

SPORT SLANTS

Good Suggestions

Someone has suggested that touch football could be introduced in Roxboro this fall to take the place of softball. This person said that it could be played under the same lights and on the same field.

Also suggested was the fact that six or eight teams could be organized and a real league formed.

Touch football is really going over big in colleges and we believe that it would prove to be a big hit here. How about it Baxter Mangum?

Football Time Here

Everyone around here is talking about football and everyone is getting thrilled over the coming season.

Some pick Carolina to beat Duke and others turn the thing around. All agree that it will be one good game and wonder if they are going to get tickets.

Carolina also has another big game this year—with Fordham at Chapel Hill, on October 11. Ticket requests have been coming in for this game for a long time and right now it looks like a sell-out.

Duke's early game with Tennessee is attracting a lot of attention here. Fans in this section couldn't well see the game last year, and now they are glad they didn't, but they intend seeing it this year—if they have to crawl over the fence.

This column is betting on Duke and Wade.

And then there's the Roxboro-Bethel Hill game that is always a thriller.

See you at the games.

"Our Wife" Full Of Good Fun

There's a saucy sparkle to the new Columbia comedy, "Our Wife," which sets it up in sharp advantageous contrast to previous sophisticated comedies. A motion picture that's both rowdy and romantic, that's gay and good humored and sharply bitter in its delineation of feminine character, the John M. Stahl production which opens Monday at the Palace theatre belongs well up in any one's list of films worth seeing.

Story of a man-hunt, with Melvyn Douglas as the bewil-ered victim, "Our Wife" also is the happy record of a battle royal between Ruth Husey and Ellen Drew for romantic possession of the unaware Mr. Douglas. Ruth pits her brains against Ellen's curvaceous charms, only to discover it isn't intelligence which kindles that certain gleam in a man's eyes. Turning then to the feminine trickery and allurements employed so successfully by her rival, Ruth manages to place herself in one awkward situation after another, all of them hilarious in their implications and their results.

Roxboro Ramblers Lose Opening Tilt

Locals Staged Magnificent Battle And Fought Until Overcome By Durham Reserves

Roxboro High Ramblers lost a hard fought football game Friday night to Durham High High by a score of 14-0. The Ramblers put up a splendid battle against the stronger Durham team and drew much praise from those who saw the game.

About 300 fans from Roxboro went to Durham to see the battle.

Roxboro won the toss and elected to receive from the north end of the field. Barnes kicked off for the Bulldogs but the kick was low and struck a Rambler linesman. "Superman" Kerns recovered the ball for the Durham team on its own 40-yard line. Harvey Renn, co-captain and quarterback for the Bulldogs, took the ball on the initial play and swept around his own left end but fumbled the ball after picking up five yards and the pigskin was recovered by Clayton, quarterback for the opposing Ramblers.

Roxboro failed to advance the ball 10 yards in their four downs and Clayton punted to George McLeod, who took the ball on the 35 and returned it to the 46. During the rest of the first quarter, the two teams battled on even terms with neither making much headway.

At the beginning of the second quarter Coach Brewbaker sent in Shepherd to replace Morgan, who had started at left tackle. Other changes in the Durham line-up were: Hales in for Sykes at center and Rattelade in for Jones at end. Both teams battled along until the last part of the first half when the Bulldogs, on repeated line bucks and end runs by the quarter of Bulldog backs, finally got going. Tilley carried the ball to the one-yard line, from where Renn crashed over on last down. However, an offside penalty was called against the locals which put the ball back to the six-yard line. Donald Tilley then went over for the first score of the season and Barnes converted to make the score read 7-0 in favor of the Bulldogs.

Wage Furious Battle

During the third and most of the fourth quarter the two teams were deadlocked in furious battle. Neither was able to advance far into enemy territory. Then, with less than six minutes left to play, Tilley swept around right end, reversed his field, cut back again and crossed the line standing up after eluding two would-be tacklers. Durham set up the scoring play on knifing power plays through the center of the Roxboro forward wall. McLeod converted for the final score of the game.

The initial tilt ended five minutes later after Mack Hales, second-string center for the Bulldogs, had intercepted a Roxboro pass and returned the ball to the Rambler 30.

For the Ramblers, Day and Clayton were outstanding in the backfield while Holeman was the mainspring in the first wall of defense.

The line-ups:

Pos.	Roxboro	Durham
LE	Mitchell	E. Jones
LT	Long	Morgan
LG	Wilkerson	Woodall
C	Whitt	Sykes
RG	Umstead	Kerns
RT	Wagstaff	T. Jones
RE	Holeman	Bullock
QB	Clayton	Renn
LH	King	Barnes
RH	Mickie	Dennis
FB	Lunsford	McLeod

Score by quarters.

Roxboro	0 0 0 0—0
Durham	0 7 0 7—14

Scoring: Durham, touchdowns—Tilley (2). Points after touchdown: Barnes, McLeod (placements). Officials: Stallings (Wake Forest); McClenny (unattached); and Hill (Duke) head-linesman.

Tennessean Added To N. C. State Staff

A. T. Hendrix has been added to the staff of the Agricultural Engineering Department of N. C. State College as associate professor and research worker, it was announced today by D. S. Weaver, head of the department. He has assumed his duties.

Hendrix was born and reared on a farm in Knox County, Tennessee, where he attended grade and high schools. He entered the University of Tennessee in 1921, receiving a B. S. degree in mechanical engineering in 1925, the M. S. Degree in 1927, and a B. S. in electrical engineering in 1930.

From 1925 to 1937 Hendrix was a member of the faculty of the College of Engineering at the University of Tennessee, as instructor and assistant professor in engineering. From 1937 to 1941 he was a member of the faculty of the College of Agriculture at the University of Tennessee.

Professor Weaver said that Hendrix has had wide experience through his educational work, and through employment during Summer vacation periods. He has worked variously as a draftsman, as tool, jig and die designer, as a mechanical engineer, and in farm equipment design and development.

Mr. and Mrs. Hendrix, the former Jane Waddell of Columbus, Ohio, and their four children, are residing at 101 West Whitaker Mill Road in Raleigh.

Hilarious Fantasy Scenes Shown In Rogers Film

The bear or the lion or the tiger that the little girl tells her mother she saw in the backyard is very real to her.

The little girl isn't training to be a liar, as mama may worriedly think. Instead she is developing an imagination that will bring pleasure to her all thru her life if it is properly governed.

Such an imagination is the basis for the hilarious fantasy sequences in "Tom, Dick and Harry," starring Ginger Rogers, to be shown at the Palace Theatre today and Friday.

As Janie, a romantically slap-happy telephone operator, Ginger becomes engaged to three men at the same time. They are George Murphy as Tom, high-powered automobile salesman; Alan Marshall as Dick, a rich man's son; and Burgess Meredith as Harry, happy-go-lucky garage mechanic.

Unable to choose between them, Ginger visualizes married life with each of them before making her decision and the audience views her fantastic musings.

Her imagination runs wild as she mentally pictures what married life with each of her boy friends would be like. These pictures are colored and exaggerated and occasionally a vagrant incongruity creeps in but they will arouse a sympathetic understanding in all who see them.

Welcome

The Roxboro Market will open Tuesday, Sept. 16. We cordially invite you to be present to sell or look.
