WASHINGTON, June 10. — War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes today "drafted" famed Bernard M. Baruch to serve as his right-hand man, renounced all political aspirations and proposed streamlined congressional war inquiries to save precious time and eliminate public airing of inter-agency quarrels.

All three moves appeared designed to achieve closer and more cordial relations between the executive and legislative branches, cast out suspicion and promote greater efficiency in the conduct of the war.

CRACK SEEN IN SOFT COAL DISPUTE

WASHINGTON, June 10. — The mine owners' common front in the soft coal wage dispute cracked last night when a group of Pennsylvania mines employing 65,000 agreed with John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers on the basis for a contract.

This development raised the possibility that the whole controversy involving 450,000 miners might soon be wound up since it greatly strengthened Lewis' position.

F. B. Sayre Seeks For New Order

Speaks In Charlotte On Plan For Post War World.

CHARLOTTE, June 9. — Predicting the establishment of an international police force after the war, since "there can be no secure peace as long as any gang of gunmen is free to gain control of a nation's government," Francis B. Sayre, special assistant to the Secretary of State, enunciated four basic principles for the building of peace in an address before the Executives Club here Tuesday night.

These principles he listed as:

1. "International cooperation;
2. "A recognition of the supreme value of human personality and of human rights;
3. "Economic freedom;
4. "International control and supervision of armament building."

More Than Military.

"A mere military victory, important and essential as that clearly is, will not itself bring us a lasting peace," Sayre said. "At the conclusion of the World War, because the basic problems growing out of a materialistic civilization were left unsolved, we gained only a short respite between wars and failed to achieve lasting peace. Military victory gave us our chance, but we lost it. The situation now is infinitely more grave."

Because of the close knitting of the nations of the world by the airplane and other modern inventions, "no nation any long-

Hickory Soldier Cuts Motor After He Jumps Out

TAMPA, Fla., June 9. — MacDill field public relations office told how Lt. R. C. Hefner, of Hickory, was forced to bail out of his distressed plane.

Before jumping, he tied one end of a long string to his parachute, and the other to end of the plane's master ignition switch. As he fell, the string jerked the switch, cutting off the ship's motors.

As Hefner floated downward he watched the plane nose earthward, falling into a wooded area. Had he jumped without cutting off the motor, the public relations office said, the plane might have continued flying and crashed into the Darby City area of Sarasota, Fla.

County Turns Down Abattoir While City Seemingly Hesitates

Water Supply Cooperation Not On Legal Basis

It Is Indicated Private Abattoir Only Solution.

Person County Commissioners this week turned thumbs down on proposed cooperation here in construction of an abattoir or slaughter house, thus ending efforts to secure such an establishment under joint sponsorship of the County and the City of Roxboro.

Further clarification of the project came about on the next day when City Commissioners informed Sanitarian W. B. Taylor that the City by law is not authorized to supply free water to any privately constructed abattoir.

Taylor appeared before the County and City Commissioners in advocacy of establishment of an abattoir on a cooperative basis and subsequently made the water supply proposal to City Commissioners.

At the respective Board sessions much discussion of the meat shortage situation took place, but the County Board was the only one to take definite action in declining to consider the project further. County action apparently resulted because the Commissioners were convinced that the abattoir is more properly a City of Roxboro problem.

Mayor Hopes Tax Rate To Stay Law

Mrs. Carver Named Acting Tax Collector. No City Manager Chosen.

Mayor S. G. Winstead, of Roxboro, today said that he is expecting the City tax rate for the new fiscal year to be at $1.35, same as it has been for this year, and that budget, based on the 1942-1943 budget was presented and discussed at June meeting of the City Board of Commissioners held Tuesday night, although a detailed analysis of it will not take place until later, possibly at a called meeting.

Regular time for adoption of a budget and establishment of the tax rate will be at the July meeting on Tuesday, the 13th. The tentative budget was prepared by Mrs. Hattie C. Carver, acting tax collector, a position to which she was named this week by the Commissioners in order that City affairs may be officially conducted until a City Manager to succeed the late Percy Bloxam is named. The acting tax collector, Mrs. Carver, has for several years been connected with the City Hall and is familiar with office detail.

