From Page 4 systematic visit with the senatorial brethren who will be associated with him next January-April here in Raleigh.

It isn't being shouted from the rooftops, but look for some big changes in the senate side of the general Assembly. These moves by Mr. Hodges should streamline the state senate and save money.

Said Bob Thompson, new editor of The Beacon in High Point, in a recent issue of The State: "One of nine children of a minor executive in one of the textile mills, Luther Hodges for the most part had to make his own way. He worked after school as an office boy when he was in short pants. He supported himself through both high school and college - and was a leader in both."

Food Dealers Ass'n Secretary Jim Vogler is ill in Charlotte hospital - Adlai Stevenson's sister, Mrs. Ernest Ives, will speak to Democratic Party women here on Tuesday, Sept. 23 in Memorial auditorium - 1953 N. C. license tags - one to a car - will be orange letters on black background - Word here is that Bill Umstead will clean house among top level Cons. & Develop. employees - Wilmington Commentator Ben McDonald said on Raleigh's WNAO last Sunday that an outstanding publicity man isn't getting the cooperation he wants, is disgruntled, and many quit. He didn't say so, but McDonald was referring to State News Bureau Director Charlie Parker. He handled Kerr Scott's publicity; and for a time was the governor's assistant.

The Raleigh News and Observer last Sunday told how Gov. Scott would dedicate the handsome Durham-Chapel Hill road on Friday, Sept. 19. Quoting the governor, it referred to the stretch as the "football road" and then continued as follows: "The ceremony will take place at the Durham-Orange county line." Great Scott, boys! Backfield in motion! Sign of a large apple crop: You can buy them for $2 a bushel here in Raleigh, but they aren't from Haywood, Wilkes, and those environs - from Virginia - The Raleigh Times will soon start a series of programs on WRAL here - Long range weather forecasters say the next three weeks in the Southeast will be hot!
