JUNIOR LEGION

entertained at the Fort Shelby hotel, where the group spent the night.

The next morning was given to a tour of part of the world's largest industrial plant, Ford's River Rouge Plant, at Dearborn. Luncheon was served at famed Dearborn Inn. In the afternoon a tour was made of Edison Institute Museum, also the city of Detroit. Following this the return flight was made.

Guides and transportation were provided for the duration of the stay. Also, the players were accompanied by their coach and team manager, along with a representative of the district office of Ford Motor Company in Charlotte.

The money for this project is again being provided by Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers under the jurisdiction of the Charlotte office. This is in addition to their support of the Legion Juniors in furnishing uniforms, equipment, and transportation.

A similar program to that of last year is being planned for this year's winners.

SOCIAL SECURITY

NEWS

Social Security tax returns filed by employers at the end of each calendar quarter with the Collector of Internal Revenue should include all remuneration for services rendered, it was announced today by D. W. Lambert, Manager of the Asheville Field Office of the Social Security Administration.

"For some time," Mr. Lambert explained, "certain claimants have alleged employment which includes the value of room and meals, or other forms of remuneration in addition to cash. Upon discussing the matter with employers such as restaurants, boarding houses, or other types of business firms, it was discovered that the employer did not realize such amounts were to be reported for credit to employees wage accounts."

"Since the wage record of an employee is the basis of all payments under the Social Security Act," Mr. Lambert said, "it is vital that all payments received for performing the job be reported. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has ruled that the fair value of remuneration other than cash wages or salary be included."

Employers of one or more persons who wish further information are invited to call or write the field office at 203 Flatiron Building in Asheville.
