for the past six years and I appreciate very much the patronage my friends gave me while there. I will be connected with the Planters Warehouse, Roxboro, N. C., this season and will appreciate your patronage there, and I am in position to look after your interest and will see that you get market price.

COME TO SEE ME
Your Friend,
