Miss Louise Hall, Of Woodsdale, Weds Lieut. D'Arcy W. Bradsher

Miss Louise Hall, of Woodsdale and Roxboro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hall, of Woodsdale, was united in marriage with Lieut. D'Arcy William Bradsher, of Fort Bragg and Roxboro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Bradsher, of Roxboro, in a quiet late afternoon ceremony at Roxboro Presbyterian church, Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 16.

Officiating minister was the Rev. J. H. Shore, retired, of the Methodist church and a former pastor of the bride's family, who heard the vows at 5:30 o'clock. Church decorations were in traditional green and white, with fern, gladioli and three seven branched candelabras. Organ music was by Miss Margaret Brown Martin, of Roxboro and Greensboro.

The bride, who wore a dark blue costume, with a coat and accessories of a lighter shade, had a white orchid corsage.

She is an alumna of Woman's College, the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, finishing with the class of 1942, the bridegroom, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Bradsher, is an alumnus of Mars Hill college and a graduate of Roxboro high school. In the United States Army for about a year and a half, he recently completed officers' training at Fort Sill, Okla., and was this week transferred to Fort Bragg.

Rites were witnessed by members of the two families and a few intimate friends. Among out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Farley, of Durham, and their daughter, Mrs. Alexander. Mr. Farley is an uncle of the bride.

LIBRARY CORNER

Library Hours: 12:00-7:00

The North Carolina Mayflower Award which was issued in December 1942 may be found in the Person County Public Library. It is unusual that a historical, religious book should gain such recognition. Heretofore the award has been given for factual and historical materials concerning the state of North Carolina.

Elbert Russell in his History Of Quakerism writes a comprehensive history of the Society of Friends from George Fox's great experience in 1647, to 1941. The work is divided into three main periods: The rise of the society, 1647-1681; The age of quietism, 1691-1827; The modern revival and reconstruction. The author, as you know, is a Quaker scholar and writer, an educator, and Dean of the School of Religion of Duke University.

The author's close association with the Quakers of this area has resulted in many quotations and references to family places and names in our immediate vicinity.

Gifts of books and other items have been received in the Person County Public Library, Chub Lake Street since its beginnings. May we point, with especial emphasis, to Robert H. Ellmore's offer of 86 books. The books in themselves are a tremendous addition to the library but the unusual spirit with which they were given is noteworthy. Bobby uses our library constantly and appreciates its value. He is, also, interested in its growth. When he finishes with his own personal copies, he passes them on to the proper distributing agency in his community, the Person County Public Library.

We wish to accept the interest of this boy in our library and most important of all his interest in other readers. The spirit, "I liked this book, don't you want to read it" is the only hope for community reading interest growth.

Thank you Bobby for your interest in the library and in reading!

Women Take Over Guard Towers At State Prison

Raleigh, Feb. 18.—Four women are now manning the towers of the State Woman's Prison here—the first women guards in the state's history.

Because the prison department is unable to get male guards, four of the men formerly stationed at woman's prison have been transferred to Central Prison. Two of the women, Mrs. Bessie Williams and Mrs. J. C. Massengill, are wives of two of the guards transferred. Another, Mrs. Estelle Cosby, whose husband was recently killed in a railroad accident, last worked in a local dry cleaning establishment. The fourth, Mrs. Carrie Jackson, also a widow, has been operating a country store in Granville county.

Mrs. Ethel Strickland, first woman warden of the state, who took over as head of the woman's prison a year ago, now heads a staff of 17 women now running that prison.

The women will not be armed and will wear simple slacks suits as uniforms.

HARRIS SPEAKS

John Harris, of Raleigh, horticulturist for the State College extension division, was chief speaker at February meeting of the Person Schoolmasters club Tuesday night at Roxboro high school. Theme of his address was the Victory Garden program.

Miss Mildred Stroud Has Red Cross Theme At Kiwanis Club. DeWolf New Member.

Miss Mildred Stroud, Roxboro high school student and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parker Riddle, of this City, was speaker Monday at Roxboro Kiwanis club, where a program dealing with the American Red Cross was presented.

Miss Stroud, whose theme was, "I am the Red Cross", wore the nursing uniform of the organization. Assisting were Miss Meriel Rimmer, soloist, who sang the "Star Spangled Banner," and Mrs. Wallace Woods, pianist. Introductions were by Mrs. A. F. Nichols and a brief message was given by S. M. Ford, club member and Red Cross official, who discussed the March 1 campaign to be instituted here by the Red Cross.

New member of Kiwanis, J. W. DeWolf, Jr., was welcomed to the club. Special guest was the Rev. Rufus J. Womble, of St. Mark's Episcopal church, this City. Presiding was J. J. Woody, president, who named a committee composed of S. M. Ford, R. B. Wilson, R. A. Bullock and the Rev. W. C. Martin, to study further the club project for 1943. Meeting was at Hotel Roxboro, where next week's session will also be held.

Newsprint Probe Asked In House

Washington, Feb. 18.—Representative Bradley, Republican, Michigan, asked the house to investigate whether government agencies have "formulated plans to curtail production or consumption" of newsprint or to curtail "in any manner the dissemination of news" except by the "necessary rules" of wartime censorship.

Bradley introduced a resolution which sought to determine how "any such plans may represent an attempt to change our domestic economy along lines not authorized by Congress."

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

An Army motor trailer looks much like any other automobile trailer which may be seen on the highways or in the tourist's camps. The Army's trailers are used as traveling hospitals, dental clinics and testing laboratories.

These mobile surgical or dental units are hauled to their destination and the trucks released for other purposes. They cost from $1,200 to $3,000 and weigh from 1 1/2 to 8 1/2 tons. You can help pay for them . . . help keep our Army fit. Invest at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every payday. You can join the Ten Percent Club through the Payroll Savings Plan, or buy Bonds regularly through the nearest bank or postoffice. U. S. Treasury Department

Women Who Seek Naval Training List Many Jobs

Raleigh, Feb. 18.—The Navy is looking for the old-time soap-box orator who used to shout that the woman's place is in the home.

North Carolina recruiters last week opened a drive to enlist 30,000 women for the Waves, and interviewed the following business women:

Fourteen mechanics, 49 stenographers, 12 taxi drivers, eight cooks (employed by restaurants), three dieticians, nine machinists, seven newspaper reporters, three shipyard welders, two traveling saleswomen, seven auditors, and one linotype operator.

Just for the records, the recruiters revealed that more different trades were claimed by the women than by the men who applied for the Navy.
