Ridgecrest Assembly Ends Its Greatest Season Ever

By Perry Morgan

Well, it is all over. The summer assembly we mean. The meetings closed Sunday evening with the singing of Handel's "The Messiah." Almost 500 voices of the great choir delighted a packed auditorium with the Halleluiahs of the wonderful oratorio. For a week the choir had studied and rehearsed the music under the direction of DuPhre Rhame of the department of music of Furman university, Greenville, S. C. The hour was a grand finale to the greatest season in the history of Ridgecrest assembly. More than 30,000 people were touched by the 23 conferences of 12 weeks since June 1.

Manager Willard K. Weeks is to be congratulated on the successful season and the marvelous accomplishments of the summer, the forward look of the future, and the promises of growth and development of the institution which is so close to the hearts of Southern Baptists. A good word must be said for Mr. Weeks' assistants in and around his office, the staff, the carpenters, painters, truck drivers, yard men, farmers, gardeners, painters, everyone who had a part. These all worked long and tedious hours to accomplish the goal of the greatest season. Mrs. Weeks was always at the center of activities cheering the workers, scattering sunshine, keeping everybody happy and busy and especially so when the captain of the crew, Willard, was at Mission hospital recuperating from that appendectomy from which he has about recovered.

T. Greene Reports Better Than This Reporter Reports

R. T. Greene is a better reporter than "Your Reporter." When "T" gave the News the story last week regarding the new parking lot on Broadway, he was very careful to point out that the lot belonged to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dougherty, and not the Black Mountain Lumber company.

But what happened? The reporter went straight to the office, sat down, and with nothing else on his mind wrote in black and white just the reverse of what he had been told.

The explanation, if there is any, is that Jim or J. A. Dougherty and the Black Mountain Lumber company are so closely associated that it is hard to think of one and not the other.

There! That explains it. But the lot does belong to Mr. and Mrs. Dougherty who donated its use for a parking lot. That is the mark of two civic minded people.

Lions Set Goal Of 5000 Names For Calendar

A total of 849 names were reported at the meeting Thursday night of the Lions club at the club house and Chairman Jones Earl Corwin and other members of the finance committee set the goal for 5000 as the showdown named in the 1952 calendar campaign.

Teams composed of members of the Lions club are selling listings on a calendar which will be published later this year. Listings are 25 cents and calendars 50 cents.

Significant is the fact that the 849 names were reported by only 24 Lions. The total is expected to jump to several times that when the club meets at the town hall tonight at 7 o'clock for a final report.

In a bulletin from Editor Charles Spencer, Lions are urged to see that a complete list of names for the calendar and names of those who have paid for calendars be brought to the meeting tonight. All money collected should be turned over so that a final settlement can be made.

But the work will come on Monday when the club will meet again at the town hall at 7 p. m. to prepare the copy. At least six typewriters and operators must be present Monday, the bulletin said, to list all names and complete the copy for the printer. This is a job which can not be put off, the editor concludes.

The calendar campaign is one of the most important launched by the Lions here in some time and indications are that it will be the most successful. Proceeds will be used for the program which is conducted by the sight conservation committee, H. D. Crawford chairman.

Green But Fightiny 11 Will Open Season At Brevard

A light, inexperienced eleven, short of reserve strength and speed, will take the field at 8 p. m. at Brevard Friday evening when Coach Ralph "Buffalo" Humphries takes the wraps off his 1952 edition of the Black Mountain High School Darkhorses.

Although the former Cullowhee star has been driving the boys hard for the past three weeks, the team still lacks experience and must still prove itself under fire. Brevard handed the locals their only defeat of the 1951 campaign and the boys will be seeking revenge. The Transylvania county team is expected to be as strong this year as last.

According to Humphries, the Darkhorses are very weak on reserves and need much experience which can be gained only from competition. "But in spite of this we have been shaping up pretty well and hope to give a good account of ourselves Friday night," the head man said. "They're green but they're trying hard and might develop with a few games under their belts."

Some of the lettermen from last year's county champions will be in the starting lineup. Starters are expected to be: ends, John Corkran, Dallas Calloway, or Stan Davis; tackles, Swan and Buchanan; guards, Jones and Dave Corkran; center, Smathers; backs, Dave Parris, Braska Odom, Jimmy Levine, and Johnny Atkins.

When completed the new station will be modern in every respect and will be leased to a local man.

Roberts Praises Work Of Barkley At Orphanage

History of the Mountain Orphanage and how it is operated was described in detail by E. G. Roberts, U. S. deputy marshal and member of the orphanage board of trustees at the Black Mountain club house last Thursday evening.

Telling the Black Mountain Lions and their guests of the great work carried on at the orphanage, the speaker praised Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barkley and Howard Russell for the excellent record made during the past few years.

Founded in 1904 on Fines creek in Haywood county, the orphanage was moved to Balfour in Henderson county in 1910, and then to the present location in 1922. It is governed by a board of 12 trustees from the Asheville Presbytery. Last year it cost $38,000 to operate and to care for the 58 boys and girls there.

Citing the record of Mr. Barkley in operation of the farm, the speaker pointed out that the 140 acre farm last year cost $6,000 to operate but produced food worth $13,000 which reduced the cost 3 cents per meal per child per day. Mr. Roberts read a long list of accomplishments of the boys and girls at the orphanage which indicated that they had lived up to their training and had taken an active part in activities at the Black Mountain schools. They attend Sunday school and church.
