Pard. George Dougherty, who rejected all pleas to become a doctor like the rest of his family to follow the newspaper profession, received national honors for the second time a couple of weeks ago when some of his printing was reviewed in an arts magazine. Since that time the mails have been full of requests for blotters, letterheads, and other items of printing.

The face of a certain young lady in Black Mountain is still red—we mean black—as the result of a recent midnight episode. Ill with a sore throat and a cold, she was only half awake when she reached for the Vicks jar and proceeded to massage her neck and throat with the cooling salve. "I must have a terrific cold. I can't even smell that Vicks," she muttered to herself and promptly fell asleep.

The next morning she was startled just about out of her wits when, on awakening, her husband jumped out of bed and halfway across the room when he saw her face.

"What on earth happened to you?" he shouted excitedly. "I'm going to call a doctor. You're turning black! You must be dead!"

A look at the bedside table solved the mystery. When she reached for the Vicks the night before, she got the ink bottle instead.

P. S. The ink didn't help the cold a bit. She still had to use the Vicks. Moral: Vicks is better medicine than ink and it'll wash off.

At least one Lion takes his work seriously. When Father Howard Rhys, who is on vacation in Florida, suddenly realized that it was his night to entertain the boys at Moore VA hospital, he promptly dispatched a telegram to Oscar Timney, named the members of the committee, and asked him to see that the boys kept their appointment. They made it.

When Johnny Rice opened for business at his new location Saturday morning, he had at least one enthusiastic customer. All week the word had gone out that there'd be presents for everybody at the grand opening Saturday morning. So, when Johnny unlocked the door, Will Holman was standing there with his coat on his arm and his vest unbuttoned.

"I heard the customers got anything they wanted free in here today," Holman informed the surprised owner. "and I want a suit of clothes. Think you can fit me up?" But then he looks handsome in the old one.

Music lovers of the community are hoping enough interest will be shown this year to enable us to stage a Christmas cantata. Installation of the new organ at the Methodist church, the presence in the community of a man with the ability of Robert Guy of Ridgecrest, and the predominance of musical talent here, are factors that should not be overlooked.

A cantata requires much work, but our local artists are more than equal to the task. All we need is someone to take the lead. We'd like to hear from those who are interested.

Textbook Pages Are Flashed On Hospital Ceilings

Paralyzed and Tubercular patients in Veterans Administration hospitals now may study educational courses, even though bed-ridden, by flashing microfilmed pages of textbooks on the ceilings over their beds with special projectors.

According to the Veterans Administration this is the first time it has used this method to bring educational textbooks to veteran-patients for study while they are flat on their backs. Heretofore, it was pointed out, the process was principally used for entertainment.

Several hundred microfilm projectors have been supplied to VA hospitals through Red Cross Community Service to Camps and Hospitals. Large numbers of other sources.

VA has microfilmed 32 manuals from the 200 courses used in the educational therapy program to launch this project. The subjects range from "English Grammar," "American Government," and "Physics" to "Radio for Beginners," "Elementary Photography," and "Electric and Gas Refrigeration."

Patients "turn" the pages by pressing a button whereupon the projector throws the next page on the ceiling. When the patients are able to leave their beds, they may continue their studies with the regular textbooks.

All VA Tuberculosis hospitals and paraplegia centers have several copies of each text-film so that more than one veteran-patient may study the same subject at the same time. The films are kept in hospital libraries and may be drawn in the same manner as books are drawn.

Warriors Face Heavy Harris High Eleven

The Swannanoa Warriors will give away several pounds to the man when they square off against the powerful Harris high at Spruce Pine this afternoon (Thursday). Starting time will be 3:30.

DARKHORSES AT STADIUM

The Black Mountain Darkhorses will be seeking their second win of the season when they will take the field tonight (Thursday) against the speedy Biltmore eleven. The game will be played at Memorial Stadium.

PREACHER SCIENTIST

4-H Members Will Observe Achievement Day

North Carolina's approximately 100,000 4-H Club members will observe National 4-H Achievement Week November 1-9, according to L. R. Harrill, State 4-H Club leader for the State College Extension Service.

The theme for this year's activities, which has been the aim of these rural youth throughout the year, will be "Working together for a Better Home and World Community." The results of efforts in carrying out this theme will be highlighted during National 4-H Club Week. Locally, 4-H Clubs throughout North Carolina will recognize members who have done outstanding work in the projects they carried this year.

Many of the boys and girls who are recognized as project winners at the County Achievement Day programs will be selected as state winners. The reward for the state winners will be a trip to National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago which will be held November 30-December 4. North Carolina will have 25 delegates who will share the thrills and experiences at this meeting with delegates from every state in the Union, Mr. Harrill said.

CP&L Annual Report Praised

RALEIGH, N. C.—Carolina Power & Light company has won a "Highest Merit Award" on its 1946 annual report—the fifth consecutive year the company has been singled for honors on annual reporting.

The award is presented annually by Financial World, business magazine, which this year reviewed more than 1750 reports by American business concerns of all types. Judging was based on editorial, financial, and statistical content and on format, typography, and illustrations.

E. N. Pope, advertising manager for CP&L, has directed the publication of all five prize-winning annual reports for the company.

GO TO MEETING

Mrs. C. E. Dorsey of Montreat, a retiring synodical president, Mrs. A. B. Whitt of Swannanoa, and Mrs. J. O. Williams of Black Mountain attended the thirty-third annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Synod of Appalachia at Signal Mountain, Tennessee, last week.

They report a fine meeting and excellent speakers.

MOVE TO CANTON

Philip Creasman and Miss Jennie Mae Creasman have moved from Black Mountain to Canton, N. C.

