Miss Barnette, Bride Of This Week, Receives Many Honors

Miss Annie Laurie Barnette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam E. Barnette, of this City, who is to be married Saturday to Joseph Macon Beasley, of Louisburg and Baltimore, Md., has been honored this week and last with a number of parties, given chiefly by members of the younger social set.

Rehearsal for the wedding will be held Friday night and will be followed by an informal party at the Reams avenue home of the bride, guests to be members of the two families and the wedding party. Also scheduled are a luncheon party and after the wedding a reception at the Barnette residence.

Tuesday night hostesses were Mrs. T. B. Brooks and Mrs. Robert P. Burns, at the home of the latter, where bingo with cards was played at four tables and a miscellaneous shower was given to the honoree. Prize winners included Mrs. Sam E. Barnette, mother of the bride, and Mesdames J. J. and Ray Winstead. Theatre party and dinner was Monday's event, with Misses Jeanette Wrenn and Nancy Brooks as hostesses. Chief honor for the bride-elect was a linen shower. She was also presented with a corsage and each guest received a miniature corsage. Dinner was served at Hotel Roxboro.

Party Friday of last week was given by Misses Zeldia Holleman and Hazeline Yarborough at the Holleman residence, where rummy was played. Gift to the bride-elect was crystal in her wedding pattern and prize winners were Mrs. Wade Gentry and Miss Wrenn. Refreshments consisted of pear salad, ginger ale and cake.

On the previous night Mrs. Wade Gentry and Miss Mary Gentry, at Hotel Roxboro, honored Miss Barnette. Rummy was played at four tables. Gift for the bride-elect was crystal and prizes were won by Mrs. John Hudgins and Miss Holleman. Guests at each of the parties were from among Miss Barnette's special friends, many of whom were with her at Roxboro high school and at Louisburg college.
