At least a hundred thousand Americans will lose their rights to one month's social security insurance benefits "for last September" unless they claim the payment before the end of March, Oscar R. Ewing, Federal Security Administrator, declared today.

These are people who became eligible for old-age insurance benefits in September under the 1950 amendments to the social security law and who have not yet filed claim. While the new law extends back payments for as many as six months, the September payment cannot be made to anyone eligible at that time who fails to make application before the end of March. Ewing also called attention to the fact that Friday, March 30, is the last day of business in the month. Social security offices are closed Saturday.

It is estimated that 700,000 workers, age 65 or over, who couldn't qualify under the old law, became eligible for monthly insurance benefit payments under the terms of the amended Social Security Act when it went into effect in September.

Many of them have already applied at their social security office and are now getting their monthly checks; others are still working in jobs covered by social security and need not apply at this time. The Social Security Administration believes that the estimated 100,000 have not filed claims because they do not realize that they became eligible last September. A person retiring at age 65 or later can be entitled to insurance payments if he has worked for one and a half years in jobs covered by social security. This work may have been at any time since 1936. Under the old law, the amount of work required for most people was considerably higher.

Moreover, people age 75 or over can now have monthly benefit payments even when regularly employed. The kind of work and amount of earnings is no longer a consideration in allowing claims of people in this age group. Anyone who became eligible in September under this provision of the new law will get back payments as of that month if application is made before the first of April.

Survivors of World War II servicemen who were in many cases made eligible for immediate payments in September, Ewing said, should also make application in March to avoid loss of a part of their back payments under amended social security.

MONTREAT

Miss Mildred Allen had as her guest for the Easter week end, her mother Mrs. Fred Allen, and a friend Mrs. Zelma Plott, both of Statesville.

"GODSPEED..."

... An old word in our language! Really a prayer God speed you on your journey." And it came into use in an age when man's travels were slow and laborious.

Why, in this supersonic day, does such a word remain in our language? Obviously, because it still expresses a deep spiritual truth.

With all our conquests of time and distance, we are dependent on God for the fundamental needs of the soul. Though we can travel in an hour farther than our forbears travelled in a week—are we any nearer Peace, Happiness, Contentment?

Our progress toward the real goals of life is influenced more by the Church than by rockets. Wherever we may travel, wherever we may live, the Church helps us to know and understand the power of God.

Are you helping the Church help you? GOD-SPEED!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
