TOBACCO CROP, FLUE-CURED, MAY BE SLIGHTLY OFF

J. J. Morgan Of State Agriculture Department Makes Prediction As To Crop For This Year.

RALEIGH, Sept. 4—Prospects for the North Carolina flue-cured tobacco point to a crop of 555,570,000 pounds, approximately two per cent less than last year's production, according to J. J. Morgan, statistician of the State Department of Agriculture.

The rainy period of July caused unusually rapid growth of flue-cured tobacco, Morgan said, and the dry hot weather the last of the month ripened the crop too fast, "producing a comparatively thin-leaf, light-weight crop."

"The August outlook for the State indicated a flue-cured yield per acre of 965 pounds, compared with 1052 pounds for 1942," Morgan said. "In the western half of the Old Belt, weather conditions have been fairly favorable, and crop prospects are promising. In the eastern portion of the belt, however, dry weather has reduced yields sharply. Excessive rains in the Eastern and Border Belts bleached fertilizer, packed soils, and caused some tobacco to wilt. Tobacco on light soils was badly stunted by the rains, and yields are very poor."

"Throughout the center of the Eastern belt, where rains were not unduly heavy, most farmers have a good crop of tobacco. Growers generally are pleased with the color of tobacco coming out of the barn."

Morgan made the following estimates of yields per acre and production by belts compared with 1942:

Old and Middle Belts — Yields per acre, 880 pounds; down seven per cent. Production, 201,520,000 pounds; practically no change from last year.
Eastern North Carolina—Yield per acre, 1025; down eight per cent. Production, 289,050,000; down two per cent.
N. C. Border Belt — Yield per acre, 1000 pounds; down 13 per cent. Production, 65,000,000; down seven per cent.
Burley tobacco — Yield per acre, 1050 pounds; down nine per cent. Production, 3,087,000; up eight per cent.

"With an acute shortage of primes or croppers, and with the crop ripening so rapidly, farmers have been hard pressed in barning the crop," Morgan said. "Field losses from drowning, lack of labor and curing space have been heavy on some farms and above average for the State."

HOGS

The War Meat Board is urging growers to market their hogs early. The spring pig crop was 22 per cent larger than last year.

TWO MORE NIGHTS OF SOFTBALL IN SERIES CONTESTS

Next Games Thursday And Friday. Longhurst And All-Stars Win One Each So Far.

The Longhurst Champions, on Thursday night, behind wall-popping bats and puzzling pitching defeated the Person County All Stars 15 to 3 in the second game of the series being played to raise funds for the program of teaching Bible at Roxboro High School. Thursday's game was a little more than a complete-reversal of the opening game which the All Stars won 13 to 4. In the games thus far both teams have proved that they have tremendous batting power.

There seems to be a great deal of controversy as to who will win the third game of the series which will be played on Thursday night, September 9. The fourth game will be played on the following night, Friday, September 10. These remaining games will probably be the last of the season and soft ball fans and those interested in the Bible program are urged to support these games in even larger numbers.

"Lobo" Stephens was the one who on Thursday pitched the Champions to victory by limiting the All Stars to five hits and only three runs. The Longhurst Team pounded out a total of 18 hits, three of which were made by W. Gilliland and almost all the other Longhurst boys hit safely twice. "Red Painter was the fielding star of the night. He made two beautiful catches which otherwise would have probably gone for home runs. Chaw Harris with two hits led the hitting for the losers.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Buchanans, of Allensville, assisted by other members of the family, entertained Thursday night at home with a neighborhood bruns- wick stew and chicken supper prepared by Mrs. Buchanan. Vogler, of the Person Times staff, with which Mr. Buchanan is connected.

Mrs. Featherston also paid high tribute to work of the Junior Red Cross, whose members have been staying each day at the Executive office in order to keep it open during the morning. School work, however, said Mrs. Featherston, has caused a curtailment of the services that these young women are in a position to offer, and consequently there is a great need for volunteer workers among older women who can come during morning hours.

In addition to Dr. Long and Mrs. Featherston, other members of the executive committee who attended the session were Mrs. J. H. Hughes, Mrs. Walter Woody, Mrs. Logan Umstead, Miss Mamie Love Barnette and Miss Frederick.

SPORT SLANTS

Try It Out And See.....

This article has no place on the sport page, but since that is the only spot left, we are placing it there.

In the Times every other week, on Thursday, is a column called "Person Review." That column is for soldiers, Sailors, Marines, or what have you, and it was intended that folks at home clip the column from the paper and mail to him or her who is in service. Many of our readers are sending it to the boys and girls in service and it is our opinion that they are enjoying it. As one Lieutenant said after reading the first copy — "I would like to put on the list of someone in order to receive it every time it is printed." He is getting it. This boy is now in the North Atlantic but Person Review reaches him sooner or later.

This review is simply what the name implies. It is a two week's review of the news of Person County and can easily be clipped and inserted in a letter to a person in service anywhere in the world.

Clip the one that is in this week's Times and give it a trial — not for our sake but for the sake of the person away from home.
