

NORTH FORK NEWS
OR
MOUNTAIN VIEWS

By Oden Walker

Howard Pansy Willet spent the week end of June 9 in Kannapolis with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Horn. Last week a bulldozer came and leveled all around on North Fork. It had the Cove road dozed out the way to the Joe Patch. Emory Penland had his fixed road and Darius Patton, Bill Woodrow Propst, and this reporter had a "road conference" at church last Sunday, at which it was decided to dress our road and put gravel on it.

Our deepest sympathy to the bereaved family of Loranza Russell. Howard Russell is in from the medical forces on account of his brother's death.

We certainly did enjoy the garden division's covered dish supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leitenberger last Monday night. The Leitenberger's have some purple beeches growing on their grounds that are very beautiful and interesting.

We are glad to see Mrs. Horace Therford of Brookside back at home. Sophia spent the winter with relatives and friends in the North.

A fairly good crowd enjoyed the Portland Story, which was given at Mountain View church on Wednesday by Ross Taylor. What impressed us most was the sermon in the picture that interested the sermon for the deaf and dumb. It is remarkable how eloquent one can get with their hands.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilson ofasking Ridge, N. J., paid a mid-week visit to the William Browns last week. Mr. Brown and Mr. Wilson worked together for a number of years.

We are very happy to have Mrs. James P. Kinard on North Fork for the summer. Mrs. Kinard plans to stay until November. We hope to see her a great deal this summer.

From what we hear "the boys in the woods" did not get the proper warnings recently.

Miss Beatrice Short and Miss Dorothy Morlan of Indianapolis, and Miss Mary McKay of Lakewood visited North Fork and the other sisters recently. Needless to say the ladies from the Hoosier State fell in love with our valley.

We met Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ankenship walking in the twilight last Wednesday evening.

They looked real snazzy in shorts. Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Morris have moved from North Fork to Lakewood, we are going to miss them. The street that used to be known as Hiawasse street will be named after Minnie and this reporter from now on.

The Rev. S. I. Keeler of Florida and Asheville will be at Mountain View church next Sunday. He will probably deliver the sermon. The Rev. Keeler was the pastor of Mountain View in the early part of this century.

We would like to pay tribute to the passing of a real mountaineer, Mathy Russell. He was so fond of the hickory wood from which hand-rived tool handles—tough, resilient, and "sound. It took the length of character to face life with the odds against you as Mathy did.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor and children paid a father's day visit to this reporter last Sunday afternoon.

Miss Clara Propst, who is staying at Ridgecrest, spent the week end at home.

GUESTS OF O'NEILS

Misses Bell and Margaret O'Neil and J. A. O'Neil of Church street were as their guests their brother, W. O'Neil of Cadiz, Ohio, and sister, Miss Bernie O'Neil and niece, Miss Gladys O'Neil of Pittsburgh, Pa.

MACK HAS GUESTS

Haskell and Barbara Kirkpatrick of Rock Hill, S. C., are visiting their cousin, Mack Kirkpatrick, this week.

LINVILLE CAVERNS

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Pressley, Mrs. L. C. Smith, and Clarence Smith visited the Linville Caverns last Sunday.
