GUY D. CARPENTER,
DIV., MGR.,

QUEEN CITY COACH CO.

Guy D. Carpenter, division manager, of the Queen City Coach Company, "Queen of the South from the mountains to the sea or wherever it may be practice safety," 32 Ashland Ave., is one of the leading and outstanding citizens of Asheville, being not only a business leader of responsibilities but a public-spirited citizen who has served his city in many capacities.

The business responsibilities of Mr. Carpenter have in themselves, been heavy, but he is nevertheless, found time to be one of Asheville's outstanding and prominent civic leaders. He is a leader that has earned the gratitude of the people in general. His earnestness, his sound judgment and his tolerance have enabled him to play a large part in making the Asheville he loves and to which he always pays tribute. The people are grateful for the years he has spent among them and he can be assured that he has been a great help to his city and her people.

Mr. Carpenter's natural endowments are of an extraordinary character and no man who knows much of him can fail of being impressed with his remarkable mental powers. His integrity and faithfulness as a civic and business leader are in exact accordance with strict fidelity to duty.

Indeed everyone who knows Guy D. Carpenter appreciates the genuine sincerity of his true character. He can be counted upon for full cooperation in all community activities in Greater Asheville. We wish to congratulate Mr. Carpenter upon his success and wish for him many more years of success.

RALPH P. GRANT, V.-PRES.
AND GENERAL MGR.,
IVEY'S, INC.

For many years, Ralph P. Grant, vice-president and general manager of Ivey's, Inc., "Home of Skyland Fashions," and Asheville's leading department store, serving Western North Carolina, located 26-32 Haywood St., corner Battery Park Ave., has been a prominent figure in the business life of Greater Asheville. His large business interests, centering over a long period in the department store business has been supplemented by many civic connections and important service in public life.

As one of the business leaders, it is natural that Mr. Grant's services are sought in the public interest. Accordingly, he has helped in many civic projects for the betterment of Greater Asheville. Mr. Grant has always met the responsibilities that he has undertaken with characteristic fidelity and efficiency.

Mr. Grant is numbered among those who largely thru their own efforts and business ability have achieved a high degree of success and at all times he has manifested a keen interest in the civic development of his city and state. But it is as a man who loves his fellowman, who wants to do good among them and help make Greater Asheville a better place for them to live in that he is known, that desire is uppermost in him.

His wisdom and advice in business matters is considered of the utmost value by the many with whom he comes in daily contact. Mr. Grant always gives without stint of his time and means to the onward march of humanity. We congratulate him upon the high place he holds in the minds of the people and wish him continued success in the years ahead.

W. H. LASHLEY AND
MRS. LELIA M. BROWN,
EXECUTIVES—THREE MOUNTAINEERS, INC.

The attempt to catalogue the various outstanding, professional and business leaders of Greater Asheville, calling into service the technical skill of an expert would require columns. But suffice to say that no leaders ever acquitted themselves of the arduous duties connected with their business in a more admirable manner than can truthfully be said of W. H. Lashley and Mrs. Lelia M. Brown, executives of the Three Mountaineers, Inc., Antiques, located 205 College, Asheville, and having an extended business throughout the Nation.

Mr. Lashley and Mrs. Brown are business executives with a wealth of valuable experience and practical training which has taken time and effort to acquire. They are hard workers and never call a day ended until the problems at hand have been finished or else put into tangible order for the next day's work. Conscientious to the last degree they have won the esteem of all the people and their excellent work has not gone unnoticed.

They have always had confidence in the growth of Greater Asheville, in its wealth, industry, and population as well as in the advancement of its municipal and social activities, indeed they have helped build Asheville and surrounding area, and are ready at all times to undertake any work in the best interest of the people.

It is a pleasure to compliment Mr. Lashley and Mrs. Brown upon their success in business and wish for them continued success in the year ahead.
