Montreat Will Feature New Tenor July 5

Mario Berini, leading new tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Association, will be heard in performance at Anderson auditorium here at 8 o'clock Saturday night, July 5, under the auspices of the Mountain Retreat Association, of which Dr. J. Rupert McGregor is president.

Mr. Berini recently returned from a successful nation-wide tour with the Metropolitan Opera Company.

After having scored a triumph with his debut at the Metropolitan Opera House in the title role of "Faust" on last Thanksgiving Day, the thirty-year-old American tenor went on to repeat his successes with appearances as Don Jose in "Carmen," and as Dimitri in "Boris Goudeonoff." Music critics state that these performances have established him in the front rank of the Metropolitan tenor wing.

Berini has traveled about a million miles for his opera performances and concerts in every country in South America except Argentina; through Canada, Central America, and the United States. He is the only foreign tenor, except Caruse, to be invited to sing in the Tereo, Mexico City's famous bull fight ring. He appeared there in December 1943.

Mario Berini started as a newsboy in Los Angeles. He began his musical career with the San Francisco Opera chorus and left there at the suggestion of Martinielli to devote himself seriously to a musical career. He returned to San Francisco as a leading tenor in the opera company during the 1946 season. He went to New York in 1936 and subsequently became the leading tenor of Radio City Music Hall. He made his debut with the San Carlo Opera Company at Radio City Center Theater in 1940.

Remembering his own newsboy days, it is said that Berini spends several hours a week when in New York helping a disabled newsdealer on 57th street to sell newspapers. This led Fred Allen, who lives in the same apartment as Berini, to remark, "Is the Metropolitan just a sideline?" His personality is winning even as his voice has brought him far out on the front rank among American artists.

Boy Scout Group Is Sponsored By Black Mountain Lions Club

C. J. McDougle, member of the organization and extension committee of the Rhododendron district, presented the charter to Boy Scout Troop 25 in an impressive investature ceremony at the Black Mountain First Baptist church Sunday night. The charter was received by Ronald E. Finch, president of the Lions Club which sponsors the troop.

The troop committee composed of Tom Sharp, chairman, Dr. F. H. Richardson, J. L. Potter, J. G. Northcott, and John Rice, were presented certificates by Mr. Finch. Mr. Sharp gave certificates to Bob Williams, scout master, and to his assistant, Robert Eckles, Jr.

The investature was an impressive candle lighting ceremony. Upon lighting each candle the district chairman had the boys repeat the scout law which that particular candle represented.

Guests Have Cool Time At Ice House Party

Customers who called the Black Mountain Ice company a few nights ago for service may have been startled out of their wits by hearing a voice at the other end of the line shout in their ears: "Play the ace on the queen! No, not that one, the queen of hearts!" And then just when the customer was about to hang up and declare that he had dialed the ice company and got . . . well, he didn't know just what he had . . . a voice as nice as you please would break in with: "Black Mountain Ice company."

In order to ease the minds of those folks who since that time have been going around looking behind trash cans to make sure they weren't being followed, the true story has at last been uncovered.

The voice you heard giving instructions to a fellow player was not your imagination and it DID come from the ice plant.

One night last week the time for Mrs. Cyril Huffman to entertain her bridge club rolled around and being unable to leave the plant she decided to hold the club there. The guests were agreeable, the room was "cool", the walls were attractively decorated with motor tools, tarpaulins, army blankets, rubber hose, ice hooks, and a few cakes of ice. The tables were smartly covered with the latest edition of the Black Mountain NEWS.

Between service calls the guests played bridge, talked of the "cool weather" as they buttoned up their fur coats, ate hot dogs and slaw, and topped it off with a freezer full of home-made ice cream.

So if you called the ice plant that night you may have talked to Mrs. Huffman or one of her guests, who included Mr. and Mrs. D. O. McDougle, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Jones, Doss Kerlee, Mrs. Charlie Godfrey, and Mrs. Dinsmore Crawford.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Stepp and Mrs. Hubert Stepp of Marion, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hyatt of Black Mountain, Elizabeth Cole of Barnardville, and Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Owenby of Black Mountain were Sunday guests of J. R. Swann of Black Mountain.

—Mrs. C. C. Godfrey has returned from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Walter Platt in Atlanta, Georgia. Mr. Platt is away at R. O. T. C. summer camp in Fort Benning, Georgia. —Mrs. W. L. Roefeld from Cape Charles, Virginia, is an employee at Anne's Cafe. Her husband is a patient at Moore General.

Baptists Lose Second Time In Two Years

Everett Stephenson and his been threatening all season finally Friendship Chapel mates who have the high flying Baptist crew, 5 to broke into the limelight Monday when they rose up to knock down 2, in a Church Softball league game at the Grammar school field. It was the second loss in two years for the Baptists and threw the race for the first half crown wide open.

Now half a game behind Walter Styles and his hard pushing Presbyterians, the 1946 champions will have to beat off the determined bid of the Chapel boys to hold on to second place. Either of the first three teams is now given an even chance to cop the first half title.

Stephenson, star hurler for Friendship Chapel, hung the horse collar around the opponents' collective necks Monday for five innings, but hits by Pug Morgan and Medford scored two runs for the Baptists in the sixth. But the damage had already been done and they went out in order in the seventh.

After scoring once in the third on a single by Stephenson and a triple by B. Gray, the winners got their big guns working for three in the fourth. Successive hits by Carpenter, Pittman, J. Russell, and H. Gray spelled ruin for the Baptists. The final run came in the fifth on a walk to Gardner and safeties by B. Fortune and Carpenter.
