Golf Enters Finals

The annual county golf tournament is in its final stages. Jimmy Long will meet Billy Harris for honors in flight number one. Both of the boys sling a wicked golf club and you can take your pick as to the winner.

Billy won last year and the burden of the proof will be on his shoulders. So far he has proven to be a swell champion and has gone a long way toward repeating this year.

These two fellows work in the same office and it is impossible for either to slip off for a little practice without the other knowing it.

This final match is scheduled for 36 holes with neither asking any quarter or giving any.

On top of all that it will be a match of the best kind—two good friends.

You Never Can Tell

We never thought that South Carolina would lick Clemson this year. Now that the job has been done the only thing that we can say is—"you never can tell."

Football is like any other sport—you never know until the final whistle has been blown. A fighting team can do wonders even with a team that is supposed to be much stronger. That is one of the reasons that we give Carolina a chance to mess up the Duke schedule.

Clemson was not supposed to have much trouble with South Carolina but after the game was over she had only 9 first downs to South Carolina's 15. She had 95 net yards from rushing against for the Gamecocks, and so when the game was over the score read 18-14 S. C.

If you had only known a week or so ago, you could have made a pile of money.

Basketball??

Bob Whitten says that this county can turn out five or six good basketball teams and one crackerjack team. If you are interested in playing basketball this winter—talk it over with him.

Roxboro Loses To Schoolfield

Roxboro High lost a football game to Schoolfield High Friday night by a score of 26-6.

Schoolfield presented a strong eleven that had a fast running attack and a good passing battle. Their boys were big and shifty.

For Roxboro, Tom Hill Clayton ran 90 yards and Bert Lunsford carried the ball over for Roxboro's only six points.

The game was played before a large crowd, both from Roxboro and Danville.

Reclaiming Factor In Defense Has Present Importance

Reclaiming of metals in literally millions of obsolete automobiles now in junk yards along the highways and byways will not only provide valuable defense material, but will also rid the country of conspicuous eyesores, according to Miss Mary Stanfield, Manager of the Carolina Motor Club's Roxboro branch office.

Miss Stanfield says Federal agencies are now organizing a broad program for converting scrap metals into production channels and the local A. A. A. club will cooperate in calling attention to local "automobile graveyards" which offer valuable materials.

On the basis of reports from A. A. A. National headquarters, the club official estimated that around 7,000,000 junked cars are now piled up in various parts of the country, and will yield around 5,000,000 tons of scrap steel, in addition to aluminum, copper and brass.

"Heretofore," she said, "junk cars have been allowed to pile up for use in salvaging parts for repairs of vehicles. Thus the organized effort to reclaim the materials in these derelict automobiles is certain to stimulate the removal of unsightly piles of junked cars. This is particularly true of old frames which have remained after parts were salvaged.

"Another advantage is the widespread employment of labor to separate the various types of metals for shipment to reclamation points. The heavy demand for scrap metal may lead to the end of automobile 'graveyards'."
