

GREAT RANGE FOR VIDEO

A way to extend the range of ultra short wave radio and radar transmissions is expected to develop from the Navy's study of the effects of weather changes on high-frequency radio transmission. Television's range may be extended from its present 150 miles to a possible 2000 miles. Study is based on the hypothesis that the wide variation in the range of high-frequency radio waves is due to weather conditions.

To determine what frequencies would best relay transmissions under varying weather conditions, 200 foot towers relayed waves along a path flaked by weather recording instruments.

Weather forecasting radio transmission may be possible by this method. For atmospheric changes have already been recorded more rapidly than by the best meteorological instruments.

Presbyterians Solicit Aid For Orphanage

Orphanage day, November 25, will climax a week of effort by the Presbyterians of Western North Carolina, in the interest of The Mountain Orphanage, which they have operated since 1904.

The Thanksgiving effort being put forth by the members of the churches of Asheville Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church U. S. will include the solicitation of money and food in each local community where there is a Presbyterian church. Local leaders are placing baskets in various stores in each community, and each local church has been asked to observe Monday the 25th, by opening the church building to receive gifts.

Cash contributions will be made by the Presbyterians in their local churches at the service on Thanksgiving Day, or the nearest convenient Sunday, and will be sent to the orphanage direct. The Rev. R. E. McClure, 26 Church Street, Asheville, North Carolina, is the treasurer of the home.

Contributions of food and clothing, which will be left at the individual churches, will be collected by trucks on Wednesday, November 26. Arrangements have been made for trucks to come from Murphy by way of Franklin; from Andrews, by the way of Bryson City; from North Buncombe; and from Black Mountain. Another truck will come from Breard through Hendersonville, thus covering the entire territory.

The orphanage committee is asking for $25,000 in cash. $7,000 is needed for current operating expenses during the calendar year. As much as may be necessary will be used to refurbish the home, and the balance applied to the indebtedness of $17,000 for extensive repairs made a year ago.

There are boys and girls of school age being cared for at the institution, which is located three miles west of Black Mountain, where they are given a home and an education through high school at Swannanoa. The Rev. D. R. Freeman is the superintendent of the home, and his staff includes Garfield Harris, farm manager, and four matrons.

It is easier to believe in miracles than in nonsense.

Wife: "We are all made of dust."
Husband: "Not so, or you'd dry up."

I heard this: "I taken it in to show them I had did it."

When you think your friends have turned against you, try smiling at them.

Why are false teeth like stars? Because they come out every night.

"If you do that you won't go to Heaven."

"Well, then, I'll be seeing you."

HOME TRAINING

A gentleman visiting a home asked a small boy how old he was. The child was embarrassed, and in a moment he turned to his mother and said, "Is he a conductor?" When informed that he was not a conductor he said boldly, "I am 6 years old, sir."

It was mother's turn now to be embarrassed, for she had taught him to say 5 years old when traveling in trains. The fact is that the money she had saved by not paying half fare was a great price to pay in not training her child to be absolutely honest. For it is not what we say and teach but as we live it do we train them. Andrew Murray said, "Not as we think an ideal for our children but as we live it do we train them. It is by living a thing that we prove that we love it, that we have it, and that we influence the young mind to love and to have it, too."

Asheville Theatre Group Producing Famous Comedy

The Asheville Community Theatre, Inc., is producing "THE DAMASK CHEEK," famous comedy of manners by John Van Druten and Lloyd Morris, at David Millard Junior High school, November 19 thru the 21st. Altho the play is totally unlike Van Druten's last two hits, "VOICE OF THE TURTLE" and "I REMEMBER MAMMA," his genius is as much in evidence with the delightful tale of an English girl who visits her American cousins in New York during the winter of 1909 and proceeds to shock them by such unheard of breaches of the moral code as smoking cigarettes and riding thru Central Park with a gentleman, unchaperoned.

The production is being staged by Keinert Wolff, recently seen on Broadway as the Dean in song of Bernadette and as Katherine Cornell's brother in the revival "Barretts of Wimpole Street."

Over 3000 people thrilled to the Community Theatre's initial production, "Dark Of The Moon," and much interest is being shown in this second offering of the season. General ticket sale begins on November -- at the village library in Good's drug store, and mail orders are being accepted. Season ticket holders, as usual, may get their reserved seats early, on November 9 and 10 or at any time during the general ticket sale.

Crooked Creek

A birthday dinner was held Sunday for Mrs. Henryetta Moore at the home of a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Moore of Crooked Creek with whom she makes her home. It was Mrs. Moore's eighty-eighth birthday. Her health is good and she gets around well for her age. She says she looks forward to having many more birthdays. Many relatives and friends were present.

Dining tables were placed on the lawn and Mrs. Moore was seated at the center with a large birthday cake in front of her. Short talks were heard from the Rev. Mr. Penland, pastor of the Cherry Springs Baptist church and the Rev. Mr. Gilliam. There was hymn singing in the afternoon led by Mr. Gilliam.
