Heavy Peach Crop Expected

RALEIGH, June 25—Prospects point to a North Carolina peach crop this year of 3,383,000 bushels—about seven per cent more than the 3,160,000 bushels harvested in 1946.

Frank Parker, head of the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service, says that the commercial peach crop in the Sandhills section of the State shows "good promise."

The annual May "drop" is over and all varieties have virtually a full crop on the trees. Further thinning by hand has been necessary on many of the Elbertas.

"Growers have had good results in holding insects in check, and a large crop of clean fruit is anticipated," declared Parker.

The Red Bird, Mayflower, and Early Rose varieties are now beginning to move to market, and the Elbertas are expected to be ready between July 25 and 30.
