The Black Mountain Woman's club was hostess to visiting guests at the July meeting held Wednesday, July 8, at "Hilltop", the home of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Howard Richardson. This is the first July meeting since the war and was open to all visiting Woman's club members.

The officers who will take over their duties in September were installed by Mrs. Baucom. They are: president, Mrs. George Stone; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Roy Taylor; 2nd vice-president, Miss Helen Miles; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. J. L. Potter; recording secretary, Mrs. Dempsey Whitaker; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charles Spencer; Treasurer, Mrs. James Marshburn; reporter, Mrs. Gordon Greenwood. Miss Mary Dixon, sister of Mrs. Richardson, related her experiences in a foreign country during the war. Miss Dixon and Mlle. Marie Bruneton, who are in charge of a foyer for college girls in Paris, are guests of the Richardsons.

Miss Dixon first went to France as a Y. W. C. A. worker during World War I and saw such a need for that type of work that she has remained there. Mlle. Bruneton was introduced and added her words of thanks to the American Red Cross.

Mlle. Bruneton and Miss Dixon will sail for France on August 24 and will again take up their work. They will be accompanied by Ruth Richardson who will spend the winter in Paris.

THIS FOOLISH FELLOW

WON'T GET FAR

His trouble is obvious—overloading. It is like the overloading of the wiring in some homes. You see, many houses were wired a number of years ago when the use of electricity was not nearly so great as it is today. As more and more appliances have been added the wiring has become inadequate to carry the load. Appliances do not operate at their best efficiency—fuses blow out frequently—and there are not enough outlets.

But there is a simple remedy for this condition. A good electrician can inspect your house wiring and if necessary install additional circuits and outlets. He can prepare your home for your complete enjoyment of modern electrical living now and in the years to come.
