Dudley Must Be Good

People from this section who saw Bill Dudley of Virginia in action Thursday say that he is plenty good. They even go so far as to say that he is better than good.

Coach Wolf of Carolina said:

"Dudley is one of the finest players I've seen this year. He can do everything a good back is supposed to do. The entire Virginia team played a great ball game and deserved to win."

People are comparing Dudley with Lach of Duke. Some say the Virginia boy is better. Others claim that Lach has the edge. Anyway you take it, both are great ball players and fans around here regret that the two players are winding up their college careers.

Bowl Time Here

This column is being written Friday and so we do not know what is going to happen in the State-Duke battle tomorrow, but whether Duke wins or loses, we think that the team will get a bowl bid of some kind. She may or may not accept, but bowl bids have to be issued and someone must accept.

Prominent bowls are—Sugar Bowl, Rose Bowl, Orange Bowl and Cotton Bowl.

Announcements of invitations may be expected at any time. As a matter of fact tonight's radio will probably have news of one kind or the other.

Woody Jones, State tackle from Roxboro, is winding up a great football career. His final game against Duke proved his true worth.

Who's The Best Halfback, Bill Dudley Or Steve Lach?

Raleigh, Nov. 22.—North Carolina and Virginia are in one of their traditional bitter arguments, this time over the relative merits of one Wild Bill Dudley and one Steven John Lach.

Captain Dudley, say followers of the University of Virginia, is the best football player in the country, and proves it by leading the nation in scoring, yards gained passing and running, and his all-around field marshalling. He has accounted for 134 points, 968 yards rushing and 856 yards passing this Fall.

Lach, say followers of Duke's unbeaten football team, is the best football player in the country and the best player Wallace Wade ever produced, and proves it by providing the spark which has turned the Duke team into a powerful aggregation that ranks among the nation's best.

It is about as difficult to compare Lach with Dudley as to compare Joe DiMaggio with Joe Louis, but the argument continues, nevertheless, Lach runs from the wingback position while Dudley runs from the tailback position.

About the only time Lach ever runs with the ball is on a reverse, and he's averaged an unbelievable 10 yards every time on that difficult play. He's passed only twice this season, and both passes were completed. Lach catches passes; Dudley throws them.

Defense, of course, is Lach's main dish. The blond back from Altoona, Pa., is without a doubt the best defensive back in the country and the best Coach Wade has ever seen.

Lach, who plays defense left halfback, is all over the field on each play, diagnosing the opposition's attack. Consequently he makes 75 per cent—or more—of the Duke tackles. When a player is spilled for a loss, Lach usually is responsible.

Against North Carolina—Virginia's toughest toe of the season—Dudley as usual was unstopable when he was running or passing, accounting for three touchdowns and four extra points and passing for the fourth touchdown as Virginia won, 28-7. Defensively he was only fair. Against the same team, Lach almost single-handedly stopped the Carolina running and passing attack, and managed to provide the spark for the victory.

Both Lach and Dudley are great kickers. Dudley kicks off, punts, and makes the conversions—rarely missing. Lach usually leaves the punting to a tailback, but he's the best punter on the Duke team and his coffin-corner kicking against Carolina set up all three Duke touchdowns. His great blocking paved the way for the scoring. One came on one of his reverses.

The argument has reached the Chest Clinics To Be Given This Week In City

Planned during the week is a series of chest clinics, sponsored by the Person health department and conducted by a specialist from the State Sanatorium. The clinic is open to all who desire to attend, but appointments must be made in advance, according to Miss Julia Fisher, who has said that the schedule is less full on Friday. The clinic will be held in the health office, second floor of the Kirby building, Main street.

Regularly scheduled clinics are held each month, but this is the first in recent weeks at which a visiting specialist will be the examiner.

stage of an impasse with neither Virginians nor Tar Heels conceding anything. Lach's performance against N. C. State tomorrow may settle it once and for all. As matters now stand, both sides say Dudley probably is the best defensive back in the country and Lach the best offensive back.

In Thanksgiving Day games, William and Mary beat Richmond 33-3; Wake Forest rolled over George Washington, 42-0; Davidson won its first game, beating The Citadel, 24-14; Maryland beat Washington and Lee 6-0 and V. M. I. came from behind to beat V. P. I. 15-10.

PAPER DRIVE BY SCOUTS TO START AT EARLY DATE

Harris Commends Plan In Person District. Citizens Missed By Scouts To Call Dr. Robert Long.

The Boy Scouts of America have again received a request from price administrator, Leon Henderson, of the Office for Emergency Management calling on Scouts to help in a national wastepaper salvage campaign.

Henderson's telegram stated: "Need for waste paper and rags to meet the present defense requirements is becoming more and more acute each day and the aid of your group is collecting every available supply of these critical materials will constitute a most important contribution to our national defense effort." Henderson pointed out that there is an increasing demand for packing and transportation of defense items and that waste paper is an important item used in the manufacture of paper boxes.

The paper- and magazines collected will be sold at current market prices and proceeds will be used by the Scout troops to buy troop equipment and books and other items needed to carry out their program.

C. A. Harris, Chairman of the Person district, Boy Scouts of America, stated that it is very appropriate that the paper cam-