Walker Quotes No Figures On County Tax Rate

J. S. Walker, Person County Accountant, today said that he is not prepared to make a statement as to what the County Tax Rate for the new fiscal year here will be, although he is hopeful it will be retained at the present figure of $1.25 to which it was reduced last year from the previous year's $1.34.

County Commissioners in Monday's session, also attended by Walker and by County Attorney R. P. Burns, gave much time to budget considerations. Another item, discussed but not acted upon was a low-score sanitation report for the Person County Home turned in by Sanitarian W. B. Taylor. Present for that part of the discussion was Alvis Clayton, keeper of the County Home, who offered his own explanation for the score, but had no suggestions for an immediate remedy for alleged cockroaches.

One Woman Gives 91 Hours To Red Cross

Mrs. David S. Brooks Leads Roxboro Group In Surgical Dressing Unit.

Officials of the Surgical Dressing units of the Person County and Roxboro American Red Cross chapter today disclosed the champion worker for the month of May as Mrs. David S. Brooks, who has contributed 91 hours and in so doing has furnished an example for other women here to follow.

Mrs. Brooks, whose husband is an official of the Peoples bank, is a war mother, having a son James Charles Brooks in the Army, now stationed at Camp Barkeley, Texas.

Numbers of other women of the City and County have contributed a large number of hours to the surgical dressing program, but officials here feel that it is very much to be regretted that both the number of workers and the number of hours contributed by them have to date been far from adequate to meet the needs of the Person chapter.

Something of the same situation exists in other cities, but leaders in Roxboro are hopeful many of the women who have their names on the May list will want to increase their hourly contributions and that many women whose names are conspicuous by absence will feel impelled to begin working at once.

Published below, with hours contributed, is a May list of workers:

Austin, T. E., 6; Abbitt, Miss Nina, 2; Brooks, Mrs. D. S., 91; Bradsher, Mrs. L. C., 31; Bradsher, Mrs. E. E., 35; Burns, Mrs. R. P., 22; Bradsher, Mrs. J. D., 18; Bullock, Mrs. R. A., 9; Bullock, Mrs. W. C., 8; Barnett, Miss (turn to page eight, please)

Mr. and Mrs. Long, Of Longhurst, Know Giving

Oldest Boy Killed In Action In 1918; Youngest Now In Army.

(By Mrs. A. R. Davis, as told to Thomas J. Shaw, Jr.)

Robert M. Long, Sr., 86, for more than forty-five years a resident of Longhurst and Roxboro, without ever having actively served in any of them, feels that he has a right to be called a veteran of four American wars.

A native of Halifax County, Virginia, he was born, Nov., 25, 1856 and was five years old when the Civil War started, but he lost in it an older brother John, who was killed in Lee's last battle and he remembers what it was to see his father and two other brothers, footsore and weary, come back in '65.

In his early forties, a married man with a family of young sons and daughters, he had no active part in the Spanish-American war, but when World War I

Cafe Case In City Takes Up Much Time

Allegations Made As To Violations Of Rules. Bain Comes Here For Hearing.

Prohibition of the Sunday sale of wine and beer in Person County and Roxboro, sought last month by the Person County Ministerial association, is now a half in, half out proposition. County Commissioners at their June session held Monday, approved the ban, placing it in effect immediately, but City Commissioners, who met one day later, postponed definite action until a later date, giving as reason the pressure of business at their first session.

Filip to the City beer and wine discussion here Tuesday night was the alleged development of a license snarl in connection with the Royal Cafe, operated by Stephen Georges and much of the City Board's time was consumed in discussing it.

City board members, following investigation of conditions alleged to exist at the Royal Cafe, requested Georges and his attorneys to appear before the Board, where it developed that Georges had allegedly violated rules of the Brewing Industry foundation.

At the demand of attorneys for Georges, who say that they had not been given sufficient notice to prepare his case, the hearing will be delayed until a future
