

FACTS NOT FICTION

BY H. L. FRACHISEUR

GEORGE W. ANDERSON, ANDERSON TRANSFER CO.

Few men have enjoyed, as has George W. Anderson, executive of the Anderson Transfer Company, the long distance transfer and common carrier, 14 All Souls Crescent, Biltmore, that unqualified attachment and esteem of his fellow beings which forms the distinction of his business career. His instincts, thoughts, desires and sympathies fit him perfectly for the position he holds in the business world. Faithfully and honestly, with few words and many acts, he performs his duties as a man and as a citizen.

Mr. Anderson has a wealth of those sterling traits which make him a credit to his city. He is indeed a leading citizen and business leader.

The consideration of Mr. Anderson for others and his gentlemanly and courteous manner are particularly appreciated by his fellow-workers. He has always cooperated with others in making not only his city but our state an outstanding one. Imbued with liberal public spirit, he has been among the devoted friends of the cause of civic improvements and has always given to it an earnest and zealous support.

It is enough to say that in every respect Mr. Anderson performs his duties as a citizen with advantage to his city. This occasion does not even permit an outline of Mr. Anderson's high endowments and accomplishments, but it can truthfully be said that the growth and success of his business can be traced directly to the ability and skill of this able executive.

TROY C. MCNEIL, MCNEIL BODY WORKS

It gives this writer pleasure to take advantage of this opportunity in bringing to the attention of our readers one of Asheville's outstanding and leading citizens, Troy C. McNeil, executive of the McNeil Body Works, auto repairing and rebuilding; specialize in wrecked cars, wheel and axle aligning, dynamic wheel balancing, oxy-acetylene and electric welding and repairs; 245 Broadway, phone 2-9051.

Mr. McNeil has been an outstanding figure in Asheville's business affairs for a number of years and has won the esteem and respect of his fellow-workers and the citizens and the warm and hearty friendship of many, who recognize in him strong powers of individuality, devotion to high principles and a clear and sympathetic understanding of men, and their motives and aspirations.

His many fine qualities of the mind and heart have come to the notice of many and as to know him means to respect and confide in him, his friends are, literally speaking, without number.

Mr. McNeil's steps have all been in the paths of service to the people and he has established a record for efficiency and courteous service. He has always worked for the interest of the people, he is a hard worker, zealous and honorably ambitious and has made a record as an able, fair, progressive and constructive business executive. We compliment Mr. McNeil upon his successful business career and wish for him every success in the years ahead.

PAUL L. RITCH, ASHEVILLE INSULATION CO.

Asheville is noted for her outstanding business and professional leaders and notable among these is Paul L. Ritch, executive of the Asheville Insulation Co., 70 S. Lexington Ave.

Mr. Ritch is a worthy example of one whose ambition and courage, plus the satisfaction derived from personal achievement, has enabled him to work himself up to many positions of eminence in the business world. This he has attained by thorough application to duty, an enthusiasm for a job well done, and the confidence of the people.

Young men embarking on a business career can well emulate Mr. Ritch, whose formula for success is conscientious effort, long hours, and the determination to reach a definite goal.

Mr. Ritch's varied and useful success cannot be enumerated here, but suffice to say that as a business leader he holds the highest position for solidity of judgment, enlightened knowledge and urbanity of demeanor. He has pursued a line of patriotic purpose which has crowned his name with honor, and such deserves unlimited praise from everyone. Mr. Ritch is a man of sound and enlarged views, a close observer of men and things and keenly enjoys all contacts with his fellowman. He is esteemed by all as a most intelligent, farseeing and reliable executive. We congratulate him upon his success and wish for him the continued success he so justly deserves.

DAN FURR, ASHEVILLE PAVING CO.

If the municipality of Greater Asheville were to make an annual award to an outstanding citizen and business man it could not find a more worthy representative than Dan Furr, executive of the Asheville Paving Co., general contractors, Technical Bldg.

Mr. Furr has been a resident of North Carolina for many years, figuring actively in organizations and movements endeavoring to promote the best interest of his city and state, meanwhile wielding a marked influence on the direction of the life and affairs of his city.

His intimate and practical knowledge of his business, coupled with long practical experience in this field has enabled him to anticipate his customer's wishes and has been responsible to a great extent for the large and lucrative patronage his firm has enjoyed throughout its existence.

Mr. Furr has always been civic minded giving generously of his time to many measures tending to the public good and a richer development of his city and state. His prominence in business life reflects the abilities which have won him the respect of his fellowman. He is equally admired, however, for patriotic citizenship, his public spirit and exemplary character. His influence is indeed a benefit to all who know him, our best wishes for his continued success with the people of Greater Asheville and her great trade area.
