

Dick Reynolds' Plan To Give Farm Films To State Outlined

A gift of a series of motion pictures on agriculture to the recently organized State College Foundation, Inc., by Richard J. Reynolds of Winston-Salem, has been announced by Cil. J. W. Harrelson, dean of administration of the college and president of the Foundation. The moving pictures, to be made in sound and color, will be produced to aid North Carolina farmers in increasing the value and output of their farms, particularly during the war emergency.

When completed, the pictures will be given to the State College Agricultural Extension Service, for use of this and the other College Agricultural agencies in their rural educational activities.

Mr. Reynolds, now a lieutenant in the U. S. Naval Reserve on active sea duty, completed arrangements to make the movies during a recent leave. "I am doing this," he said,

"because I think that nothing is more important to the war effort than the production of food. The farmer has a big job, and needs such aid as I believe these educational movies can give." Mr. Reynolds' interest in agriculture has been stimulated by the operation of his own large farm on which he raises the typical crops of the Piedmont section.

Col. Harrelson expressed appreciation to Mr. Reynolds for the gift.

Dermid MacLean of Winston-Salem is making the movies, with the cooperation of the office of F. H. Jeter, agricultural editor of State College, and the technical assistance of Extension specialists and county farm and home agents. Mr. MacLean also photographed "North Carolina, Variety Vacationland," the film which Lt. Reynolds produced and gave to the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development, and "Winston-Salem — A Balanced Community," a picture recently completed and presented to the City of Winston-Salem. Lt. Reynolds received a leave of absence as mayor to serve in the Navy.

Present plans call for the production of five pictures, all to be made on North Carolina farms. Subjects to be treated are: home gardening, swine, dairying, poultry, and repair and maintenance of farm machinery. Other pictures on subjects of vital interest to North Carolina farm families will follow as rapidly as time and the seasonal activities to be photographed will allow.

Dean I. O. Schaub, director of the Extension Service, said the pictures will be of great value in

Mother's Blind Love For Son Works Havoc

How a mother's fanatical devotion to an only son wrecks her life and warps the boy's character to a point where only her death and the loss of everything he considered worthwhile regenerate him, is effectively told in "The Magnificent Ambersons," a screen version of the Booth Tarkington Pulitzer prize novel at the Palace Theatre Saturday night and Sunday.

The action takes place in a mid-western community during that transition period in American life when industry was replacing agriculture and rural towns were expanding into metropolitan centers. All the atmosphere, flavor and color of those days is faithfully depicted in the promoting the production of "Food for Victory" during the war emergency, and will be a substantial asset in the field of extension education.

A hand-picked cast, selected by producer-director Orson Welles, includes Joseph Cotten, Tim Holt, Dolores Costello, Anne Baxter, Richard Bennett, Agnes Moorehead, Ray Collins and Erskine Sanford.

PEANUTS

It is reported that a substantial number of peanut pickers, which were manufactured in 1942, will be made available for distribution in 1943. Efforts will be made to have more pickers manufactured this year.

CONTAINERS

Wooden containers for shipping fresh fruits and vegetables are being standardized to conserve lumber, metals, and manpower. The amount of wooden containers available will not be reduced.

Butch is on a BALANCED DIET!

THIS situation isn't covered by Army regulations. But we're betting that Butch will find a way to handle it without spilling a spoonful!

In fact, we electric companies know just how he feels. We have the same problem. Right now, we're being called on to balance good service and low, regulated rates against fast-climbing costs and tremendously increased demands for electric power.

We're doing it, too. Filling all our war orders. Giving America far more power than all the Axis countries combined. Pushing production up and up. . . And besides that, we're balancing a big plate of taxes.

Don't get us wrong. We know the need of wartime taxes. We're proud that business-managed electric companies paid $620,000,000 in taxes last year. That was 23c out of every dollar you paid us—8c to local and state governments—15c to the federal government—enough to outfit 1,687,762 buck privates like Butch.

How is it possible to make so much power and meet so many taxes at the same time? Because of sound business methods and long experience—because men, women and management worked together as a team.

But while we're doing all this, government and municipal power systems are not paying a penny in federal taxes to help win the war.

Shouldn't everyone do his full share?
