10-Black Mountain (NC) NEWS— Thursday, Nov. 5, 1953

MRS. STINCHOMB RETURNS

Mrs. H. E. Stinchomb has returned from a three weeks' visit with her niece and family, Mr. and Mrs. John D. McPhaul in Greensboro, relatives and friends in Roxboro, and her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Futrell in Washington, N. C. Mr. Futrell is editor of the Washington Times. She also visited with her sister Mrs. J. C. Wright in Raeford and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Long and Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Brooks in Burlington. During Mrs. Stinchomb's visits, she was the recipient of many lovely parties.

that the money will be transferred to the free lunch fund very shortly. The total budget for the free lunch this year will run close to $1,800.00, of which the P.T.A. has through its bake sales this summer and this carnival, raised over one half the amount. An appeal has been made to the community for $1000 to finance the rest of the need and the story was carried in last week's NEWS.

Mrs. Hubbard and F. P. Higgenbotham, president of the P.T.A., wish to express their appreciation to everyone contributing to the success of the Carnival.

"Everyone," they stated, "did a wonderful job, and their reward is in the results. It took the combined efforts of teachers, parents, friends of the school, and the school officials to put this Carnival across. We all worked hard, but we had a wonderful time. It was not purely a money making affair, but we can't help being pleased with the amount of money raised. Every dollar made will go to benefit the school children and will be well spent."

More About— Panel Takes

of the panel to speak, told the group that until Beacon came to the Swannanoa Valley the people here made a living from the soil. Decision of Beacon to establish a plant here changed the economic life of the entire community, Mr. Connelly said. The plant now employs approximately 1400 people.

Roy Alexander, cashier of the Swannanoa Bank and Trust company, related the history of the bank from the time it was organized in 1925, because of the coming of Beacon, up to the present time. "It has grown steadily and all of us believe that we are serving our community to the best of our ability," Mr. Alexander said. The bank was organized with a capital stock of $25,000 by local stockholders.

The Rev. George Talbot, pastor of the Swannanoa Presbyterian church, explained the importance of churches to a community, and George Young, Buncombe county commissioner of institutions, told what had been done and what is being done to bring the schools up to the desired level.

"Buncombe county has done more per capita than any other county in the United States to relieve the school situation. If the people will just be patient and give us time to work out the problem, we'll get the job done," Mr. Young emphasized.

John Brown, a comparative newcomer to the Valley related why he and his family moved to Swannanoa after having considered more than 70 other communities. Summing up what had been said, Dr. Arthur Bannerman, moderator for the panel, said that a community needed three things: a sound church system, good schools, and the basis for a strong economic life. "Groups like the Swannanoa Men's club and the Swannanoa Women's club can do much toward bringing this about for the community," Dr. Bannerman, president of Warren Wilson college said.

In other business Jack Smith, club president, announced that the community chest drive had been extended for an additional two weeks. The club voted to make a donation to the North Carolina Symphony and to make 50 gifts for use at the W.N.C. San. Carolers from the Swannanoa Presbyterian church Sunday school will sing one night at the san during the holidays. Charles Porter reported that some more work had been completed on the club house. Sixty-five members and their guests attended.
