

TWO WILL BE ADDED TO STAFF AT GREENSBORO

Two Women Will Join
Faculty Of Greensboro College.

GREENSBORO, July 7. — New members of the Greensboro College faculty are Dr. Rhoda Christena Edmeston, instructor in Spanish, and Miss Virginia Peyatt, instructor in speech, according to an announcement by Dr. Luther L. Gobbel, president.

Dr. Edmeston, a native of Canada, received the B. A. degree from the University of Denver, M. A. and Ph. D. from Boston University, and A. M. in Spanish from Duke University. Her teaching experience includes schools in Ontario, Canada, and principal and teacher in the Bible Training School in Buenos Aires, Argentina, where she lived for twelve years.

During Dr. Edmeston's teaching experience in Buenos Aires she not only taught but also was principal of a training school for young women going out into special Christian work as deaconesses, pastors' assistants, etc. In this she made a good record. She gave much attention to the Spanish language and has even published Spanish writings in the religious field.

An authority in the Spanish Department of Duke University says of Dr. Edmeston, "She knows the Spanish language as few North Americans do, speaks and writes it with unusual competence. As a result of long residence abroad she knows the Spanish Americans and their culture, psychology and ways of life."

Dr. Edmeston, who succeeds Miss Trinidad Jeffreys deMora, will be associated with Dr. Robert T. Dunstan, head, and Dr. Madeline G. Stinson in the Romance Language Department.

Also joining the faculty at the beginning of the fall semester will be Miss Virginia Peyatt, a native of Kansas by birth, but of Liberty, by adoption, an A. B. degree graduate of Greensboro College, who has done graduate work at the University of North Carolina and at Northwestern University, where she is continuing her study this summer.

Miss Peyatt has given private instruction in speech and dramatic art in Liberty, coached dramatics in the Wake Forest College summer session one summer, and has taught at Louisburg College for the last several years.

Miss Peyatt has traveled widely in the United States, is a dramatic reader for civic clubs, and is particularly interested in dramatics, oil painting, horseback riding, and swimming.

Cancel A Books For State Cars

RALEIGH, July 7. — The office of price administration here said that all "A" gasoline ration books for state-owned cars will be revoked.

"No 'A' card is supposed to be issued to a government agency," OPA said, "and if such cards were issued for state-owned vehicles, it was through mistake. We now are searching our records to determine if other 'A' cards were issued to state-owned cars, and if we find such cards have been issued, we will revoke them immediately."

The enforcement panel of Wake county's rationing board revoked the "A" card issued for a state-owned car in which Dr. G. E. Lineberry, superintendent of the state school for the blind here, was driving when charged with speeding at 50 miles an hour.

Barrister

MELVIN BURKE

Former executive secretary of Roxboro Chamber of Commerce, Melvin Burke, a Spencer native and Wake Forest graduate, has been in Roxboro since 1938. He is associated in the practice of law with Nathan Lunsford, a died-in-the-wool Person native and a prominent Roxboro resident.