Rice's Quality Store Opens At New Location

Rice's Quality store opened at their new location in the Garland building Saturday, and many friends and well-wishers poured into the store to inspect the new location and to express their approval. The building is located at the corner of Montreat Road and State street.

With more than twice as much floor as they had at the old location, Mr. and Mrs. Rice have added many new display shelves and expect to add other lines of merchandise as soon as they become available. They gave out key ring to all customers Saturday.

"We wish to express our appreciation to our friends for the flowers and their good wishes," the owners told the NEWS Monday. "We are more than pleased with the reception which the public has given us. Many folks went out of their way to come in and tell us of their good wishes. We appreciate that."

Customers will find the same personnel on duty. Mr. and Mrs. Rice, Miss Nora Summey, and Miss Ethel Rice.

Asheville Presbytery To Meet Here

The fall meeting of the Asheville Presbytery will be held in the Black Mountain Presbyterian church this Tuesday, October 14. Dr. K. J. Foreman, Professor in Louisville Theological Seminary, is the retiring moderator.

The meeting will open with a worship service at 10:00 a. m. The moderator will deliver his doctrinal sermon as a part of the opening worship service. The observance of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper is also a part of the worship service. The Communion will be administered by the Rev. T. A. Painter, Swannanoa, and the Rev. J. C. Plexico, West Asheville.

The noon meal will be prepared and served by the women of the Auxiliary.

'God Of Creation' At First Baptist Church Sunday

An outstanding motion picture will be shown by the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, Sunday evening, October 12, at 7:30 o'clock in the First Baptist church of Black Mountain. This great picture is called, "God of Creation", and is no ordinary film; it brings to life great scenes, characters, and events from Bible history and should be seen by every person in the community. It has been shown in some of the country's largest churches and schools and is endorsed by leading men and women throughout the nation.

Our community is indeed fortunate to have the opportunity of seeing this outstanding picture and everyone is cordially invited. There will be no admission charge, but a silver offering will be taken for the Moody Bible School.

Grange Meets Monday Night

The regular meeting of the Grange will be held Monday evening, October 13, in the Junior Order Hall.

All members are urged to be present. As this will be resolution night, bring along some ideas.

She shall have music

She's concerned only with playing in the children's band... but the Salvation Army is concerned with developing a talent and an interest that will enrich and broaden her entire life. That a man may be down but never out is a basic Salvation Army belief. If, as a child, he is given the opportunity to build a life of constructive, wholesome activity, he'll never be down either. TOTS AND TEEN-AGERS BENEFIT from the Army's work in behalf of youth. EVERYBODY BENEFITS from this Red Feather service for human welfare. Give to the Salvation Army through your Community Chest. This saves another campaign.

Dr. Davis To Be At Presbyterian Church

Dr. C. Grier Davis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Asheville, N. C., will be the guest minister for the week of special services to be held in Black Mountain Presbyterian church this next week, October 12-19. Dr. Davis is known to many people in the surrounding community through radio ministry.

Services will be held each evening at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. W. H. Styles will preside and conduct the congregational singing. The community is invited to hear Dr. Davis in this week of special services.

Swannanoa Eleven Trounces Weaverville High

By Theron Mayfield

The Swannanoa Warriors, making their first appearance on the home gridiron, trounced the Weaverville eleven by a score of 31-0 Friday afternoon in a county contest.

The Warriors took an early lead and were never stopped. Straehla lugged the pigskin over for the first rally, going from the two-yard line on a sneak play. The try for the extra point was not good.

Swannanoa scored again in the second quarter when Bailey took it over from the twelve-yard line. Again the try for the extra point was not good.

Sides then caught a pass in the end zone for the third TD. Thus the first half ended, with the Warriors leading 18-0.

In the third period the Warriors took up where they left off when Straehla made a beautiful running catch of Sides' 30 yard heave. He took it on the Weaverville 20 yard line untouched. Again the try for the extra point failed.

The Warriors hit pay dirt again in the final period when Sides dashed 40 yards for the outstanding run of the game. Bailey converted for the extra point.

Creasman sparked the defensive play of the Warrior's forward wall, which held the visiting team to only one first down.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS—

By Polly Wheelon

Hi, everyone! Gee writing this new column certainly is fun. I hope to see your name up in it real soon. So look me up. I'm waiting for your news.

B. M. H. S.

The headliner got off to a head start. An election was held, none other than Paul Norton was elected president, vice-president is yours truly, and Peggy Morrow has that wonderful job of secretary and treasurer.

Other clubs were held too. Mr. Byrd has "B" Club this year. Mrs. Witton has gotten underway with the school paper, and Miss Wilson has the Home Ec. Club.

B. M. H. S.

Peggy Morrow gives advice to all those who are going to Winston-Salem. Beware of cold weather says Peggy.

B. M. H. S.

Mrs. Perley is back teaching English and we surely are glad to have her with us.

Mrs. McCay is home from the hospital and we hope to see her back at school soon.

B. M. H. S.

By the by, the Junior class is on the lookout for an unmarried secretary.

B. M. H. S.

Have you seen the latest style of hats? Just come around and see Professor Seawright in an orange derby with a large black feather. Boy, what a bird!

B. M. H. S.

Students don't you think Clarence Padgett would make a good radio announcer?

B. M. H. S.

The proud people of the high school are the lunch room ladies. Guess what? They have received a Grade A Chart for the wonderful way they are keeping the lunch room.

B. M. H. S.

Hey, Peggy Hall, how about that large party, I heard so much about? Not bad, huh?

So long. See you next week!
