The new electric neon sign and white shingles on the new place sure stands out.

The management says that they are planing on having a beautiful place in the rear of the main building to serve barbecue and lunch, as the dining room does not afford enough space.

The barbecue served here is of the old southern type and Sarg is the man that can make them delicious.

The dinners are a working man's size and you are assured of plenty to eat at popular prices. Sarg invites you in for a good meal where you can eat to your heart's content and enjoy the most beautiful scenery in Western
