There are times when each of us must ask the question: What is going to happen to me when I get too old to work? Or: What is going to happen to my family when I die? Who will care for them? These are vital matters affecting our lives and the lives of those close to us. That's why we owe it to you to give you information on your new social security. I've been asked why "your NEW social security."

The Social Security Act itself is not new. But the Act was amended in 1950, giving just about everybody a new measure of social security. For many, it means just that—New social security—because many people are now included for the first time. How much do you know about your new social security? Do you know how it will affect you? Are you among the new millions who may now have social security protection for the first time?

Lots of folks have found it worth while to visit our office, or to meet our representatives on their regular scheduled trips in the area serviced by this office, or to write to us about their particular situation. In this connection I wish to remind you of the pamphlets which we have available. These pamphlets give simplified explanations of various phases of the new law. Here is a list of these:

- No. 1. Earnings While You Receive Payments
- No. 2. Service in World War II
- No. 3. Household Workers
- No. 4. If You Work For Yourself
- No. 5. Farm Workers
- No. 6. Employees of Non-Profit Institutions
- No. 7. Employees of State and Local Governments

In addition to the above, we have a booklet called "Do You Have A Maid?" All this material is free and will be sent to anyone upon request. Just send a letter or a post card to the Social Security Administration, Asheville, N. C., giving the number or name of the pamphlet you want.

They are not saying much about it, but this Republicanda is not topping with the end of the legislature. Plans were laid last week for a continuation of it next year through the primaries, conventions and elections next year.

Nicaraguan Visitors — It seems pretty definite now that Capus Waynick plans to send up a gubernatorial trial balloon this summer. This is expected to be accomplished by a visit of the president of Nicaragua, with attendant fanfare, to the United States. Rumor here is that President Truman has been approached on the subject and is looking favorably upon it. Naturally, the Nicaraguan visitor will be accompanied by ambassador Capus Waynick.

The next move will be to bring the visitor to North Carolina, with Terr Scott's campaign manager in 1948 getting well into the spotlight in his home state again. If all of this develops as planned, then Capus Waynick will be one of the candidates for governor next year. Best guess, however, is that he won't make the race.

Big Appointments — The governor has several appointments coming up this month on the State Banking Commission.

Veteran Banker and Commissioner Gurney Hood's term is drawing to a close. His activities during the past two months against exchange fees charged by banks, and his off base attack on insurance companies may have an important bearing on whether he will be reappointed. At least three members of the state banking commission vigorously disagree with Commissioner Hood. Two of them Bob Holding of Smithfield and Garland Johnson of Elkin, operate non-par banks. That is, they charge exchange fees for clearing checks on out-of-town banks. Another Reed Pickler of Gastonia, operates a small loan company.

At this time it seems that only Terr Scott himself knows whether these men will be associated with the state banking commission during the next four years.

Suggestion — Before you make your mind about whether enough was appropriated for schools, check the record. You will find that for the next two years there was appropriated 200 million for schools and that this amounts to 68% of all of the general fund revenue for that period. This is the biggest school appropriation in the history of the state, and is probably the biggest of any in the entire South. It is almost equal to the total amount of money derived from the sales tax and the income tax combined. Not So Bad — "I can't understand a thing they are doing; and can't hear much of what they are saying."

This comment came last week from a young high school girl with her class watching the legislature function. Whether it is due to plentifulness of money, being by bus companies, or a new and exceedingly intense love for government, or just a yen to travel and get away from school, nobody seems to know, but one thing is sure; this legislature has had hundreds and hundreds of boys and girls from schools throughout the state practically hanging from the rafters and watching it in action. They don't know what is going on. The acoustics in the old Capitol are not too good and it may be their time spent listening to the legislators is to a great extent wasted.

To those students who have visited us: We are not as bad as we look. We have studied and argued and fussed and fumed over the legislation in the committees before it comes to the floor. By the time it reaches the floor where you hear it, most of the excitement is gone. We are sorry we can't make ourselves understood, but it's just one of those things. Tell you what: next time your class comes to Raleigh to watch the legislature, try to sit one of the committee meetings; or sit around the Sir Walter Hotel, lounge around Balentine's restaurant, or the S&W cafeteria and you can get in on the fun. You may be sure the legislators know what is in the public bills they pass or kill. When teachers bring classes to the legislature they should fully explain how the committee system works.
