LIBRARY EXPANSION PLAN GETS APPROVAL

secured from the Julius Rosenwald fund, and at the suggestion of Dr. Louis R. Wilson, of Chapel Hill, former official of the University of Chicago library school, a letter has been sent to the director of the Rosenwald fund. Also to be contacted is Dr. N. C. Newbold, a former Roxboro resident, now connected with the State school system as a Rosenwald administrator.

The plan as presented, calls for no outlay of funds from the City of Roxboro or from Person County, but it is felt that establishment of the Negro branch of the library in Roxboro will represent a distinct advance in library service here and one thoroughly in line with State Commission policies.

Miss Grafton, in discussing general affairs announced the receipt by the library of a large number of recent books through WPA, the grant coming because Person County is in the Camp Butler defense area. Also discussed at the meeting were budget plans for the whole library for the year 1943-1944. A consistent rise in book circulation was reported and commendable progress was shown from the Caswell County unit of the tri-county set-up.

Present for the monthly meeting, in addition to Miss Grafton, were Flem D. Lorg, chairman of the Person Board Mayor S. G. Winstead and Thomas J. Shaw, Jr. Absent were R. B. Griffin, who left his proxy vote on the creation of the new unit, and W. H. Gentry and Mrs. R. H. Shotler.

STATE BOARD HAS BIG LIST OF PROBLEMS

ing the duties of the State superintendent of public instruction and of the board's comptroller.

"It must be realized," the committee stated, "that steps now being taken will have major significance for the future of public education in the State. This period marks the beginning of a new era in the administration of public education. Consequently, great care and adequate time must be given to the development of the plans."

Eight Principles

These principles were recommended by the committee for adoption by the board:

1. The State Board of Education, the elected State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the appointed Comptroller constitute the central education authority for public education in North Carolina.

2. Complete coordination of purpose and procedure is essential to future harmony and efficiency. The adoption of the Constitutional Amendment providing for the State Board of Education was itself a mandate from the people calling for the elimination of all overlapping powers and duplicating activities. The highly centralized plan of State support is the strongest argument for coordinated action. The adoption of such a unified philosophy on the part of the board members will prevent the new board from becoming in itself a collection of separate boards, working out policies unrelated on the whole.

3. It is apparent that the trend in State school policy is in the direction of more State responsibility for public education, with expanding administrative powers and duties vested in the State Board of Education. It is equally apparent that no particular plan or organization chart offers the complete answer to the problems.

4. Good practice calls for a maximum of cooperative effort on the part of school officials.

5. The fixing of responsibility and the proper delegation of authority is essential to any successful administrative operation.

6. The principle of democratic participation in board activities and in the various units throughout the State must be achieved.

7. The State Board of Education is responsible for the planning and promotion of the education system.

8. Programs of investigation and well-designed interpretation on a Statewide basis come to be a basic part of the work of a State Board of Education.
