WITH TAILS AWAGGIN'

Unless something breaks bigger than a shoe string, there'll be plenty of tails awaggin' in Black Mountain come Saturday, July 21. That is the date set for the mutt show at the Black Mountain High school gymnasium. The dogs will start assembling in the early afternoon and will be ready with their best wags at 2:30 when judging will begin in a wide range of classes.

Sponsored by The Tail Waggers Club of the May Faircloth Dixon Humane Society, the event will be the first of its kind in this community. Cash prizes will be awarded for each class, and a grand prize will be a trophy awarded for the best canine in the show.

So it is that that little mutt whose owner thought would never be good for anything except to sit around in the corner and look sad, may bring home a loving cup, plus a cash prize. There'll be prizes for the best trick dog, the dog with the longest fur, the dog with the waggiest tail, with the saddest eyes, and for many other classifications. There is even a prize offered for the one that looks the most like its owner.

The show is open to any one living in Buncombe county and is certain to attract a full field of entries. This is the opportunity that many owners have been waiting for: to show just how superior fido is when compared to the pooch that lives next door.

But the show won't be the only attraction. Sponsors are working on a program of entertainment which will keep the spectators occupied from the opening howl to the last wag. No matter what the calendar says—"Dog Day" will begin and end in Black Mountain on July 21. That's the doggone truth!
