hibit held at Service Club No. 1. First prize, a professional oil painting set, was won by Sgt. Arthur Bockman of Chicago, with a charcoal sketch of a soldier's face. Cpl. Herman Davis of Philadelphia, won second prize, a pastel set, with a water color of camouflaged dispersal area. Third prize was won by Sgt. Walter Batterschall of Philadelphia, with a pen and ink sketch, depicting a man cleaning his gun. Sgt. Batterschall received a water color set. All prizes were donated by the battalion.

Judges for the exhibit were Dr. Nannie M. Tilley, head of the Duke University library manuscript and exhibit department; and Miss Louise Hall of the universities art department. Miss Hall teaches engineering drawing to men of the Marine Corps and the Navy.

The art work for the exhibit was done in the soldiers' spare time. Lt. Col. Kearney pointed out that the drawings served a military purpose too, since sketching is used by the camoufleurs in their work.

Honorable mention went to: Sgt. J. Chasin of New York City for a pencil drawing of the rendering of dummy camouflage; Sgt. W. S. Forbes of Athens, Ga., for a satirical cartoon; and Pfc. S. McCaslin for a poster of camouflaged soldiers, which bore the legend "We're Coming At You Togo, And We're Mighty Hard To Find."

CAMP BUTNER, Sept. 9. — The field office of the American Red Cross at Camp Butner, now located in a Government-owned building on the Post, is constructing its own building on Central Avenue, close to Post Headquarters. It is expected that the new, larger offices will be ready for occupancy by Field Director G. Lloyd Seay and a staff of four assistant field directors on or before October 28th.

The new structure, whose outside walls are rapidly nearing completion, is built of cinder block, to be painted white. When finished, it will consist of a reception room, a general office, five rooms for interviews and a lecture room. In addition, living quarters will be provided for assistant field directors who live on the Post or are on night duty. Like all Red Cross field offices, this one is constructed according to a standard plan.

Handling 8000 cases in the past year, the staff anticipates that its removal to the new, larger quarters in the fall will make for greater efficiency and more

DAY SHORTENED ON LEAF MARTS

Labor Shortage Prompts Action.

Tobacco buyers have shortened the sales period from five hours to three and one-half hours per day for an indefinite period. The Marketing Committee of the United States Tobacco Association stated that this action was taken because of the critical labor situation that now exists in the factories which makes it impossible for them to handle the crop as rapidly as it is now being marketed.

It is not anticipated that this change will in any way affect the selling price of the crop.

Governor Broughton's special committee on tobacco marketing said: "Tobacco growers can help prevent a breakdown of the marketing program by handling the crop more slowly. Furthermore, the placing of large quantities of tobacco on the warehouse floors for long periods in advance of selling may result in damage to the leaf and financial loss to the grower."

Growers should take advantage of this change and save other crops and prepare for Fall seeding of small grains."

Members of the Governor's special committee on tobacco marketing are as follows: W. P. Hedrick, of the State Department of Agriculture; Dr. I. O. Schaub, head of the Extension Service, State College; Dr. Clarence Poe, editor of The Progressive Farmer; J. C. Eagles, Wilson warehouseman; J. Con Lanier, Pitt County State Senator and Harry B. Caldwell, master of the State Grange and director of the Governor's Farm Labor Commission.

For the first assault of the North African campaign 110 tons of maps were required, and 400 tons more were needed in the later phases of the campaign.

FARM PRODUCTION DOWN Total crop production this year is expected to fall slightly under last year's record, but five per cent above any year previous to 1942, State College sources assert.

speed in handling cases. These, dealing with every kind of social problem that may face men from all walks of life, generally require immediate action by the Red Cross staff. The move will be accomplished swiftly so that there will be a minimum of delay in the progress of the work.
