FIRES CAUSE BIG LOSSES ON FARMS "Farm fires cost the nation $200,000,000 annually and destroy enough lumber to build some 25,000 homes." And—even more important—3,500 persons are burned to death on the farms of the nation every year.

To reduce loss from fire the first step is to remove all possible fire hazards by repairing faulty flues, cleaning up trash around buildings and taking care in using matches, inflammable oils and materials and in handling such crops as green hay.

Even with the best housekeeping and safety precautions, there may still be a few fires. Therefore, farm leaders advocate organizing fire protection groups for fighting fires in farm communities.

Many farmers are enlarging their farm water pumping facilities or arranging with some mobile pumping unit in the neighborhood to provide a water supply adequate for fighting fires. If a farm pond is not accessible to the house and other buildings, 3,000-gallon fire cisterns can be built at reasonable cost.

LARGER PROFIT A 20th Century fund survey says that retail stores in small cities tend to have a higher ratio of profit to sales than those in big cities.

Notes of a Newspaper Man:

Churchill and Ass't Sec'y of State Berle thrashed out a lot of problems at 10 Downing street during the war. Berle protested Churchill's support of only one Yugoslav party (Tito's). . . . Finally Churchill said: "Cahn't you permit an old man one romahnce?"

"Sure," said the American, "but, as in all these cases, I can only hope the affection is returned!"

The Democrats were going to use "You Need Mead!" for the N. Y. gubernatorial campaign slogan. . . . Until they heard that those mean, old Republicans were going to counter-attack with just one word—right under theirs: "Dewey?"

Quotation Marksmanship: Goethe: There is no more terrible sight than ignorance in action. . . . Anon: Always listen to the opinions of others; it probably won't do you any good, but it will them. . . . B. Penrose: Public office—the last refuge of the incompetent. . . . A. Head: Some women carry their secrets about them like an alluring perfume; others wear their secrets in their eyes. . . . J. Csida: The glazed pain in her eyes—like frozen tears. . . . P. Baker: News is anything that makes a woman say: "For Heaven's sake!" . . . A. Franklin: Truman the Chief Executive. . . . Ike Eisenhower: To win the peace you have to fight like hell. . . . R. McDowell: The trouble with money is that so few people can afford it. Billingsley: Love conquers all—except poverty and a toothache.

"How are the Dodgers doing?" "Which do you mean—the ones in Brooklyn or the ones in the State Dep't?"

Sounds in the Night: In the Stork: "They seem to be treating Henry Wallace like he was Henry Aldrich!" . . . At the B'way Hofbrau: "He'll make a fortune with his new invention for columnists. A fountain pen that writes under pressure!" . . . At Lindy's: "What's the S in H. S. Truman stand for?" . . . "I dunno. What's Harry Truman stand for?" . . . At the Riviera: "Wallace went down for the count of 10—Downing street!" . . . At Hanson's: "Look, I want to be your Now Or Never—not your Now and Then!" . . . At the Colony: "Wish he'd stick to the Stork market and leave the Stock market alone!" . . . At the Blue Angel: "A Broadwayite is a Jerque who knows the inside of everything—except his own home."

Whatever became of that old gag about the restaurant patron who asked the time of a passing waitress, who kept on going as she said, "Sorry, but that's not my table."

It's on page 23 of the current Old Yorker.

Sallies in Our Alley: They were discussing a Broadway actor on the skids. "I hear," said a Lindyite, "That he and his wife may go on the early morning radio with one of those breakfast routines."

"I geddit," summed up Hal McIntyre, "one of those has-been and wife teams!" . . . It's been announced that divorcees in the U. S. have gone up 25 per cent, and J. Ellinson thinks he knows the chorus girl responsible for half of 'em.

International Weather Report: Dark war clouds over Europe; continued fog over Washington.

A foreign correspondent tells about his conversation with a Russian scientist who deplored those who discuss atomic energy only in terms of war—when that energy could accomplish miracles in peace. He summed up with this canny analogy: "To talk of atomic energy in terms of atomic bombs is like talking of electricity in terms of the electric chair."

Manhattan Murals: The Hamburger Heaven opposite St. Patrick's cathedral on 51st, which serves little paper envelopes (of sugar) on which is printed: "And stir like H—!" . . . The pathetic sight of a little blind boy "looking" into a 3rd avenue toy shop while his mother shopped at a nearby butcher's. . . . The panhandler with the H'xford accent. His requests for handouts are masterpieces of eloquence. . . . The chalk sign on a construction fence: "Annie Get Your Goon." . . . The 42nd street and 6th avenue bootblack whose parrot (on his shoulder) calls out: "Shine, buddy?"

Bigtown Smalltalk: The Army-Notre Dame game will make the local hotel sitchceyshun tougher on November 8-9. Every hotel (including the side-street joints) is booked to capacity. Not one has any room for former Stars & Stripes staffers who hold their reunion event in N. Y. on November 8. . . . There is no 30th (or 60th) floor in the Chrysler building. But, unlike many other buildings, it has a 13th. . . . Zillionaire J. P. Kennedy pocketing toothpicks as he left the Hotel St. Regis after a dinner.
